BULLETIN.

Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 5 (Friday).—(AP)—Field headquarters of the bonus expeditionary force was notified by messenger early today that disorders had broken out at the camp in Ideal park. The message said there was drunkenness and fighting.

Some 700 war veterans, members of the Bonus Expeditionary Forces, made their beds on the sidewalk in front of 17 West Pearson street late last night and hoped for dry weather. They were part of the delegation of three hundred which arrived late yesterday in a special train of five day coaches on the B. & O. railroad from Johnstown, Pa. Another trainload of the veterans will arrive over the B. & O. about 11 o'clock this morning.

Only a few railroad detectives and newspaper men were present to greet the veterans when they were unloaded without ceremony in the freight yards at 12th street. Hungry and tired, they looked about and asked: "Where do we go from here?"

Finally word came that a conference attended by Corporation Counsel Sexton, Commissioner of Public Works Sprague, and Commissioner of Police Allman had decided that "nothing would be done for them by city officials," but that the use of a house at 17 West Pearson street had been donated by an anonymous friend.

Veterans Hike to House.

Leaving a dozen wives and children to find transportation, the veterans walked over Roosevelt road to Michigan avenue, north to Pearson street, and west to the two story red brick house in which they, in addition to some fifty bonus recruits who had not left the city for the east, expect to live. The marchers were weak from lack of food and rested on the curb while food was being prepared in an emergency kitchen inside. Only a small portion of the veterans were able to find sleeping quarters in the building and the others prepared to sleep on the sidewalks. A number of the marchers, who live in Chicago, departed for their homes after seeing their comrades settled in the emergency quarters.

The marchers received their first food in Chicago at 9 p. m. when a plate of beans and a single slice of bread was given each man. The kitchen force immediately began preparing a second meal of potatoes and meat, which was distributed shortly before 11 p. m.

The first case of illness here was discovered when William J. Clark, 40 years old, of Los Angeles, was found to be suffering from a high fever and was taken to the county hospital. A number of veterans were left behind in hospitals in Johnstown.

Leads Chicago Marchers.

George Anthony, of 2654 Rice street, commander of the contingent, led a group of 145 Chicagoans returning to their homes. The remainder of the group, from western states, was headed by R. H. Shaw, of Long Beach, Cal. Shaw plans to take his group on to their homes in the west as soon as transportation is provided. If there is no transportation, he said, they will return to Johnstown. Shaw also said that when he reaches home he plans to organize an army of 15,000 veterans for another march on Washington.

The arrival of the bonus marchers followed a luncheon at the Morrison hotel yesterday noon at which representatives of veterans' organizations met with Robert Cooke, Chicago aide to Commander Walter Waters of the bonus forces. At the luncheon elaborate plans for meeting the veterans, housing them in tents in parks and forest preserves and seeking financial aid from federal relief funds were made. The veterans' council was formed to arrange these details. The council then adjourned for 10 days and when the bonus marchers reached the city later they were ignored by the council.

BONUS TROOPS GO HOME

HERALDING THE DAWN

PACKING PLANT, ELEVATOR BURN ON SO. WEST SIDE

Half City Apparatus Controls Blaze.

BULLETIN.

Fire Marshal Michael J. Corrigan, after making a survey of the burned buildings early this morning estimated the loss to the elevator and contents at $625,000, and to the packing plant and contents, including livestock, at $1,000,000. He said he based the estimate on his belief that a large amount of the burned meat and animals can be salvaged for by-products. Despite this officials of the companies were reported to be standing by the estimate of a loss of between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000.

Damage estimated at $6,000,000 was caused yesterday by a spectacular fire which swept over an area 500 feet wide, along the west side of Halsted street in the 2300 block, and two blocks deep, from Halsted street to Sangamon street.

The Quincy grain elevator and practically the entire plant of the Omaha Packing company were destroyed. Huge crowds gathered along the south branch of the Chicago river, which formed a boundary of the burned area, to watch more than half the city's fire fighting equipment work to subdue the flames.

Fire Under Control.

Early this morning the fire was still raging, but with diminished violence, and it was announced by the firemen that it was definitely under control. It was held under close observation, however. Features of the conflagration were:

1—Loss of $5,000,000 by the packing concern, several million pounds of meat and 1,200 head of livestock being burned along with the plant.

2—Destruction of $560,000 worth of grain which was stored in the elevator.

3—Serious injury of one fireman, less severe hurts to four others, and rescue of ten packing employés overcome by smoke.

4—Spread of the flames to a neighboring coal yard and lumber yard. These fires were put out speedily by firemen.

5—Destruction of one $50,000 pleasure boat in the river and severe damage to three other vessels.

The fire started at about 3 p. m. in the grain elevator, which stood on a slip from the river, at Sangamon street. An explosion of dust in the stored grain supposedly was the cause. As dense clouds of red flame and smoke burst from the tall structure showers of embers poured down on the wooden pens, the nearest portion of the packing establishment. These were readily ignited in spite of the efforts of employés to save them.

Thereafter the spread was rapid, the conflagration moving to the east as it was urged on by the west wind. Only the fringe of structures along Halsted street, including a wholesale house and the company offices, were saved from demolition.

Many Animals Perish.

Perishing in the flames were 800 hogs, 60 head of cattle, and 200 sheep which the Omaha Packing company had purchased for slaughter today. These were all overcome by smoke in the early stages of the fire, and efforts to save them were recognized as futile as soon as the wooden roofs of the pens were ignited.

Officials of the company also said that 2,500 hog carcasses in the cooling rooms of adjoining warehouses, 2,500,000 pounds of hams and bacon, and 300 tons of fertilizer were destroyed.

In the huge elevator, owned by the Burlington railroad and operated under lease by the Stratton Grain company, were 786,000 bushels of wheat, 45,000 of corn, and 40,000 of oats.

Grain Worth $560,000.

At present market quotations this grain would be worth about $560,000. The total loss in the elevator and contents was fixed at $1,000,000; that of the packing concern at $5,000,000.

Jurors Order Widow Pollak Held as Killer

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Even as Mrs. Dorothy Pollak captured the limelight at the funeral of her slain husband on Monday, another woman eclipsed her at the inquest yesterday. A coroner's jury returned an expected verdict holding Mrs. Pollak to the grand jury on a charge of murder. But it was the unexpected clash between the coroner and the state's attorney's office that featured the hearing."

Mrs. Victoria Schultz, Mrs. Pollak's cousin, was a major reason for the dispute. She also received prominent mention in the jury's verdict which ordered her held as an accessory before and after the fact of murder. Simon Mysza, the widow Pollak's father, also was ordered held as an accessory after the fact. Both joined the widow in the county jail last night. All three will be taken before the grand jury this morning when true bills for murder will be sought.

Conerty Reopens Inquest.

Animosity developed as soon as Deputy Coroner Ray Conerty reopened the inquest into the death of Joseph Pollak, alcohol dealer, at the hands of his attractive young wife on July 27. Pollak was shot in the head during a quarrel in his home at 1936 Garfield boulevard.

Assistant State's Attorneys Frank Mast and Harry P. Gabel requested that their names be entered as representing the state. Coroner Frank Walsh, supervising the hearing, immediately bristled.

Stands by Ostrowski.

"Just a moment," he interposed. "Assistant State's Attorney Michael Ostrowski is representing the state here. He entered the case at the outset, has been my adviser, and we have received no notification of any change. Now if you want to appoint yourselves you can. But I am recognizing no one but Mr. Ostrowski."

"We take exception to that," retorted Gabel, rising. "I ask that an exception be entered for the record."

"There'll be no exception," replied the coroner. "For the last time, Mr. Ostrowski is representing the state. No one else has any right to speak here."

Mast and Gabel gave notice of their withdrawal and left the hearing room in the county morgue. A crowd of spectators, including scores of smartly dressed women, watched them go. A policeman rapped for order and the hearing was resumed.

Protests He's Ill.

After a lengthy altercation with the father of Mrs. Pollak, conducted through an interpreter, Deputy Conerty dismissed the man in custody of the policeman who had brought him to the inquest. Mysza said he was a sick man and he did appear ill as he mopped his face and testily protested through the interpreter that he knew nothing about the death of his son-in-law, as he was not there at the time.

Assistant State's Attorney Ostrowski questioned Mysza at the Pollak home the day after the tragedy. He said then, according to Ostrowski, that he was a witness to the shooting, but left immediately afterward.

It then developed that Mrs. Schultz, an eyewitness to the shooting, was

WIDOW FACES TRIAL AS SLAYER OF REYNOLDS

Pal of Her Husband Is Arrested.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Libby Holman Reynolds, former Broadway torch singer, and A. B. [Ab] Walker were indicted this afternoon for murder in connection with the death of Smith Reynolds, her 20 year old husband. Walker was arrested and placed in the Forsyth county jail shortly after the unexpected indictments were returned.

Capiases were issued for both respondents immediately after the true bills were returned, and a request telegraphed to the sheriff of Cincinnati to take Miss Holman into custody. Late tonight, however, she had not been apprehended and Albert Holman, her father, defied the authorities at Cincinnati to find her. The singer has been in seclusion, presumably near her former home in Cincinnati, since she was released after a coroner's inquest into the death of her millionaire husband.

Leave Charge to Prosecutor.

The Forsyth county grand jury's indictment was returned after two days had been spent investigating the shooting. The degree of murder with which the two will be charged was not specified, but left to the discretion of the prosecutor.

The indictments read that Libby and Walker "on or about the sixth day of July, 1932, with force and arms, at, and in, the aforesaid county did unlawfully, willfully, feloniously, premeditatedly, of their malice or forethought kill and murder Smith Reynolds."

It was explained the wording was that of a first degree indictment, but when the case comes to trial it will be the solicitor's duty to decide whether to seek a first degree verdict or a lesser verdict such as second degree murder or manslaughter.

Death Penalty Possible.

First degree murder is punishable in North Carolina by electrocution, while the penalty for second degree murder is, at the discretion of the court, punishable with the maximum sentence of 30 years. The next regular term of Criminal court is set for Oct. 3, but a movement has been started to have a special term called for next month.

Only two witnesses were called before the jury, as far as could be learned. They were Sheriff Transou Scott and Stewart Warken, manager of the palatial Reynolds estate, Reynolda, at which Reynolds was shot.

Widow in Coma.

Young Reynolds, heir to one-fourth of the huge tobacco fortune left by R. J. Reynolds Sr. in 1918, was fatally shot in the head at the estate about 1 o'clock in the morning of July 6, after a prolonged party. His wife was in the room with him when the shot was fired, while Walker, Reynolds' lifelong friend, said he was downstairs.

Miss Holman testified to having been in a coma for 40 hours before and after the shooting, with merely a flash of memory recalling her husband calling her name as he put a pistol to his head. Walker testified that earlier Reynolds had thrown his wallet to him and cried, "I'm going to end it all."

Miss Holman also testified that Reynolds had fits of melancholia in which he believed himself impotent, feared he could not hold her love, and urged her to have affairs with other men. There also was testimony to a mysterious visit to a hotel by Walker and Reynolds. An attendant at the Baptist hospital, where Reynolds had been taken, told of finding Miss Holman bending over Walker on the floor of a hospital room. They were struggling and she was quoted as crying, "O, my baby, my baby," and then asking Walker if he didn't know she was going to have a baby.

Open Verdict from Coroner.

Both were held for a few days until the coroner's jury returned a verdict that Reynolds had come to his death "at the hands of a person or persons unknown."

As soon as she was released the singer returned with her father to her former home in Cincinnati, and has been in hiding since.

Walker, who was arrested at the home of his father, B. B. Walker, a retired real estate dealer, was taken to the jail through a rear entrance to frustrate photographers. His family and Bailey Lipfert, a relative and his attorney, were permitted to visit the 19 year old youth, but all others were barred.

Walker has remained in Winston-

R. F. C. Denies 10 Millions to Pennsylvania

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—The Reconstruction Finance corporation today granted a $1,300,000 relief loan to the city of Detroit after rejecting an application for $10,000,000 filed by the state of Pennsylvania. The Detroit loan was made upon the application and request of Gov. W. M. Brucker of Michigan.

"The amount is made available to Detroit to enable the city to meet the immediate emergency," officials of the board said in announcing the loan. "In certifying to the Detroit needs the Michigan governor stated that the amount represents sums that are needed at once over and beyond any amounts that are now available or can be made available to Detroit through private contributions, taxation, sale of obligations, or from any other legal source."

Hold State Falls to Do Duty.

The finance corporation refused the loan to Pennsylvania on the ground that the state legislature and the several political subdivisions of the state have failed to do their full duty in furnishing funds for caring for the unemployed. Corporation officials indicated a loan would be granted when and if the state legislature has taken steps to bear its share of the relief costs.

The rejection of the Pennsylvania application, which is certain to have political repercussions, was announced after Gov. Gifford Pinchot and other state officials had requested an immediate loan of $10,000,000 during a personal appearance before the board.

Pomerene Tells of Refusal.

In announcing the board's decision Atlee Pomerene, its chairman, said:

"It is our belief that on proper showing we should extend some relief to the state of Pennsylvania, but it must be borne in mind that we have funds entrusted to our board which are to be expended, not in lieu of state or local relief, but to be supplemental thereto, if, when, and as necessary.

"After a full hearing we feel persuaded that the legislature of the state of Pennsylvania and its several political subdivisions have not done their full duty with respect to the furnishing of funds for relief purposes. We shall defer action with regard to relief for Pennsylvania until we know what the legislature will do for the relief of its own people."

Jay Goodnough, speaker of the Pennsylvania house, said today that he felt that the state was justified in asking for a loan.

"Over a period of many years, Pennsylvania has contributed one-tenth of the total income of the federal government," he said. "This amounts to about 270 millions annually.

"We have received annually in return in the way of subsidies less than 3 per cent of the amount we have contributed, being in round numbers $7,000,000 received by the commonwealth in the way of subsidies from the federal government."

"In asking this allocation may I point out that we are only asking an advance which we must pay back together with interest out of the comparatively small sums which Pennsylvania receives in the way of subsidies from the federal government."

STOCKS SHOOT UP TO NEW HIGHS FOR YEAR; RECEDE A BIT

New York, Aug. 4.—[Special.]—The stock market today recorded new highs for the year in a session of unusual activity both in securities and commodities. Gains of two to four points in the first three hours invited profit taking late in the day, despite which the market held its gain over yesterday's prices.

With total sales for the day of 3,500,000 shares even the high speed tickers were unable to keep pace.

At the best levels of the day, stocks averaged about 50 per cent above the lows of early July.

One evidence of the change in feeling was a transfer of stock exchange membership for $120,000, an increase of $30,000 over the previous sale.

Among the early advances American Telephone and Telegraph climbed more than four points to cross par, $100, for the first time since May 11. Other extreme gains included Allied Chemical, up about 6; General Electric, up more than 1½; General Motors, up 1⅝; United States Steel, up 2½; United States Steel preferred, up 2¾; Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, up 2½; Union Pacific, up 4¼.

Most of these advances were shaded in the last hour recession.

Allman Orders Auto License Evaders Jailed

Motorists caught driving without a 1932 state or city license will be locked up at police stations hereafter and held there until they post a $25 bond, under an order issued by Police Commissioner Allman.

JUDGE SONSTEBY.

This sterner method of dealing with evaders replaces the previous practice of serving them with court summonses on the street and allowing them to go on their way. Many of the summonses have been ignored.

Commissioner Allman issued the order after receiving a letter from Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court saying that seven months was enough time for every motorist who can afford to drive a car to provide himself with licenses.

To Affect 25,000 Autoists.

The drive will affect some 25,000 Chicago motorists who are now using their cars without this year's plates and vehicle tax stickers, it was estimated by Harold D. Crotty, chief license inspector in the office of City Clerk Brady. Despite strenuous efforts earlier in the year to collect the vehicle tax collections are $108,853 behind those at this time last year.

"I am of the opinion that residents of Chicago now operating automobiles without state licenses or vehicle tax stickers have had ample time to secure necessary license and sticker, and have had ample warning of the penalty that might result from their failure to act," Chief Justice Sonsteby wrote to Commissioner Allman.

Judge Backs Allman.

"I therefore concur in your recommendation that hereafter persons operating automobiles in Chicago without state license or city vehicle tax sticker who, upon inquiry, are found to be residents of Chicago and have no valid excuse for failure to exhibit such license and sticker, shall be arrested, taken to the nearest police station, and required to give bond of $25 cash or $50 real estate, making the case returnable in the Speeders' court."

Other Mysteries of Case.

One of the incidental mysteries of the case was the secrecy of the marriage of Miss Holman and Reynolds. After a trip to Hawaii they were discovered together in a New York hotel and admitted they had been married on the trip. After the shooting it developed they had been married in Monroe, Mich., Nov. 29, 1931, some time before the time they had set as the date of their marriage in Hawaii. Further mystery has appeared in the case in the last few weeks when a New York law firm asserted a member had been named executor of Reynolds estate. Meanwhile an uncle of young Reynolds had received a letter from Miss Holman asking him to be executor. There is some doubt whether she will share in the entire $7,000,000 estate of young Reynolds, which he was not to receive until he was 28 years old, or whether she had a claim only to his personal property.

"FRAMEUP," SAYS FATHER

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Albert Holman, father of Libby, tonight defied authorities to find her, after branding the indictment of his daughter for murdering her husband as a "frame-up."

"I will say this," he said. "I have sent a wire to officials at Winston-Salem telling them I will be there at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and tell them they need not waste any money looking for Mrs. Reynolds."

Holman, the lawyer-father, who consistently has pointed to himself as Libby's only counsel, previously had disputed the contention of Hamilton county officials that a telegraphed request for Libby's arrest constituted a warrant.

Invites Search for Libby.

He maintained that attitude even after the request was confirmed by telephone, and threw open the door of another daughter's home to invite Special Investigator Joe Schaefer to search the dwelling for the former idol of Broadway.

Stormily maintaining his daughter is innocent, he said he would surrender her to North Carolina authorities "at the proper time," Holman said, adding, "I will not give out any information on a frame-up."

Although Holman would not say whether Libby was in seclusion near to or far from Cincinnati, Mrs. Myron Kahn, the sister to whose home Mrs. Reynolds came soon after the inquest into her 20 year old husband's death, confided that Libby could be produced "almost immediately."

Reports were current she was either in Delaware or California.

Holman left late tonight for Winston-Salem to seek bonds for his daughter before surrendering her. Before departing he said she was confined to her bed, under care of a doctor and nurse.

MRS. REAGAN OF RIVERSIDE TO WED PARIS POET

Mrs. Ellen W. Reagan of Riverside is to be married in Rome in October to Mario Saint-Gyr, poet, musician, author, and music critic of Paris and Rome. She announced her engagement from Paris in a letter to her children, who live in Riverside. The announcement was verified last night by a son, Robert Reagan.

MRS. ELLEN W. REAGAN.

The mansion figured in a court battle last May when the village sought an injunction to restrain several of the families from living under its roof on the ground the family's growth had changed the home to an apartment house, in violation of the village ordinances. Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan dismissed the petition in June. The family, known to Chicago society, contended that the depression forced them to band under the one roof.

Mrs. Reagan was first married to Joseph Sterling Goddard, a Chicago lawyer, who died in 1917. They had five children. She later married Herbert E. Reagan, a manufacturer, who also had five children by a previous marriage. Two sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Reagan. Mr. Reagan is now dead.

Mrs. Reagan has been abroad since last fall. Her son said the exact date of the wedding had not been set.

Church Injures Hand in Door of Garage at Home

State Representative Ralph E. Church, whose Republican nomination for congress in the 10th district is being contested by James Simpson Jr., suffered an injury to two of his fingers early today. He was putting his automobile in the garage at his home, 300 Church street, Evanston, and caught the fingers in a sliding door. The injury was treated at the Evanston hospital.

Still others made their departure by truck and automobile during the day. By nightfall it was estimated that only about 25 per cent of the "army" which encamped here after being driven out of Washington remained in Camp McCloskey. Of these a number were prepared to go as soon as funds were forthcoming to buy gasoline with which to move their "tin lizzies."

Departure Good Natured.

Today's exodus was orderly enough, although the distribution of communist leaflets urging the campers to stand pat against orders to go home had caused some grumbling during the early morning.

When word went round that the "evacuation special" was ready on the siding, however, the veterans and their wives and children fell into line and marched with the town's mayor at their head to the railroad siding where they clambered aboard and went singing away.

Shouts of "Good-by, Johnstown," and "so long" came in a lusty chorus from the windows as the train pulled out. Some of the veterans announced their determination to "be back" in a new effort to impress congress with the desirability of voting the bonus next December.

Check Up Cost at Capital.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—The bonus army's siege of Washington cost approximately $119,450, it was disclosed today by the various federal, municipal, and private agencies which found themselves drawn into the situation presented by the bonus army's encampment in the capital. While most of the expense was accounted for by transportation money furnished the veterans on a loan basis by the government, a large part of the total cost represented expenditures by federal and private relief agencies which will never be repaid.

The largest item is one of $76,500 paid out by the veterans' bureau in transportation loans to bonus marchers who desired to return to their homes.

The war department announced today that Eric Carlson, who enlisted in the army from Rockford, Ill., second bonus marcher to die as a result of the battle with police last Thursday, will be buried in Arlington tomorrow with full military honors.

Ab Walker, friend and companion of Smith Reynolds, heir to tobacco millions, who was charged with responsibility for Reynolds' death, which was discovered July 6.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Aug. 4. — The communist party in America will understand how to utilize the expulsion of the bonus army from Washington, D. C., so as to sow seeds of revolution among American workers, the Moscow Pravda, communist organ, said today. The Pravda published an account of the events in Washington under the headline, "Veterans Shot in Washington."

"The demonstrators were betrayed by their leaders," the Pravda said, "but the lesson of July 29 is important for the revolutionary education of American workers."

The most important problem confronting the American communist party, the newspaper continued, is to destroy the sense of patriotism of American workers. The faith of Americans in their native country must be undermined by communist propaganda against imperialistic wars and the development of class spirit, Pravda added.

The remainder of the soviet press followed Pravda's lead in predicting that further disorders would lead to revolutionary outbreaks in the United States.

COUNTY BACKS PLAN TO PROVIDE WORK FOR 17,000

Jobless Would Get $30 as Month's Maximum.

The county board yesterday approved a plan whereby 17,000 heads of families now accepting charity from the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, will be put to work for at least one week out of each month with wages not to exceed $30 a month.

PETER M. KELLY.

The relief commission is to meet today to decide upon the plan. Indications were that the commission would approve it as a better manner of affording relief to the poor and unemployed who now receive cash or food.

Increase Fund to $500,000.

The county commissioners went on record approving the plan to increase the relief commission's work fund to $500,000 for the month of August. If the plan proves a success, the work fund will be increased to $750,000 for September and probably will remain at that rate throughout the winter, resulting in almost self-sustaining employment to more than 25,000 heads of families.

While a maximum of $30 a month will not do more than barely sustain a family, the relief commission will decide in what cases to supplement the wages with food or cash, it was stated.

Relief of poverty by employment will cost more than direct charity, the officials revealed. A working man must spend money for carfare and other incidentals that he could otherwise do without.

Savings to Taxpayers Seen.

On the other hand, according to Henry Blair, chairman of the special work division of the emergency relief commission, and Commissioner Peter M. Kelly, chairman of the county board committee in charge of relief, payment of wages will mean some payment of rent to landlords who could then pay taxes, thus resulting in a saving to taxpayers in the final analysis.

The relief commission last month permitted the allotment of $200,000 for the work plan in Cook county. As a result, some 8,000 men were employed. Men employed with relief funds are given jobs with the city's board of local improvements, in the county forest preserves, at the county hospital and other county institutions which are in need of repairs and improvements.

City Can Use Workers.

"The work plan is the best way of dealing with the relief problem in Cook county," Chairman Kelly told the other members of the board. "Col. A. A. Sprague tells me he could use 5,000 men a month in city work, provide them with work and supervise them. Charles G. Sauers, superintendent of the forest preserves, can find work for 4,000 men a month. Many can be used at the county hospital and at the Oak Forest infirmary."

"Work for food or cash appeals to every right thinking person—rather than charity," said Joseph L. Moss, director of the bureau of public welfare. "The difficulty is that more money must necessarily be spent. The man who earns money spends some for carfare, rent and other essentials not now included in the scheme of direct relief. Creditors of such families will feel that part of the earned cash should accrue to them. Many more heads of families who are now being maintained by relatives may feel that they are eligible for work so long as it is not charity."

Gov. Louis L. Emmerson yesterday signed a receipt for $2,000,000 advanced to Illinois by the Reconstruction Finance corporation for unemployment relief. The governor took the check from J. B. McDougal, governor of the federal reserve bank here, and said the money would be turned over immediately to officials of the emergency relief commission.

VALUES AIR PILOT AT $10,000 IN PRESSING CLAIM FOR INVENTION

(Copyright, 1932, By the New York Times.)

LONDON, Aug. 4.—A British air force pilot was valued at $10,000, the cost of his training, and an infantryman at $250 by an attorney in pressing claims today before a United States commission based on the invention of a six-inch trench mortar bomb and fuse by Lieut. Col. Henry Newton, a Briton.

Col. Newton agreed, however, that assessments of an invention's value could not be based chiefly in terms of human life.

The sufferings during the world war of British trench mortar crews which were known as "suicide clubs" before Col. Newton completed his invention, were impressively described by Col. Newton's attorney before the commission which is in England hearing a number of claims in respect to war inventions.

"Our mortars before Col. Newton's invention were hated by our own men," the attorney said. "They were Ishmaels in the forces on the front line."

Looting of Treasury for Vets Condemned.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—The medical profession left its scalpels and prescriptions today to take up verbal weapons in a vigorous attack on vote seeking politicians responsible for veterans' legislation that has drained billions of dollars from the federal treasury.

REP. JOSEPH B. SHANNON.

The evidence began when Representative Joseph B. Shannon, with the smoke of the primaries cleared away, reopened the congressional investigation into government competition with private business at the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce today at 9 o'clock.

Dr. E. H. Skinner, representing the Jackson County Medical association, attacked as a "gross and reprehensible practice" the extending of free medical service to veterans whose disabilities were incurred from some cause in no way connected with the war. He suggested the government might just as well give the veterans free groceries, free rent or free motor cars.

50,000 Doctors Commissioned.

Dr. Jabez N. Jackson, former president of the American Medical association, said physicians always had shown a great interest in the veterans, and pointed out that 30,000 doctors held commissions during the war.

David A. Murphy, lawyer representing St. Joseph and St. Mary's hospitals, testified the medical profession as in accord with the policy of medical and hospital aid to veterans suffering from disease or wounds arising from war service, but heartily disapproved such assistance to those ex-service men whose ills had no connection with war duty.

"If the government desires to make all ex-service men public charges," he said, "it should care for them in private hospitals instead of entering into an orgy of construction of veterans' hospitals.

U. S. Competes with Hospitals.

Reporting on a questionnaire sent out by the American Medical association, Mr. Murphy said 3,902 hospitals replied showing that idle beds in private hospitals numbered 119,340 in 1930. "Of course," he said, "one of the causes for these idle beds is federal competition."

The doctors completed their case by reading a letter from Dr. Olin West, secretary of the American Medical association, pointing out that a movement was under way by postal employés and all civil employés to get free medical service at government expense.

Charge Prisoner Tried to Show Obscene Photos.

Stanley Richards, 27 years old, an unemployed printer, was arrested last night on charges of contributing to the delinquency of two 12 year old girls by exhibiting obscene photographs. He carried in his pocket a probation card from which police learned he had been placed on probation for a similar offense last April by Municipal Judge James F. Fardy.

Richards stopped the girls on the Oak street beach and thrust the photographs upon them, they said. The girls, who had been sitting on the beach, got up and walked away. Richards followed them, asking them if they wished to go for an automobile ride. The girls continued on to Lake Shore drive, where Richards tried to put his arms around one of them, they charged.

Girls Appeal to Police.

The girls then appealed to Lincoln Park Policeman Dewey Rittenour, who placed Richards under arrest. Richards denied the girls' charges. Rittenour turned him over to Sergt. Charles Kiefer of the park force, who found he was carrying 13 photographs. He was taken to the Chicago avenue police station, where he said he is married, has one child and lives at 2021 West Huron street.

The card of the adult probation department ordered him to report to the department on the first Monday of each month for six months. Richards denied that his previous conviction had been for a similar offense, but records of the detective bureau disclosed he had been arraigned before Judge Fardy on a charge of exhibiting and possessing obscene photographs.

Subject to Jail Term.

This charge, under the state law, carries a sentence of six months in the county jail or a fine of not less than $100 or more than $1,000 for each offense. Judge Fardy placed him on probation for six months on April 26, according to the records.

Judge Fardy was elected as an independent and nominated on the regular Democratic ticket for reelection this fall. He has since secured support of the organization for a Superior court vacancy. Selection is to be made at the Democratic state convention next month.

Martin Kruk, 2128 South Marshall boulevard, a salesman, was held to the grand jury yesterday in bonds of $10,000 by Municipal Judge Leon Edelman in the felony court on charges brought up by the parents of two girls.

ARREST SLAYER OF DRY AGENT ON TELEPHONE TIP

Drew Clark, colored, 40 years old, 3817 Indiana avenue, sought by police as the slayer of Eugene Jackson, Negro prohibition agent, who was shot six times Sunday, was arrested last night. Drew was traced through the license of the automobile abandoned by the slayer.

The arrest was made at 49th street and Indiana avenue by Sergt. Marion Mitchell, who had received an anonymous phone call that the man could be found at the corner about 9 o'clock. Clark admitted his identity.

Jackson was shot as he placed Clark under arrest after buying a gallon of moonshine from him.

NEW YORK CITY ASKS FOR 155,000 BARRELS OF FLOUR FOR NEEDY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—John Barton Payne, head of the national Red Cross organization, advised President Hoover today that within the last few days the local Red Cross unit in New York City had asked for 155,000 barrels of flour to be distributed among the poor this fall and winter. This application is the largest, he said later, which has been filed by any state. Pennsylvania thus far has used up approximately 118,000 barrels of flour, while Chicago has called for but 32,000 bushels of wheat all told.

According to Mr. Payne the Red Cross has at its disposal 50,000,000 bushels of farm board wheat and 500,000 bales of farm board cotton. He was of the opinion these commodities would not be exhausted before late this winter.

The cotton is to be made up into suits and dresses in most instances before going to local Red Cross units.

PARK BOARD BUYS RUGS AS FORCE WAITS FOR PAY

Suits for $695.84 against W. R. James, president of the west park board, and $585.90 against the west park commissioners, filed in the Municipal court yesterday, disclosed that, although the employés of the park system have been paid only once in thirteen months, the commissioners saw fit to purchase expensive rugs.

The suit against Mr. James, filed by Attorney Samuel P. Gurman on behalf of Glabman Bros., Inc., asks $695.84 for carpets and linoleum delivered to the Regular Republican 37th Ward organization headquarters, 459 North Parkside avenue, on Sept. 15, 1931.

The suit against the commissioners, also on behalf of Glabman brothers, seeks payment of $112.50 for a carpet for the private office of the maintenance superintendent of the board; $360 for a carpet for the private office of Mr. James, and $113.40 for a carpet for Charles J. MacGowan's office in the civil service department.

$2,244,000 CASH FOR TEACHERS TO BE READY TODAY

Schools Begin Payments in Tax Warrants Also.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Checks for $2,244,145 that is due teachers and other school employes as compensation for the last half of March probably will be available for distribution late this afternoon. If the technical requirements can be met —and Deputy City Controller V. S. Petterson said yesterday that it was almost certain that they would be— the checks will be placed in the mails tonight, according to Charles Gilbert, secretary of the school board.

Four banks, the Continental Illinois, First National, Northern Trust, and Harris Trust, will buy $2,000,000 of 1931 educational tax anticipation warrants at par while they are selling in the open market at 81 to 84. The task of engraving these warrants was to have been completed last night.

Sign Warrants This Morning.

President Lewis E. Myers of the school board and Secretary Gilbert are scheduled to sign them at 9 o'clock this morning, and the mayor's and controller's signatures are to be affixed immediately afterward. The warrants then will be delivered to the banks and the $2,000,000 transferred to the city. With that $2,000,000 the city will buy an equal amount of 1932 educational warrants of the school board and the cash will then be transferred to the school fund.

Coupled with these acts is considerable red tape, which it is estimated will take about six hours, so that the pay checks should be distributed to the office force and mailed to the teachers, janitors, and engineers late this afternoon. The checks have been made out and placed in addressed envelopes which also have been stamped This pay day is the one promised by Mayor Cermak on July 26.

Pay in Tax Warrants.

Another pay day—in tax warrants—started yesterday. This pay day is for April and May of 1931. For several hours yesterday these tax warrant payments were held up because Chapman & Cutler, security experts, declined to approve the warrants until given assurance that the board of education would withdraw its petition for a rehearing in the Illinois Supreme court in the "N. S. F. check" decision. Sufficient trustees gave their word they would rescind their order petitioning for a rehearing, and shortly after noon the tax warrants were made available.

During the day about $180,000 in tax warrants were handed out at the distribution office in the old City State Bank building at Wells and Randolph streets. Of these warrants approximately $70,000 were from the building fund. Teachers and educational employés, therefore, received about $110,000. At an estimated average of $200 each, about 550 teachers and other employés obtained their pay yesterday. There is now available for distribution $1,528,700 worth of tax warrants in denominations of $50 and $100.

Expect More Warrants.

It is expected that $3,400,000 more of tax warrants will be ready for distribution before the first supply is exhausted. These warrants have been signed by President Myers and Secretary Gilbert. They have not been signed by the mayor and city controller.

On Wednesday city and school administrative officials said no arrangement had been made to have the city officials sign these warrants, but yesterday it was discovered that Mayor Cermak had designated a proxy to sign the tax warrants on April 29, according to the notification to the council. It is said that the proxy is still valid.

To eliminate one criticism of its financial affairs the school board is arranging to sell $3,100,000 of its bonds to the city at 95. These will be placed in the city aggregate of funds in lieu of $2,500,000 of 1928 tax anticipation warrants. The fact that the schools did not receive enough 1928 taxes to retire these warrants, and made no other provision for their payment, has injured the board's credit.

BOMBS DAMAGE TWO WEST SIDE BUSINESS PLACES

Damage estimated at more than $1,000 was caused early today by the explosion of bombs in the doorways of two west side business establishments.

The first was set off at the Marfield Cleaners, Inc., 2954 West Madison street. The front of the store was blown away and windows of adjoining buildings were shattered. Samuel Field, one of the owners of the place, said that he had had no trouble of any kind and could advance no motive for the blast. His loss was fixed at $600.

A second explosion occurred at the dry goods store of A. H. Weiner, 1656 West Roosevelt road. The bomb was placed against a rear door in an alley. Damage was done to part of the stock. The police were unable to learn the motive.

WIDOW HELD AS SLAYER

JURORS ORDER WIDOW POLLAK HELD AS SLAYER

Father, Cousin Also Named in Verdict.

not present at the inquest and Conerty asked that she be sought. Attorney W. W. O'Brien, for Mrs. Pollak, glared for a moment, then got to his feet.

"I must object to these tactics," he he said impatiently. "I have information that Victoria Schultz was in the state's attorney's office this morning and again this afternoon, being questioned. I believe she is in custody there at this moment."

"We have the same information," stated the coroner, "but they deny it."

"Isn't that pretty close to contempt of court—when the state's attorney refuses to deliver a witness to testify at an inquest?" asked O'Brien.

Found in Gabel's Office.

Coroner Walsh directed that a mittimus be secured and sent Frank Donohue, his investigator, to search the Criminal Court building for the blonde girl. She was found there in the office of Gabel, undergoing questioning about the murder. She was removed to the county jail after being fingerprinted at the bureau of identification.

For once Dorothy Pollak appeared not to care what went on around her during the inquest. A woebegone figure in the black and white ensemble she wore at Pollak's last rites, she sat without speaking or weeping, her face hidden by a handkerchief with the exception of a few moments when she took the witness stand. She refused to testify.

Refuses to Testify.

"I have made a statement already," wailed Dorothy in a voice that threatened a burst of tears as she was asked whether she wished to testify. Attorney O'Brien requested her to remove the guard from her face, and she did so, revealing herself pale but tearless. Back went the handkerchief as soon as she was dismissed.

While being questioned in the state's attorney's office yesterday Mrs. Schultz was said to have changed her story from that told immediately after the slaying. According to Assistant State's Attorney Gable who questioned her, Mrs. Schultz said yesterday that she remembered that Pollak had a large kitchen knife in his hand just before he was shot. In her statement taken immediately after the shooting no mention was made of a knife.

Returns with Knife.

In the statement made by Mrs. Pollak shortly after the killing, the widow said she and her husband had quarreled and that he rushed to the kitchen. He returned, she said, clutching a "small kitchen knife with a brown handle" and was rushing at her when she shot him. Police were never able to find a weapon that fitted this description.

Both the federal government and the local officials were deep in the scrutiny of Pollak's private papers yesterday. His bootlegging activities engaged the attention of H. M. S. Kelly of the office of Elliott Ness, chief prohibition administrator, and notations left by him may result in charges being made against at least two persons.

Mrs. Victoria Schultz, Mrs. Pollak's cousin, who was held as accessory to the murder of Joseph Pollak. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

They are Stanley Novicki, said to be a chauffeur and bodyguard for Joe Saltis, and Steve Kurek, 1615 West 43d street, a saloonkeeper who was the last person to see Pollak before he returned home that day. When quizzed about Pollak's operations, Kurek protested that he knew nothing.

Ten checks found among Pollak's effects and made out to Kurek in amounts from $1,500 to $2,000 indicated that he knew a good deal. He will be catechised further today.

A "Tough Customer."

Novicki, known to police as an "exceedingly tough customer," was identified by his nickname, "Stash," in Pollak's little red notebook. He is believed to have been a close friend of Mrs. Pollak and her cousin, Mrs. Schultz.

Pollak's records showed that he had paid an income tax of $16.88 in February, 1931, on an income of $5,000 with an exemption of $3,500 for his wife. He stated he was a broker.

Further investigation indicated that Pollak may have banked large sums in the People's National Bank and Trust company under the name of Frank Hrodek. An inquiry was ordered to determine whether Hrodek and Pollak were the same person.

RESTORE TAXI MONOPOLY LAW TO CITY CODE

Repealer Ordinance Sent Back to Committees.

With a claque of Yellow and Checker cab drivers alternately booing and applauding in the gallery, the city council yesterday voted, 27 to 18, to put back on the statute books the so-called "hidden" taxicab ordinance under which the public vehicle license commission is alleged to have wielded autocratic power in refusing to license independent cabs.

The technical action of the council was to reconsider its action of last week, when it repealed the monopoly ordinance by a 40 to 6 vote. The repealer ordinance was sent to the local transportation and traffic committees for joint consideration. Pending committee and council action later, the monopoly ordinance remains in force.

With the repealer the council sent to the committees for consideration the resolution of Ald. John A. Massen [48th] calling for an investigation of the vehicle license commission and the taxicab problem in general as related to congestion of loop traffic.

Act on Sexton's Ruling.

The council took its action following receipt of a communication from Corporation Counsel Sexton. Mr. Sexton pointed out that the ordinance which was repealed had been held valid in the courts and asserted that the question before the council was: "Does the council intend to return the taxicab business to indiscriminate operation without providing other safeguards for the public?"

Mr. Sexton's conclusion was disputed by Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [46th], who introduced the repealer last week. He pointed out that there are still more than 20 sections in the city code regulating taxicabs, and that the vehicle license commission, after the repealer, was still left with broad powers in the granting of licenses to cab drivers.

The provision in the monopoly ordinance to which the proponents of repeal objected most was the one which required a cab operator seeking a license before the commission to bear the burden of proof, "beyond a reasonable doubt," that additional cabs were needed in Chicago before he got a license. Independents asserted that attorneys for the Yellow and Checker companies were always on hand to dispute their proof.

Moves for Reconsideration.

Ald. James R. Quinn [50th] made the motion to reconsider, in order to give the repealer committee consideration, after giving a long history of former taxicab wars in Chicago. The galleries applauded.

"I presume the cab companies have their followers here, but let's not make this a three-ring circus," pleaded Ald. Thomas J. O'Grady [14th].

He was booed loudly by the galleries and demanded that they be cleared. Ald. Sheldon W. Govier [9th] seconding his motion. Ald. John S. Clark [30th], who was presiding, refused to clear the galleries, but warned the occupants against demonstrations.

Ald. Quinn declared that since the ordinance under discussion went into effect in 1929 the license commission had received 433 applications for licenses and had granted 374. Ald. Nelson later pointed out that these figures did not show how many licenses went to new employés of the large cab companies.

When Ald. Nelson arose to speak he was heckled from the gallery and had a policeman remove the heckler. The alderman later identified the man as one Greenberg, an attorney for the Yellow Cab company.

"I can't see the slightest reason for the council to reverse its vote of 40 to 6 for repeal," said Ald. Nelson. "This ordinance didn't cure the cab wars and it has provided almost a monopoly of the cab business. The public is still protected by other sections of the city code."

Charge for Waiting Taxi.

"I have a letter here to which the writer has signed his name and address," said Ald. O'Grady. "His complaint is that the Yellow Cab company taximeters charge 10 cents for a minute and a half wait. He adds that the city ordinance provides a 10 cent charge for three minutes' waiting time.

"That gentleman is probably a former Yellow driver who was fired and is sore at the company now. Some of you drivers in the gallery, who have been booing Ald. Nelson and myself, will cheer us instead if you are fired and want licenses to drive as independents.

"I referred to the Yellow Cab company's Christmas presents at the last meeting, and some one misunderstood me. I wasn't referring to aldermen but to traffic policemen. I have a letter specifying places and dates."

Roll Call on Motion.

COUNCIL ADJOURNS TO SEPT. 28 AFTER LIVELY SESSION

After a lively meeting yesterday the city council adjourned until Sept. 28. By that time Mayor Cermak is expected to be back from his European health trip.

The council adopted a resolution presented by Ald. George W. Robinson [36th] asking Gov. Emmerson to call a special session of the legislature to pass a 2 per cent consumers' sales tax bill. The proceeds, Ald. Robinson said, would work to reduce real estate taxes and retire city tax warrants.

The council also adopted a resolution by Ald. John Toman [23d] directing Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, to inquire into the operation of the emergency departments of public and private hospitals, in preparation for the large crowds expected at the 1933 fair. Another resolution directs the council committee on unemployment to consider complaints relative to the distribution of funds by welfare and relief agencies.

MADRID, Aug. 4.—Former King Alfonso took 8,000,000 pesetas, about $700,000, in cash out of Spain with him on his midnight dash when he left the country last year with a revolution behind him. This became known today with the arrest of a Portuguese, Carlos Almeda, head of a gang charged with running money out of the country in the face of exchange restrictions.

Chief Justice Diego Medina and two special judges have charges under consideration against the former king, aristocrats, former ministers and business men involved in evasion of the restrictions.

All of the great families living in luxury on the celebrated Cote Basque at Biarritz and Saint Jean de Luz have been accused of employing paid runners to get cash over the border.

BARBER TRADES SHAVE FOR OATS AND LOSES DIME

Pittsfield, Ill., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Charles Hesley, who is 75 years of age and has been engaged in the barber business here for more than half a century, had a brand new experience today.

A man walked into his shop, was shaved and when asked for the price, 15 cents, pointed to a sack containing 1½ bushels of oats, saying, "There it is." The barber was surprised, but accepted the oats as payment.

Later two little boys bought the oats for 15 cents and sold them for 25 cents. The boys were the sons of the man shaved by Hesley.

Jimmy Takes Clock Apart; Firemen Find Cog Wheel

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Jimmy Newheiser, 3, wanted to know what made the clock run, so he took it apart. The doctor and a bunch of firemen finally shook a brass cogwheel out of his throat. And when Jimmy began breathing normally again his mother gave him—an automobile ride.

Visits Schoemaker, Gets Some News Himself.

Full of cheery tidings of Terry Druggan, Frankie Lake and other Chicago boys who are whiling away these summer days in Leavenworth penitentiary, Dr. Spencer Brown of Antioch, had a nice chat with Chief of Detectives Shoemaker yesterday at the detective bureau.

Dr. Brown was the "brains" of the $1,000,000 burglary of the Werner Brothers safe deposit vaults in 1923. He was a guest of the police last night because two detectives sought to do a sucker a kindly deed. Instead, and unwittingly, they put Dr. Brown in a bad spot.

Arrest Trio of Suspects.

Lieut. Edward Kelly and Sergt. Arthur Wachholz picked up three suspected confidence men yesterday at Lake and Dearborn streets. In the belief that they were waiting there for an intended victim, the detectives locked them up and returned to the corner, to meet the sucker and give him some fatherly advice. Instead, they met Dr. Brown.

"Howdy, Doc, and what are you doing here?" said Lieut. Kelly, who knew him of old.

"Just waiting to meet a fellow," said Dr. Brown, a retired dentist. "I suppose you know I got out of Leavenworth a few months ago?"

"So I heard," said Lieut. Kelly. "How would you like to drop down and see the chief?"

"Delighted," replied the doctor.

To Chief Schoemaker, Dr. Brown explained that in April he finished serving 70 months and 18 days in the federal penitentiary for altering stolen war savings stamps. The charge was an outgrowth of the Werner burglary, although the loot was taken in another affair. Police found the stamps in searching Dr. Brown's country home at Antioch for loot of the burglary.

"They treated me fine at Leavenworth, and I met a lot of the boys from Chicago," the doc told Chief Schoemaker.

"Charley Wharton, ex-congressman, was one of them. You know Charley convicted me in the Werner job, but we got to be good friends."

Frankie Lake at Work.

Once upon a time the doctor was locked up for threatening the life of Wharton, then an assistant state's attorney. Wharton later served a prison sentence following his conviction as an accomplice in the Evergreen Park mail robbery.

"Terry Druggan's down there now," continued the doc. "He's taking care of the narcotic addicts. And Larry O'Brien, who was state representative from the near north side, is an orderly in the prison hospital. A little while before I left I saw Frankie Lake swinging a sledge on a building job. They'll make a man of him."

"You're looking better yourself, doc, than when you went in," said Chief Schoemaker.

"Yes, and I feel better," was the reply. "I'm 60 years old and I'm not mad at anybody."

"I think we'd better lock you up until the showup tomorrow night," said Chief Schoemaker.

"O, that's all right, chief," said the genial doc; "lead the way."

Then the Blow Falls.

Some hours later some one thought to look up Dr. Brown's file in the bureau of identification. And then the blow fell. When Wharton, his friend of later Leavenworth days, prosecuted him for his part in the Werner Brothers burglary a jury in state court convicted him of receiving stolen property and Judge Marcus Kavanagh sentenced him to serve one to ten years in Joliet penitentiary.

He appealed the conviction. Meanwhile he was tried and convicted on the federal charge. The Illinois Supreme court affirmed Judge Kavanagh's sentence on July 6, 1926, six weeks before Dr. Brown had started serving his federal sentence. In his bureau of identification file rested a 6 year old commitment to Joliet.

The doc will probably go back to prison today.

U. S. AND FRANCE DICKER ON TRADE; HINT DEBT SLASH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 4.—A memorandum reviewing problems in connection with the proposed Franco-American commercial treaty was sent to Premier Edouard Herriot today by Walter E. Edge, American ambassador.

The trade negotiations between France and America are tied up with war debt and disarmament negotiations, it has been pointed out. With lower American tariffs at present out of the question, the United States is in the position of being the recipient of an important favor from France without being able to give any trade benefits in return.

Killed by Monoxide Gas as He Repairs Automobile

Paul Sylvanius, 24 years old, 1260 Leland avenue, was killed by carbon monoxide gas late last night in a garage in the rear of 4712 Magnolia avenue. The police learned that Sylvanius, a salesman, had gone to the garage to repair his car and had closed the door. He left the motor running and the fumes overpowered him. Tools were scattered on the floor beside the body when it was found.

JUDGE ORDERS SIX PERSONALTY TAX JUDGMENTS

Judge Craig A. Hood, hearing suits against delinquent 1930 personalty property taxpayers in the Circuit court, yesterday entered judgments against six property owners when they failed to contest the suits. Arrangements were made to pay delinquent taxes in three other cases.

Those against whom judgments were entered and the amounts were: Imperial Lingerie company, $1,030; American Steel Wheel corporation, $1,784; Karlin & Mumers, $2,767; Samuel Aronson, $1,199; Marganiella Furrier, $3,044; and the Chicago Lighting Fixture company, $1,037.

The $8,480 bill of the Drexel State bank was reduced to $5,200, the bank being allowed offsets for real estate taxes paid on its building. The L. S. Bamberger estate paid an $80 bill in court. Suit against the Emma F. Vial estate for $2,220 tax and 38$ in penalties and costs was dismissed when the Foreman State Trust and Savings bank, trustee, agreed to pay at once.

STOVE OIL BLAST FATAL.

Mrs. Rosaly Gustafson, 45 years old, wife of John Gustafson, a farmer living near Elburn, died yesterday in the Aurora Community hospital of burns suffered when she tried to make a fire in a kitchen range with kerosene.

GERMAN RIOTERS FACE EXECUTION; DISORDERS GROW

Cabinet Acts to Stop Political Fights.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—Unless absolute quiet is restored in Germany by tomorrow noon, the German government of Chancellor Franz von Papen will issue a decree providing special courts and the death sentence for all acts of terrorism, according to the Telegraphen Union. A government spokesman said the cabinet believes that the death threat will be sufficient to stop the political riots which have continued despite President von Hindenburg's decree of political truce.

Von Papen and Gen. Kurt von Schleicher, minister of defense and the government's "strong man," did not attend today's cabinet meeting. The cabinet is inclined to blame the Hitlerites for the disturbances.

Hitler Angers Government.

The Von Papen government also does not look kindly upon Adolf Hitler's program to weave his party and influence through Europe. The Nazi chieftain is known to be building branches of his Fascist party in Norway, Sweden, Denmark, and Holland.

Hitler is chiefly organizing branches of his party in the Nordic countries which are racially related or sympathetic to the Germans. The program continues with bids for political relations with the Slav and Latin countries.

One Nazi was shot and wounded at Munich in today's disorders. A restaurant and hotel were set afire, two bombs were tossed into department stores, but did not explode. Other bombs were thrown at Mehlauken and Ortelsburg. Dynamite was found hidden in a well near Potsdam. A Nazi ammunition dump was discovered at Gleiwitz and a communist cache was revealed at Halle.

Demands Right to Preside.

The government today received a message from Klara Zetkin, 75 year old communist member of the reichstag, insisting on the privileges due her because she is the oldest member. She is entitled to preside over the reichstag's opening session. Ill health has kept her in Moscow for several months.

Serious problems are confronting Hitlerite leaders. According to Von Alvensleben, who was sent to Munich by the Von Papen government to negotiate with Hitler, reports that Hitler's lieutenants insist on all important posts in the cabinet, including chancellor, minister of interior, and the ministry of defense.

Hitler himself is eager to abide by his preelection pact with Chancellor von Papen, sharing hos power, but his lieutenants are clamoring for more power to appease the "storm troopers." President von Hindenburg and Von Papen insist that the negotiations for reorganization of the cabinet be postponed until the reichstag meets on Aug. 30.

TWO KILLED AT GRADE CROSSING.

Valparaiso, Ind., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—William King, 60, was killed and Herman Twistal, 59, probably fatally injured here this afternoon when their automobile stalled on a grade crossing in the city and was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train.

CLASHES WITH VON PAPEN

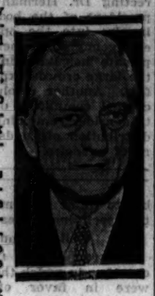
TAX BOARD MUST STRUGGLE ALONG WITHOUT A P. A.

County Cuts Pay Scale of the New Staff.

The county board decided yesterday that George F. Nixon and Fred W. Grummel, members of the new board of tax appeals, do not need a "public relations counsel and statistician" [press agent] to assist them in reviewing Cook county assessments.



F. W. BRUMMEL.

The job was one of those eliminated by the county commissioners in trimming down the request of the tax board for nine employes, at a cost for six months of $14,951. The board decided that four employes for six months and three others for three and a half, at a total cost of $8,045, would be a sufficient staff.

In addition to eliminating the public relations counsel and statistician at $354 a month and an attorney at $340 a month, the commissioners made cuts in the salaries asked by the board for their staff, bringing their pay in line with that paid for similar services in other county offices.

Cut Secretary's Pay.

The salaries of the secretary and chief clerk of the board were cut from $425 to $354 a month each. Pay of the two secretary-stenographers allowed was cut from a requested $212.50 each to $170 each a month. In place of a timekeeper at $234 a month for six months, the board was allowed a senior clerk for three and a half months at $212.50 a month. In place of two stenographer-clerks at $144.50 each a month, for six months, the board got such services for three and a half months.

After providing for these employes, nearly $7,000 of the annual appropriation for the board remained unassigned. This is to be used in hiring temporary help next October when the board starts work on the 1931 assessment books.

Approved by Sargent.

Fred W. Sargent, president of the North Western railroad and chairman of the citizens' committee on public expenditures, and George O. Fairweather, chairman of the joint commission on real estate valuation, appeared before the commissioners and recommended allowance of the pay roll on the reduced basis. Although the tax board will have no cases to consider until it gets the assessment books, Mr. Nixon pleaded that time was necessary to "break in" the employes.

Thor E. Madsen, county efficiency engineer, advised the commissioners that the tax board could get along with two employes until it had some work to do.

5C AMUSEMENT GAMES INVADED BY RACKETEERS

Coin Machine Operators Defy Gangs.

The craze for playing those nickel games in drug stores, grocery stores, speakeasies, restaurants and hotels, which has swept Chicago recently, has attracted the attention of racketeers. This was learned last night when operators of the machines assembled at the Hotel Sherman to form an organization for protection against gangsters.

Less than a year ago, the first of the games were introduced to Chicago. Now there are thousands of them. The game somewhat resembles the French game of bagatelle. Insertion of a nickel in the device allows the player to propel ten balls up an inclined surface, the balls falling into various holes marked with scores. The player getting the highest score wins.

$40 to $75 a Week Income.

Just as miniature golf swept the country several years ago, the bagatelle game has swept Chicago. The income from one of these machines often averages $40 to $75 a week. There are several machines installed in many stores. In a loop hotel lobby there are more than twenty-five.

Installation of the machines was in the hands of business concerns which have for years handled peanut and gum vending machines. The merchant was given a percentage of the proceeds. All was lovely until the racketeering interests became aware of the profits.

Machines Replaced.

"Lately, in certain territories, trucks have been backed up to stores and our machines taken out by sheer force," H. B. Gibson, chairman of the meeting at the Hotel Sherman last night, told those present. "Hoodlums have been putting in their own machines, collecting all the profits and, morever, charging merchants $20 apiece for memberships in their associations. We must organize to protect ourselves."

Mr. Gibson said the operators were backed by the companies manufacturing the games and by all four trade journals which print news about the coin amusement game business. Plans were made last night to incorporate an organization which will fight the racketeers in the courts.

Form Organization.

The operators learned that a Coin Amusement Machine Operators' Association of Illinois, with headquarters at 8 East Harrison street, had been organized as a "not for profit" organization at Springfield last week. The incorporators were named as A. R. Tigerman, 2600 North Kimball avenue; Frank La Mascin, 3513 Medill avenue; Paul Anagnos, 8 East Harrison street; George Fanelli, 1011 West Polk street; Morris Winkler, 1857 South Troy street, and James Meloni, 1011 West Polk street.

The operators said they were positive that not one of the incorporators named had ever been in the coin amusement machine business. Records showed that George Fanelli, 1011 West Polk street, had been seized as a robbery suspect by Sergt. William Shea of the detective bureau on July 25. An hour later a writ of habeas corpus was filed in behalf of Fanelli, although he had had no opportunity to communicate with any one.

DOCTOR SUBMITS TO LIE DETECTOR IN DEATH INQUIRY

Dr. William A. O'Brien Jr., 41 years old, a radiologist of 4043 Melrose avenue, yesterday submitted to examination under the lie detector in connection with the death of his wife, Vera O'Brien, 36 years old, who was killed Monday supposedly by self-administered poison. After three tests Dr. O'Brien admitted he had lied in some particulars on earlier statements to the police. Further tests will be given Monday.

Dr. O'Brien, slim, handsome, with a dark mustache and horn rimmed spectacles, sat quietly during the tests. He wore a dark blue suit. Police Captain Joseph Goldberg, Assistant State's Attorney Harry Ditchburne, and Coroner Frank J. Walsh sat beside him during the tests, which were made by Charles M. Wilson, in the absence of Leonarde Keeler, inventor of the lie detector, in the crime laboratory of Northwestern university at 459 East Ohio street.

Waiting for Letters.

Capt. Goldberg is awaiting the arrival of letters written by Mrs. O'Brien to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Stafford of Middlebury, Ind., for comparison with a farewell note found on her dresser. The letters also are expected to throw some light on the domestic life of the O'Briens.

The parents have reported Mrs. O'Brien as stating in one of her letters that her husband beat her so severely that she was forced to kick him to escape further injury. Mrs. O'Brien was found dead after a quarrel with her husband the preceding evening.

A brown bottle, which was found in the apartment and at first believed to have contained poison, held only amytol, Dr. O'Brien said. He said amytol is a mild sedative and that taking of the contents of the bottle might have killed Mrs. O'Brien in three or four days. An examination of Mrs. O'Brien's vital organs to determine the cause of death is being made by the coroner's chemist.

Seared by Poison.

Mrs. O'Brien's lips were seared by the poison, Capt. Goldberg said. He is investigating the possibility that Mrs. O'Brien ended her life in a suicide pact which her husband failed to carry through.

Capt. Goldberg found a letter in O'Brien's home from his 21 year old son by a previous marriage. The son taxed his father with deserting his first wife when she was an expectant mother 13 years ago. The first wife lives with three children in Leaksville, N. C. Dr. O'Brien at first denied the previous marriage.

Dr. O'Brien received his medical degree at the University of Virginia. O'Brien said he has a license to practice medicine in Illinois, but has never done so because he specialized in radiology.

SZYMCZAK TO PLACE CHICAGO PLEA BEFORE N. Y. BANKERS TODAY

New York, Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Back in New York today after a visit to Albany Controller M. S. Szymczak of Chicago was prepared to press his campaign to sell Chicago tax anticipation warrants at a luncheon with New York bankers tomorrow.

Tomorrow's luncheon was arranged by Charles S. McCain, chairman of the board of the Chase National bank of New York with which Szymczak has been negotiating here together with the National City bank. The head of the Chase bank's municipal securities department and other leading bankers and prominent eastern insurance men also will be present at the meeting.

EVANSTON MAN BECOMES GOLD MINER IN WEST

Claude A. Welles, who resigned as manager of the Merchandise Mart last December, is reported to have become a gold miner on a big scale out west.

He is the owner of 3,000 acres in Lincoln county, Mont., and, according to Mrs. Welles has found the yellow metal in paying quantities in a creek on the estate. He is supervising the installation of placer machinery. Mrs. Welles plans to close the family home at 933 Ridge avenue, Evanston, and join Mr. Welles soon.

Mr. Welles is a former Evanston alderman. He resigned that place in March, 1931.

COURT'S DISPUTE WITH CITY ON PAY CUTS IS RENEWED

The dispute between the city government and the Municipal court over the 48 day pay cut which the city council put into the 1932 budget for the court, and which its judges and officers refused to accept, broke out again yesterday.

Deputy Controller Victor S. Pettersen refused to approve the pay rolls for the judges, probation officers, and employes of the Municipal court clerk until he receives a schedule showing him what 48 hours are to be deducted from their pay. Albert J. Horan, bailiff of the court, has submitted such a schedule for his office.

Corporation Counsel Sexton gave an opinion to the effect that the court must live within the appropriations provided by the city council. Joseph L. Gill, clerk of the court, offered to make an equivalent saving in other ways than by the pay reductions. That will not do, Mr. Sexton ruled.

"The judges have the right to demand their full salary, since they are elected officials," the opinion stated, "and any reduction must be of their own volition. But the controller must keep within the appropriation, and can approve the rolls only to the extent of the appropriation, leaving each judge who wishes to insist upon his full salary to his remedy in the courts."

Lists 150 Articles for Tariff Preference.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 4.—Stung into activity by the rising tide of criticism from the delegates to the British imperial conference, Premier R. B. Bennett of Canada today revealed his hand. At a meeting of the British and Canadian delegations this morning Canada presented her trade offer to the British and a statement of what she wants in return.

R. B. BENNETT.

The British took it away to study, and as soon as they have digested it another meeting will be held at which Britain's reply to Canada will probably be made.

What Canada Demands.

The utmost secrecy is observed as to the details of Canada's proposals. THE TRIBUNE learns, however, that generally Canada is demanding preferential treatment in the British market for wheat, lumber, meat, including bacon, cattle, fish, butter, cheese, vegetables and fruits. In return she offers preference on between 150 and 200 articles which either are not made in Canada or are produced in too small a quantity to supply the Canadian market.

Among these are various lines in iron and steel, anthracite, a few minor lines of textiles, electrical appliances, automobiles, brass products, glass, machinery, boots, shoes and leather goods.

Great Britain stands to receive orders for $180,000,000 worth of goods under the proposals. She may obtain from $50,000,000 to $65,000,000 at once. America's interest in holding the dominion steel market is explained by the fact that Canada imported about $200,000,000 worth of iron and steel last year, while in the fat years the total has risen to $350,000,000.

Hope to Transfer Trade.

Only 10 per cent of these importations came from Britain. According to Canada's offer, an effort will be made to transfer this huge trade from American to British producers.

Canada's offer also involves a "ten year plan" on Britain's concessions to Canada for many articles. In the case of bacon, for instance, Canada is willing to begin with a small preference, rising gradually as Canada's production increases. The reason for this is that Canada cannot begin to supply the British market at the present time. This also applies to live stock and other agricultural products.

Mr. Bennett has received no assurances, either formal or informal, from the British that they will adopt the principle of food taxes. The offer was put forward for discussion without any strings in an effort to expedite the work of the conference, which was nearing the rocks on account of the delay in getting down to real business.

Britain's Stand Unknown.

Just what Britain is willing to do in return has not yet been indicated, but Canada hopes to be able to secure about an equal increase in trade.

The dominion is still pressing for drastic action against Russian goods. Last year Britain imported from Russia about $150,000,000 worth of goods and exported to Russia only $35,000,000 worth. The imports were chiefly lumber, wheat, and fish which Canada wants to supply and butter which might have been bought from Australia and New Zealand.

It has been made perfectly clear by the British that nothing so crude as an embargo on Russian products will be considered by them. They are, however, trying to frame a plan to meet the Canadian demand for preference in wheat and lumber, which need not necessarily exclude all Russian products if they interfere with Britain's growing trade with Russia.

Urges Return to Gold.

Another demand which Canada is making and in which she is likely to be disappointed is the early return of Britain to the gold standard. Mr. Bennett has already asked when this will occur. He has been told by Neville Chamberlain, British chancellor of the exchequer, that it will not be in the near future and perhaps not at all.

Canada's interest in the British currency situation is involved in her triangular financial relationship to London and New York. There is no exchange market in Canada and her foreign payments must be made through New York, but her trade and governmental relations with Britain tend to depress her dollar as compared with the United States dollar.

Canada must pay annually to the United States for interest and repayment of loans $300,000,000.

There was strong evidence today of increasing irritation between the imperial brothers—Britain and Canada. Canadian officials and newspaper men went over the top in a well organized offensive against the British. They said that the British really were to blame for the delay in submitting the list of trade preferences. The British and Australians will continue their conversations tomorrow in spite of the Welland canal junket. The British and the Indians will also carry on over the week-end.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Aug. 4.—The replacement of Noble Giacomo de Martino as Italian ambassador to Washington, D. C., by Augusto Rosso, naval expert and adviser on reparations, will be included in Premier Mussolini's general diplomatic shakeup, it was learned today.

De Martino will leave Washington after seven years of service. His successor, Rosso, was attaché to the Italian embassy in Washington in 1910 and was counselor in 1922.

Ambassadors in Paris, Berlin, Buenos Aires, and Rio de Janeiro are also expected to be shifted about.

WOMAN HELD TO GRAND JURY IN AUTO DEATH

Mrs. Beulah Singer, 35 years old, 5200 Brown street, Niles Center, was yesterday ordered held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter after a coroner's jury heard testimony that Henry Kiesby, 49 years old, 3529 North Seeley avenue, was killed last July 21, when he drove his motorcycle into a steel railway viaduct pillar to avoid a collision with her sedan.

The crash occurred at the Lincoln avenue viaduct beneath the Chicago and Northwestern railway tracks. Ernest Thompson, 3340 North Hamilton street, a friend of Kiesby, who was riding in a side car attached to the cycle, gave the testimony.

At Erie, Pa., yesterday F. G. Rhodes, 2153 Farragt avenue, was held on a charge of manslaughter after a coroner's jury investigated a crash on Wednesday in which Mrs. Rhodes was killed. The jury found that Rhodes had been guilty of negligent driving.

Louis Tinsley of Hammond was killed and his wife, Mary, was critically injured when their sedan collided with a truck at Lake Village, Ind., yesterday.

There were no automobile fatalities in Cook county yesterday and the 1932 motor toll remained at 683.

Miss Rose Svete, 18 years old, 126 10th street, North Chicago, a student at the Waukegan township high school, was probably fatally injured last night when an automobile in which she was riding turned over at Sheridan and Moffett roads in Lake Bluff and fell down an embankment. With the girl were two residents of Waukegan, Donald Pietsch, 317 Lorraine avenue, and Mortimer Botsford, who resides on Julian street. They were also injured.

HOOVER IS READY TO O.K. STRADDLE PLANK ON LIQUOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—The program on which President Hoover will appeal to the country for reelection has been written into the acceptance day speech which he will deliver before 4,000 Republican leaders and officials a week from today.

OGDEN L. MILLS. [A. P. Photo.]

This became known today after the President and Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills had spent the entire afternoon hard at work on the address in which he will formally thank the Republican convention for renominating him and announce his acceptance of the honor.

Goes to Printer Tomorrow.

According to officials in close touch with the President the speech will be completed tonight and tomorrow probably will be sent to the printers. While some changes may be made prior to its delivery, indications today were that Mr. Hoover had reached a definite decision as to the stand he will take on prohibition and other issues of the campaign.

One official, who has been in close communication with the White House while the acceptance speech has been under preparation, said that President Hoover will feature prohibition and plans for the economic rehabilitation of the United States in his address. It was said that Mr. Hoover would come out flatly in favor of the Republican straddle prohibition plank adopted at Chicago and oppose any move which would bring about the return of the licensed saloon.

The President's acceptance speech will carry his first formal utterance on the prohibition question since the submission of the Wickersham report to the White House, almost two years ago. At the time the President expressed his opposition to repeal of the 18th amendment. According to friends of the President he will argue in his address that the Republican resubmission plank represents the best apment if it is to be revamped or repment if it isto be revamped or removed from the constitution.

Will Not Antagonize Drys.

From all indications the President has no intention of taking a position which will antagonize the drys. All the big dry organizations have served notice on the White House that they are awaiting his pronouncement on prohibition before making a definite decision as to what course they will follow during the campaign.

Wet Republican leaders have urged the President to take the position that the Republican plank will give the country an opportunity to say whether they want to modify the 18th amendment.

In this connection the Republican leaders have called the President's attention to the overwhelming victories won by wet congressional candidates in the nation-wide primaries this pring. Particularly attention has been called to Missouri, where Bennett C. Clark, an outstanding wet, was an easy victor in the Democratic national primary.

CHICAGOAN GIVEN 1 YEAR TO LIFE AS A ROBBER

Ottawa, Ill., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Jack Meyers of Chicago, one of a band of five desperadoes who stormed the Ottawa jail on June 15 and released three men held as bank robbers, was found guilty of robbery with a gun late tonight after a jury in the Circuit court had deliberated on his fate for six hours. He was sentenced by Judge Edgar Eldridge to spend one year to life in the penitentiary.

The charge against Meyers was based on the fact that he took the jail keys from Jailer George Mosley.

Consumers company, coal merchants, and the W. B. Crane company, lumber merchants, both located in the 900 block on 22d street and to the north and west of the area that eventually was swept by the fire. The wind direction, westerly, carried the red-hot brands away from them and the early blazes were extinguished.

Three Boats Are Burned.

The $50,000 boat destroyed was the Rabocco, 65 foot motor cruiser owned by Henry Bosch, 525 South Wabash avenue, wealthy manufacturer. It broke from its moorings and drifted over against the burning grain elevator. The damaged craft were the Barbara, 90 foot yacht owned by William B. Baggaley of Winnetka; the Jerome, owned by the Rainbow Fish company, and the Idler, a training craft used by the Sea Scouts of America.

Intense heat thrown off by the ancient buildings—all were decades old—hampered the firemen greatly. Outsiders reported that to the leeward temperatures almost unbearable were felt a block away.

Most seriously injured of the firemen was Lieut. William McDonald of Engine company No. 18. He was taken to St. Anthony's hospital after a length of pipe fell on him. It was reported he had a skull fracture. Acting Lieut. Cowan of the same company and Lieut. William Burns of engine company No. 2 were also hurt.

Firemen Emil Dahl of truck No. 5 and Deputy Fire Marshal Daniel Carmody were overcome. The deputy marshal, having been revived, ordered himself carried back and directed the fight from a chair.

Two employes of the packing firm were rescued late in the evening after they had been overcome by an explosion in the engine room of the plant. They had risked their lives to go there and turn off ammonia pipes. Firemen wearing gas masks carried out the pair, William Krueger, 5932 South Albany avenue, and H. T. Moore, steamfitters.

Other employes overcome during the early part of the conflagration were Edwin Finger, Scoville Duncan, P. Martin, Walter Mielke, E. Erickson, C. Lilly, S. Langner and John Covodny. All were at work in the pork department, in warehouse U near the animal pens, when smoke poured in on them. They were among the hundred or more workers who strove to stop the fire with hand extinguishers and small hose streams.

CUSTOMS RULES FOR EXHIBITS AT FAIR RECEIVED

Customs regulations under which exhibits may be imported for the Century of Progress in 1933 were received in Chicago yesterday. The rules will be discussed at a meeting of customs officials and fair directors probably today, and the regulations turned over by Collector Customs Anthony Czarnecki.

Under the customs act all articles imported for the purpose of exhibition are to be admitted free of duty. Goods brought in for exhibition but sold at the conclusion of the exhibition will be subject to duty.

Two Chinese painters, Ping-Chen Chang and Hwa-Ting Shun, arrived in Chicago from Peiping, China, yesterday and started their work on the Chinese Lama temple at the world's fair grounds. The men will paint the temple in red lacquer. The structure, which was brought from inner Mongolia by Sven Hedin, explorer, will be thrown open to the public in a few weeks. The project was financed by Vincent Bendix.

ISSUE WARRANT FOR ARREST OF DR. NATHANSON

A warrant for the arrest of Dr. Frank L. Nathanson, 52 years old, 3846 West Madison street, on a charge of abortion, was obtained yesterday by Henry Pritikin, 2747 North Spaulding avenue. Pritikin told Municipal Judge Leon Edelman that Dr. Nathanson had performed an illegal operation upon his wife and that she is now gravely ill.

Dr. Nathanson has often been arranged in court on abortion charges. He has also been arrested on charges of selling narcotics. On Feb. 3, 1931, he was freed in the Felony court after a coroner's jury had held him in connection with the death of Mrs. Mae Johnson, 30 years old, who died supposedly of an illegal operation.

L. S. POPE LEADS FOR GOVERNOR IN TENNESSEE

John E. McCall Ahead on G. O. P. Ticket.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Showing surprising strength in the country districts, Lewis S. Pope, lawyer, business man and former state official, took a substantial lead tonight in reports from today's Democratic gubernatorial primary. However, Hill McAlister, one of his opponents, claimed strong support in the cities which were late in reporting.

Returns from 1,128 out of 2,257 precincts in the state gave:

Pope, 48,587; McAlister, 24,698, and former Gov. Malcolm R. Patterson, 24,643.

In the Republican primary for governor John E. McCall of Memphis led Hal H. Clements, United States collector of internal revenue, reports from 163 precincts giving McCall 4,873, Clements 2,483.

Close First District.

Representative O. B. Lovette and former Representative B. Carroll Reece had a nip and tuck contest in the first district for Republican nomination to congress. Returns from 30 out of 271 precincts gave Reece 5,065 and Lovette 3,909.

In the Second district 41 out of 309 precincts gave Representative Will J. Taylor a lead of 1,920 to 1,322 over J. H. Wallace for the Republican nomination.

In the Fourth district Representative E. L. Davis led Representative Ridley Mitchell, for the Democratic nomination, 6,340 to 5,607, on the basis of returns from 125 out of 377 precincts.

Missouri Names 20 Wets.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 4.—(AP)—The turn of Missouri from the dry to the wet column was emphasized tonight when, after nominating two wet candidates for United States senator, the latest primary returns indicated each major party apparently named nine wets for the state's thirteen congressional seats.

Included in the leading thirteen of each party were one candidate who stood on its national liquor plank and three drys. Congressman Joe Manlove (Republican), a dry who was trailing last night, crept into the field of thirteen with additional rural returns.

Missouri's voters will decide next November between two senatorial candidates of widely divergent personal characteristics, Henry Kiel, thrice mayor of St. Louis, who easily won the Republican senatorial nomination, and Col. Bennett Champ Clark, born into a home which fame had touched heavily in the person of his father, the late Speaker Champ Clark, who won the Democratic nomination.

Wet Wins in Kansas.

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 4.—(AP)—One wet emerged tonight as a victor in Tuesday's Kansas primary, E. W. Patterson, Pittsburgh lawyer who championed repeal of the eighteenth amendment, winning the Democratic nomination for congress in the Third district in a close race. He will oppose Representative Harold McGugin, Republican, in November.

MRS. CHARLES E. RINGLING. [H. A. Atwell Photo.]

Mrs. Charles E. Ringling, widow of the circus man, stepped out of Greeter Gaw's car with the greeter yesterday afternoon and viewed the site in Grant park where the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus will give its opening performances tomorrow as a benefit for the children served by the Infant Welfare society of Chicago.

Mrs. Ringling, who has opened up her Evanston home for the stay of the circus, is the first woman member of the Ringling family to take charge personally of a circus management. John Ringling, the last of the brothers who made the big top famous, is ill in the east.

"I was married after the circus was founded, and I saw my first circus in 1889," Mrs. Ringling said. "That was the last year we had the wagon show. The next year the circus went on the rails."

Things will start happening today on the circus lot. The circus will arrive with its 1,600 persons and its menagerie of 1,009 animals, besides the 700 horses and 50 elephants. Then tomorrow at the gala opening city officials, society folk bringing groups of children, as well as the thousands of other circus fans will assemble. All profits from the afternoon and evening performances will go to the Infant Welfare society.

UPSHAW DEFIES 'ALL WET WORLD' TO DEBATE ISSUE

William D. Upshaw, prohibition candidate for President, challenged "the whole wet world" to debate the liquor question yesterday.

He previously had challenged Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, President Hoover, and Alfred E. Smith, but in his latest utterance he asked Col. Ira L. Reeves, western managing director for the Crusaders, to arrange a series of twelve debates with "speakers of state or national reputation."

Upshaw passed through Chicago on his way back to Georgia, conferred with Col. Reeves on his proposal, and later wrote him a letter embodying his idea. It is considered doubtful that the Crusaders will go through with the plan, which is believed prompted by the prohibitionist's desire for publicity.

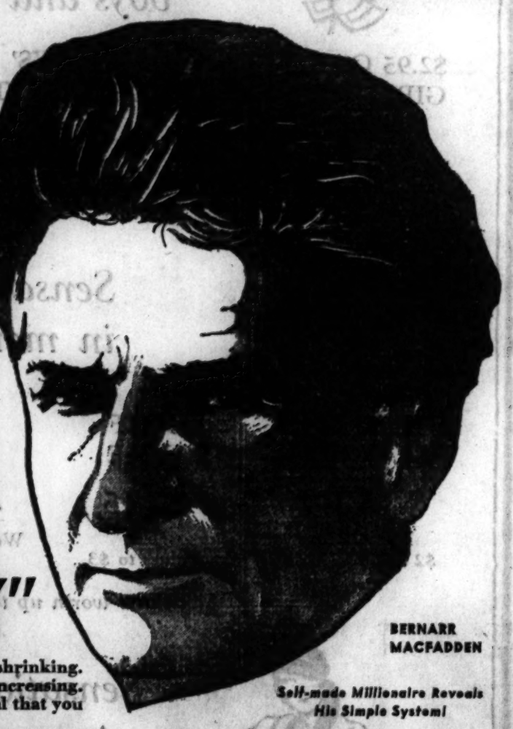
"I will tell you how to MAKE MORE MONEY"



BERNARR MACFADDEN

Self-made Millionaire Reveals His Simple System!

INCOMES are cut. Wages are shrinking. Taxes and other expenses are increasing. You need more money. It's vital that you should have more money.

What are you going to do about it? Will you sit back helpless—while others forge ahead? Or will you join the ranks of the successful. Will you get your share of the wealth which the world bestows on winning effort?

Money lavishes the great prizes of life on the strong. It shuns weakness. It scorns indecision. It hates laziness. On the strong, the decisive, the alert, it bestows it golden favors.

Bernarr Macfadden, reformer who gave away his fortune after he had become a multi-millionaire, proved this in his own experience.

Now that you need more money you need the inspiration of his story more than at any previous hour in your life. And so he has taken time from his multitudinous duties as directing head of a gigantic business, to help you by revealing the basis of his own tremendous success.

If you are dissatisfied with your status in life, as he once was, by all means read what he has revealed for you.

Don't ask directions from the fellow leaning on the fence beside the road. The man who has traveled the road is the man who can tell you how to reach your goal.

Bernarr Macfadden has traveled the uphill road to wealth. He knows it thoroughly—every foot of the way. And he has mapped it out for you in an inspiring series of articles in Physical Culture Magazine. The first one is ready! You can read it today in the new September issue—just out. Read it today and turn your footsteps into the roadway to more money.

ROOSEVELT HITS HOLDING UNITS OF SOME UTILITIES

[Copyright: 1932: By the Associated Press.]

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt today said that financing methods employed by some of the nation's large utility holding companies should not be condoned by government and indicated that he would urge strict governmental scrutiny.

The Democratic presidential nominee outlined informally a few of the basic principles which will guide him in shaping his recommendations for stricter governmental regulation of the public utility industry. He declined to be formally quoted, but indicated that in the not distant future he would set forth his viewpoints in clear and unmistakable language.

Gov. Roosevelt said that in horse trading a man, because of time honored tradition, might be exempted for withholding some facts, but that a large corporation, with its complex organization, is duty bound to furnish its security holders and the public with complete statements as to its earnings and financial status, withholding nothing in which the public might logically be interested. He said this could not hurt soundly financed companies.

Principles Are Unchanged.

The governor indicated strongly that his national campaign, in relation to the utility question, would be consistent with his publicly stated position taken in past gubernatorial campaigns in the state of New York. He remarked that his principles today are unchanged from those he has followed as governor of New York state. Broadly, they may be outlined as follows:

The governor insists upon the right of the government to own primary water power sites, and to produce electric power if necessary, but this right does not envisage public ownership of all utilities. It is the governor's belief that more power to compete with privately owned companies will have a salutary effect upon power rates.

While he believes that the government should have full power over the utilities, he feels that in return for adequate service the utilities are entitled to a reasonable profit, which he approximated at 7 or 8 per cent on the investment.

Must Scrutinize Policies.

He condemns as indefensible the financing methods employed by some large utility holding companies, but he does not condemn the holding company principle. He holds that the policies adopted by the holding companies, and not necessarily the physical setup of utility corporations, will determine their value to the public. Therefore, he holds that these policies should be closely scrutinized by the government.

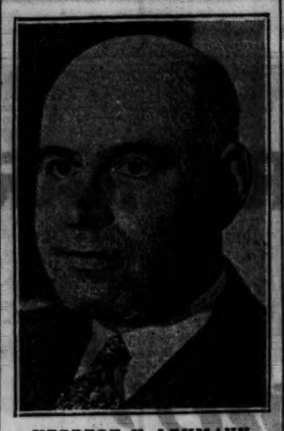
Gov. Roosevelt draws a sharp line of demarcation between those holding companies whose financial operations now are under criticism and those which have shown a leaning toward conservative financial policy and a desire to cooperate with the government.

While the governor stands unqualifiedly for stricter regulation and close scrutiny of the public utility corporations with their interrelated companies, he feels that his campaign will not be adverse to companies which he considers are soundly managed.

Many inquiries have poured in on the governor and his campaign associates from holders of public utility securities, seeking light on his position. Broadly,

An apprehension in some Wall street quarters that the governor's program of closer control by the government of public utility financial and operating activities might drive capital out of public utility securities, is held by the governor to be entirely unfounded. In his opinion the vast army of American investors will seek to discriminate between the sound and the unsound, and a governmental policy of watchfulness should help rather than harm investors.

ENTERS RACE



HERBERT H. LEHMANN.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Hope for a united Democracy in New York state, enhancing the chances for Gov. Roosevelt to carry the state in the presidential election, was considerably strengthened today with an announcement by Lieut. Gov. Herbert H. Lehman that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

While Mr. Lehman's announcement was not unexpected, he had declined thus far to commit himself. Gov. Roosevelt has been strongly urging the lieutenant governor to run, recognizing him as a strong candidate, who would help to weld the hitherto somewhat disorganized Democratic camps into a more solid front against the Republicans.

Alfred E. Smith has many times shown his friendliness for Mr. Lehman, and little doubt is expressed here that former Gov. Smith will throw his full strength behind the Lehman candidacy.

Gov. Roosevelt this afternoon issued an enthusiastic indorsement of the lieutenant governor, mentioning in phrases of glowing praise the fine record made by Mr. Lehman in office.

The only other announced candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination is Mayor Boyd Thatcher of Albany. The mayor is expected to receive the support of the Albany Democratic leaders, who have long been anti-Roosevelt, but Mr. Lehman is generally conceded the inside track.

RASKOB SEES GOVERNOR

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Today's guests at Gov. Roosevelt's "front porch" luncheon table included John J. Raskob, Vincent Astor, and George Roosevelt, the last named being a distant kinsman of the governor and a New York shipping man.

While they lunched a message arrived from John N. Garner, Gov. Roosevelt's running mate, informing the governor that Garner will come to Albany in a fortnight or so. It will be the first meeting between the Democratic nominees since they were chosen at the Democratic convention in Chicago.

The governor had invited Speaker Garner to come with his wife, but the telegram from the Texan said Mrs. Garner would be unable to come. The date of his own visit he stated rather indefinitely as "about Aug. 15." From New York came the information that Congressman Sam Rayburn of Texas, manager of the Garner campaign, will meet the speaker in St. Louis to accompany him to Albany. Gov. Roosevelt is anxious that his running mate shall spend a day or two with him and is planning to take Mr. Garner to his Hyde Park estate for a week-end if possible.

Raskob Hurries Away.

Mr. Raskob departed before the luncheon dishes were cleared away, hastening to catch a train back to New York. He hurried past newspaper men, dropping only a few words which failed to state his position in the Roosevelt campaign. Mr. Raskob was a Republican until Al Smith induced him to take the reins of the 1928 Smith campaign.

"Will you be active in the coming campaign?" Mr. Raskob was asked.

"I am out of politics entirely," he replied, and he strode for the front door of the executive mansion, only to be told by the governor's butler that a car was awaiting him at a side entrance. He pushed through reporters, who managed to get only one more crack out of him.

"Will you continue your work with the Democratic victory fund?"

"I have nothing to do with that any more," he replied and then he was gone.

Conference Is Friendly.

However, Gov. Roosevelt revealed that his conference with Mr. Raskob had been wholly friendly.

"We had a very delightful conversation," the governor said. "We discussed the campaign, the financing of it, and the funding of the deficit."

The Democratic war chest in 1928 fell far short of meeting the expenses of the Smith campaign, and Mr. Raskob drew generously at the time from his personal fortune. At present the national Democratic committee owes him $120,000, and an additional $300,000 is owed to the County Trust company of New York.

The Roosevelt managers, it was learned, are including the deficit in the present budget, but it does not follow from this, it was made plain, that the entire amount will be written off this year.

The plans of the present campaign committee, it was stated, are to absorb the activities of the Democratic victory fund, organized by Raskob, into the campaign finance committee.

Astor Offers His Support.

Vincent Astor was quite outspoken, in contrast to Mr. Raskob. He said he had come to Albany, not to tell Gov. Roosevelt that he was for him, "because he must have known that already," but he came particularly, Astor said, "to offer him whatever small support is mine to give."

Mr. Astor will serve as a member of the Democratic finance committee, it was made known, and in this capacity his services may be particularly valuable because of his position as a director of the County Trust company.

Mr. Astor took the opportunity to add his evidence toward rebutting the charges that the governor has radical leanings. No doubt Mr. Astor felt that he, as a son of one of the old wealthy families of America, could give considerable weight toward getting across an emphatic denial of any fears that the moneyed interests might have concerning Gov. Roosevelt's social and economic views.

Praises Roosevelt's Ability.

"His ability and character, one might assume," said Mr. Astor, "should be well enough known by now not to invite unfounded comment. Yet in recent weeks he has been described—by people, I suspect, who know him not at all—as an irresponsible radical, whatever that is supposed to mean. He has even been depicted as the probable enemy of every man fortunately still in possession of a few invested dollars. Such statements could not be more stupid nor more untrue."

Mr. Astor spoke of the financial crisis which has engulfed the country and he said that while no one man could effect a cure, he was certain that an able man at the helm of the government could inspire the people with confidence and start the ball of prosperity rolling.

"I believe that such a man can and will be found in Franklin D. Roosevelt," Mr. Astor declared.

Talks to Taxpayers.

Gov. Roosevelt had another heart to heart talk tonight with New York taxpayers when in a radio address he asked them what they thought might be saved in the cost of operating the state department of labor.

Every week the governor has been going to the people for their suggestions on how the state finances may be adjusted in various departments. A hundred million dollars or more must be chopped from the state budget next year, and the governor is eager that the economies instituted be practical, and that they shall not impede unnecessarily the important functions of government.

ROOSEVELT AIDS STUDY WALKER'S REPLY TO CHARGES BY SEABURY

New York, Aug. 4.—[Special.]—The case of Mayor James J. Walker was foremost of the problems confronting Gov. Roosevelt again today. Temporarily in abeyance while the governor's advisers, John E. Mack and Martin Conboy, were studying the mayor's reply, it was brought sharply back into the first position by Samuel Seabury's rebuttal to the mayor.

Hitherto restrained and lawyerlike, Mr. Seabury's language, sharp and indignant, called for action.

That the governor would confer with Mr. Mack and Mr. Conboy over the week-end appeared certain. Although the governor pointed out that such a program was merely tentative, he did say that he was considering it. Copies of Mr. Seabury's rebuttal went forward to the governor's advisers this morning after the governor had himself studied the document.

5 Bandits Get Frightened in Bank; Turn and Run

Five nervous bandits, heavily armed and masked, fled without loot yesterday from the Metropolitan State bank, 2201 West 22d street, after threatening ten employés and customers. After enforcing their order for the occupants of the bank to "stick 'em up" the bandits seemed at a loss as to the next step, bank officials said. They viewed the heavy wire cages uncertainly for thirty seconds and then turned and fled to their automobile, parked at the curb.

STRAWN TO RAISE G. O. P. CAMPAIGN FUND IN ILLINOIS

Silas H. Strawn, lawyer and business man, agreed yesterday to tackle the task of raising Illinois' quota of the Republican national campaign fund.

His acceptance of the post was announced by Joseph R. Nutt, treasurer of the Republican national committee, at the Chicago headquarters. It followed a conference in which W. J. Kelly, assistant treasurer, Franklin J. Stransky, chairman of the Illinois state central committee, and Mrs. Bertha Baur, national committeewoman, participated.

Mr. Strawn is to act as chairman of the finance committee for Illinois. He said he would announce the personnel of his committee shortly.

GOVERNOR ORDERS EXTRADITION.

Gov. Emmerson yesterday issued papers for the extradition of James F. Morrison, held at the detective bureau, to Willmar, Minn., to face charges of robbing a Willmar bank in July, 1930.

EASY TO USE TRIBUNE

The quickest and easiest way to find an apartment in Chicago is to use the Chicago Tribune Apartment to Rent Want Ads as a guide.

These want ads include advertisements for apartments in every section of Chicago and suburbs, in practically every range of rents from $25.00 up. They are owned or represented by reliable landlords and rental agents who advertise because they have something better to offer.

And they are conveniently arranged according to size and neighborhood to make it easy for you to select those most likely to keep you happy all the year 'round.

COMPLETE SELECTION

The Tribune is Chicago's guide to apartments. For more than twenty years it has been the chief meeting place for tenants and landlords. It is the biggest help you can get when looking for a place to live.

Early beginnings make happy endings when you're hunting an apartment. Make the ending of your search a happy one by beginning it in the Tribune Want Ad Section.

RENTAL AGENTS LANDLORDS!

A want ad in the Chicago Daily Tribune now reaches over 200,000 more city and suburban families than a want ad placed in any other Chicago daily newspaper and for two or more insertions now costs less per thousand readers than it did in 1920.

SOLDIERS GUARD HOOSIER MINE; PICKETS VANISH

Besieged Rescued; Work to Be Resumed.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 4.—[Special.—Machine guns manned by Indiana militiamen today guarded the blackened hill crest of Dixie Bee mine, ten miles south of here, but no opposition was within range of their blunt muzzles. The 4,000 union miner pickets who fired upon 65 nonunion workers in the mine for almost two days vanished early this morning when the guardsmen effected a bloodless rescue of the besieged.

COL. PAUL SIEBERLING.

Quiet reigns now and no further trouble is expected until the mining company resumes operations, probably Saturday, with the same crew of nonunion men whose presence has caused turbulence in the Indiana mining field for six months.

The incident just closed caused the death of one union picket and the wounding of at least eight men.

No one believes that the trouble is over, but most of the troops were evacuated from Terre Haute tonight. A garrison guard of perhaps 250 or 300 men will remain on the scene until the miners begin working the bituminous veins of the Dixie Bee once more.

Over in Ten Hours.

Hardly ten hours elapsed between Gov. Leslie's proclamation of martial law over the area and the rescue of the miners. The governor made the drastic move about 4 p. m. yesterday, when the guerrilla warfare was progressing hotly and the pickets had complete control of the countryside surrounding the mine. It was feared that the embattled miners, exhausted by almost two days of strain, would be unable to withstand a rush by their attackers, so the troops were called out.

Col. Paul Sieberling of Jonesboro, commander of the detachment, arrived in Terre Haute by plane at 5 p. m. and by 2 a. m. today the siege was over, four wounded had been evacuated to a hospital and the remaining 60 men and one woman, the wife of the mine's stable boss, had been taken to their homes under a protective guard.

Bullet Is Removed.

The most seriously wounded was John Fullman, 37 years old, of Terre Haute. This morning an operation was performed to remove a rifle bullet which pierced his stomach and passed almost through his body. Unattended, save by crude first aid methods, for almost two days, Fullman lost considerable blood, but surgeons believe he will recover.

Troops began arriving in Terre Haute about 9 o'clock last night. In the meantime, Col. Sieberling had made a long reconnaissance flight over the mine and had decided that conditions warranted an immediate expedition into the heart of the area held by the pickets. The planes patrolled the region each thirty minutes.

By midnight 250 infantrymen and machine gunners of the 830 ordered to Terre Haute had arrived by buses.

A few minutes after 12 o'clock Col. Sieberling led seven buses loaded with the khaki clad militiamen through the streets of the city, past the airport, where the guard planes were still landing and taking off on their observation flights and down route 41 to the mine.

When the troops reached the mine a bugler sounded officers' call at the head of the line and the company commanders and their lieutenants jumped from the buses and ran along the roadside to a patch of light thrown from the headlamps of the first bus. A brisk command came from the group of officers and Col. Sieberling and Lieut. Col. Whitcomb stepped off at the head of their men toward the shafthouse.

Machine Gunners Follow.

The machine gunners followed, then the group of officers behind them. The busses, grinding slowly in first gear, lurched as they progressed over the rough ground.

Up a slight incline to the very door of the wash house and boiler room went the cavalcade and not one picket blocked its way. The woods were silent. The union men had faded wraithlike in the mists of early morning. From the wash house ran two grimy men, carrying rifles.

Mrs. Thelma Thompson, wife of the stablekeeper, emerged with the men from the washhouse striving to tidy flowing strands of hair. She had hidden in a coal pile during the worst of the firing, she said, then in an empty boiler. The rescued miners crowded about the soldiers, all talking at once, to tell their experiences. Their ammunition was almost gone, they said, and they had been without food since Tuesday morning. They drank rusty water from the boiler pipes and used it to bathe the wounded.

Wounded Are Carried.

The wounded were carried out and Dr. Frederick Warfle, a captain of the 152d medical detachment, knelt beside them and rendered first aid with the help of flashlights.

On Monday, Attorney M. C. Embree of the Dixie Bee Coal company will take a number of the miners to Indianapolis to appear before Federal Judge Louis Fitzhenry to seek a permanent injunction restraining District Council No. 11, United Mine Workers of America, from interfering with the operation of the Dixie Bee.

John H. Beasley, secretary of the company, said today that the mine would continue operations with the same crew which has manned it, at less than the union scale of wages, since February.

FLYER'S THREAT TO "GET RID" OF RIVAL REVEALED

Mrs. Keith-Miller Ends 6 Hours of Testimony.

Miami, Fla., Aug. 4.—(AP)—A former business associate now serving a prison term for conspiring to smuggle aliens testified in Capt. W. N. Lancaster's murder trial today that the former British army flyer once threatened to "get rid of" Haden Clarke, his rival for the affections of Mrs. Jessie M. Keith-Miller, in whose home Clarke was shot.

The testimony was given by J. F. Russell, formerly interested in an air line venture with Lancaster which led them to leave Miami and go to Los Angeles on business. Mrs. Keith-Miller and Clarke were left together in Miami.

Russell said Lancaster was very much worried over the plight of the Australian aviatrix, who was without funds, and tried to send her money, but was unable to borrow any.

Tells of Threat.

"I said, 'You had better stay with me, Bill, and make some money,' I told him he had lost out with her and that since I left I had heard from my wife in Miami that Haden Clarke and Mrs. Keith-Miller had been at my house frequently," Russell related.

"I told Bill Haden had the inside track.

"Bill asked if I thought that Haden had double crossed him and I told him I thought he had.

"Bill turned on his heel and muttered: 'I'll get rid of him'."

The jury heard a letter written by Russell's wife received by him while on the business trip in the west.

The letter said in part ". . . there is no need to return as far as she [Mrs. Keith-Miller] is concerned. She is madly in love with Haden Clarke and is worried about how to break the news to Bill."

Woman Contradicts Self.

Mrs. Keith-Miller today completed more than six hours on the stand during which she said, in contradiction to earlier testimony, that she had proposed suicide to Clarke on the same night he was found dying in her home from a bullet wound.

Previously, the aviatrix had testified she and Clarke discussed mutual suicide several nights before the shooting, which the state claims was done by Lancaster through jealousy, but had not mentioned the subject again.

The suicide suggestion, Mrs. Keith-Miller said, was made by her as she and Clarke, who wanted to marry, sat talking over their predicament on the night Lancaster, her long time flying companion, returned from the trip.

Relates Hint of Suicide.

They had agreed, she said, it would be necessary to postpone their marriage until Clarke obtained a final divorce decree.

"We were despondent about our marriage plans and the whole situation," said Mrs. Keith-Miller.

"Then I made a fool suggestion. I said I wished we could end it all. He said he wished we could, too."

The pair had met Lancaster at the airport that day on his return from St. Louis, where they had notified him of their love and desire to marry. The aviatrix said they exchanged "highly cordial" greetings, and then the trio went to the home they had shared.

Clarke and Lancaster retired in the room they shared mutually, she said, and she went to her room, locking the door at Clarke's request. She said she heard the men laughing and talking.

Later she was awakened by Lancaster, who told her Clarke had shot himself.

GIRL'S SLAYER ON WAY TO LIFE TERM IN PRISON

Prompt Justice Averts Disorder.

BY WALTER FITZMAURICE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ludington, Mich., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Francis [Rusty] Nash, 32, the hermit trapper of Freesoil, was en route to Marquette penitentiary in a state police car tonight to begin a life sentence at hard labor.

FRANCIS [RUSTY] NASH.

With the marks of the slain Evelyn Sanford's fingernails still fresh upon his face, Nash stood up before a crowd in Mason County court here at 12:10 p. m., pleaded guilty to the rape and murder of the girl, and hung his head while Judge Hal L. Cutler imposed sentence. An hour later he was on his 400 mile journey to Marquette in custody of six state troopers.

Five hundred persons from around the countryside pushed into the courtroom to hear the proceedings, crowding the aisles right up to the jury box. Sheriff George L. Colyer had prepared for the situation by stowing an antiquated tear gas bomb in his pocket, but found no occasion to use it.

Tells Judge His Life Story.

In accordance with the Michigan statutes, Judge Cutler granted the slayer a private interview before opening court. Nash, a bedraggled figure in a denim shirt, blue overalls, and muddy boots, with a three day stubble on his face, walked into the judge's chambers as a penitent into a confessional.

There, in a twenty minute conversation, he gave Judge Cutler his life history and told the story of his crime —a story tinged with much self pity, and some remorse.

In an artless and unlettered fashion, Nash made a case for himself as a victim of circumstances and an uncontrollable impulse. Born out of wedlock at Fountain, Mich., he said, he had grown up half wild in Freesoil, making a meagre living by hunting, fishing and trapping in the swamps.

Most of the villagers, he said, had shunned him, and his only companions were boys of younger years. The village maidens, in particular, had found him repulsive.

Have Formality of Trial.

Judge Cutler opened court, informed Nash he was charged with first degree murder, and asked him if he wished to testify. The slayer sheepishly said no.

Sheriff Colyer was called to the stand. The confession, he said, supplied circumstantial as well as direct evidence of Nash's guilt. Dr. C. M. Spencer of Scottsville testified that he examined the body and found the girl had died of strangulation.

Nash was called to the bar to hear sentence.

"I find the respondent guilty of murder in the first degree, said murder occurring with intent to commit rape," the judge intoned.

The handclaps filled the room, but soon the demonstration died down.

Manacled to the sheriff and flanked by six troopers, he was marched to the state police car.

DE VALERA ASKS $10,000,000 TO AID IN ECONOMIC WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Aug. 4.—President Eamon de Valera today asked the dail eireann for a $10,000,000 emergency fund to finance the tariff war with Great Britain over the land annuity payments.

De Valera spoke of the necessity of finding new markets for Irish produce cut off from Britain. He did not tell how the money was to be disbursed or how it will be raised.

Are you handicapped at the office?

To put in a full day's work, you need a full man's strength. A man, half-sick from constipation, has less chance to succeed in today's keen competition.

This insidious condition often causes headaches, loss of energy, sleeplessness. It takes the edge from your working hours.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also has iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it becomes a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than using pills and drugs — so often harmful.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

FESTIVAL TENOR CONTEST WON BY OFFICE MANAGER

Ralph Niehaus Chosen in North Side Trials.

An office manager won first place held by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in the tenor division of the vocal contests held by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in the preliminary competition which is a part of the program of the Chicagoland Musical Festival to be held in Soldiers' field, Aug. 20.

He is Ralph Niehaus, 37 years old, of 3044 Osgood street. Niehaus sang "For You Alone," by Geehl, and was awarded the first place by Madame Nellie Gardini, Mrs. Ellen Mann, and Edward Clissold, three prominent Chicago musicians and vocal instructors, acting as judges. The contest was held in the ballroom of the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Church Soloist Second.

Second place was given James C. Durham, 45 years old, 555 Aldine avenues, soloist of the Broadway Methodist church, who sang "Hosanna," by Grenier, and third choice was Melvin Widman, 22 years old, 1919 Berteau avenue, a student at the North Park college.

Mrs. Edmund J. Tyler and Dona Parker had charge of the contest last night, which rounded out the north shore competition. Mrs. Le Jeune Fisher, 1911 Asbury avenue, Evanston, colored, was adjudged the best soprano Wednesday night at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Other Contest Winners.

Other winners last night were:

Baritones—First, Paul Pence, 26 years old, 22 West Goethe street, Chicago, voice teacher; second, Roger Bromley, 20, voice teacher; third place, Fordyce Waldo, 30, 30 West Chicago avenue, employé of Marshall Field & Co.

The next contest will be held Monday night for the west side sopranos at the Midwest Athletic club, 6 North Hamlin avenue. From the 15 singers chosen in the three parts of the city two will be selected to sing against out-of-town vocalists who will compete Saturday, Aug. 20, at the Drake hotel. One of the two best singers in Chicagoland will be presented at the concert in Soldiers' field.

4 CONVICTS SLAIN AFTER THEY FLEE ARKANSAS CAMP

3 Wounded; Trusty Guard Confesses Plot.

Tucker Prison Farm, Ark., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Four convicts, one a trusty serving as guard, were killed and three others were wounded today in a break from the stockade and in a gun battle between the besieged fugitives and officers in a field.

Prison authorities blame the whole tragedy on what they termed a guard's betrayal of trust invested in him under Arkansas prison rules which permit the selection of trusted convicts to do guard duty.

Archie Jones, a trusty who had won the confidence of prison authorities, is charged with leading seven fellow prisoners in the break.

Else Howell, another convict acting as a guard, was shot and killed when he tried to frustrate the escape. Cecil Allen, another trusty guard, was beaten on the head with a gun and wounded slightly.

Jones and the six other convicts were trailed to a cotton field several miles away by a posse of twenty officers, and when they opened fire the officers killed three of the prisoners and wounded two others. The other two surrendered.

Jones, who had been a trusty guard for fifteen months with a perfect record, told prison officials he originated the plot yesterday. He was on picket duty last night. Convict guards are used exclusively at the camp, as at all others in the state prison system, with one camp warden, J. B. Jackson, in charge.

Shortly after midnight Jones forced another guard to turn over the keys to the stockade, disarmed still another guard, locked both in a cell, and opened the stockade doors. The six other convicts with whom he had plotted the break joined him at once.

The telephone connecting the camp with Tucker farm headquarters, two and a half miles away, was put out of commission.

They went into the room where Howell was sleeping to get his rifle, and as he raised up in bed he was shot. He fell out of bed, and, thinking he was not mortally wounded, officials said Jones fired two more shots into his body.

Allen was wounded when he resisted efforts of the escaping convicts to take his gun. The convicts disabled all the guns they could not carry and fled on horses.

J. A. O'Callaghan Begins General Practice of Law

James A. O'Callaghan yesterday announced his association with G. A. Spencer and F. H. Bryan in the general practice of law. Mr. O'Callaghan, who was formerly an assistant United States district attorney and an assistant solicitor of the bureau of internal revenue in Washington, will give special attention to income tax matters.

VOTES TO DECIDE DRY LAW STAND, BRUCKER AVERS

Statement Is Issued by Michigan Governor.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—While refusing to answer directly questions on his attitude toward prohibition propounded by repeal organizations, Gov. Wilber M. Brucker issued a statement today through his campaign organization to the effect that he will submerge personal views on this issue to the will of the voters.

The governor has long been known as personally dry and was active in enforcement activities while prosecutor of Saginaw county and later as attorney general. He had previously stated that he would abide by the national Republican plank on prohibition.

His declaration of policy, disclosed by Seth Q. Pulver, Owosso, chairman of the Brucker campaign committee directing the governor's battle for renomination on the Republican ticket, stated:

"I stand unqualifiedly for the platform adopted by the Republican national convention at Chicago. My personal views are well known and remain unchanged.

"As an American and a Republican I believe in the rule of the majority. It necessarily follows that I favor submission of the question as outlined in my party platform and shall faithfully interpret and carry into effect the will of the people, once it is expressed."

The statement was turned over by Pulver to Lewis L. Bredin, state commander of the Crusaders, the organization which with the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, prepared a questionnaire which has been submitted to all candidates.

The Crusaders are holding a state committee meeting here Friday when it is expected a slate of candidates satisfactory to anti-prohibitionists will be compiled.

Questions asked the candidates include:

"Do you favor repeal of the 18th amendment? Do you favor ratification of repeal by conventions of the people in accordance with Article V. of the Constitution? Do you favor repeal of the Volstead and Jones laws? Do you favor modification of the Volstead act to permit lawful manufacture and sale of beverages containing more than one-half of one per cent alcohol? If elected will you vote and work to carry out the above program regardless of your political party's negative action and make no secret acts to deviate from this course?

"Do you favor amendment of section 11 of article 16 of the constitution of the state of Michigan so that the legislature may create a liquor control commission? Do you favor the passage of laws setting up a control system in Michigan which will effectively prevent return of the sa-

STILL FOUND AT GRAFTON.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—A still was found in operation on the same lot as the cheese factory at Grafton, Wis., late today by Milwaukee prohibition agents. They seized 100 sacks of corn sugar and 175 gallons of alcohol. Nick Scaffidi was arrested.

"There's the door Mr. LUXURY FUEL —I no longer have money to burn"

HERE'S a message worth hundreds of dollars to home and building owners who—in 1928 and '29 when they had money to burn—invested in a luxury fuel. And who are wondering today whether the fuel they picked and the bills they footed in those liberal years are going to be so hot next winter. You've been buying heat with only one side of your dollar. Next winter make both sides of your dollar buy it. Burn coal!

We realize you've had your experience with claims. So we aren't just going to make claims. When we state that by changing to coal you'll be gaining instead of losing in comfort... that you'll be effecting a savings up to 50% on your heating costs if you've been burning oil—up to 75% if you've been burning gas—we're not only going to ask you to check us, but we'll tell you how to check.

About safety, we suggest you ask your insurance broker why you need additional policies against dangers from smudge and explosion when you burn a fuel other than coal.

About dependability, we refer you to a city in which a fuel other than coal has been burned for many years. Any old resident of Toledo can explain why every well-appointed home had, in addition to a burner that utilized the fuel which was so cheaply supplied, a coal boiler. And why on days when the thermometer dropped and heat was truly urgent that coal plant went into action.

About costs, your most important question—ask that of Oman & Lilienthal, architects and managers of the St. Claire and Eastgate Hotels. They challenged the idea that coal would save money for them and asked the Commercial Testing and Engineering Company, famed from coast to coast as fuel and heating authorities, to find out. After a test which has never been surpassed for accuracy or fairness, this firm of experts proved to the owners of the Eastgate and St. Claire Hotels that they could save $5,093.63 a year by burning coal.

Wouldn't you welcome a proportional saving next Winter?

Any one of the 240 members of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association will gladly go over your heating requirements and tell you, free from charge or obligation, just how great that saving will be. More than that, he will help you realize every penny of it.

The two most important factors in finding the greatest coal economy are honest weight and honest grading. And the Association guarantees that every one of its members will give you these.

INDIANA JUST MISSES HERRIN.

Gov. Leslie of Indiana delayed nearly two days the sending of troops into the mining region of Terre Haute, where seventy-eight miners were fighting off several thousand. The sheriff of the county had asked for troops, and friends and relatives of the imperiled men had appealed for them. Two men had been killed and there were four wounded men in the besieged mine. The governor's hesitation might have had shameful consequences. No reason both creditable and explicable appears for the strange indecision. The attackers were in such numbers that they might have rushed the defenses, if they had had a little more fortitude, and no one would care to predict what might have happened then.

Indiana does not need a reminder that Illinois, because of the equally strange actions of a governor, was stigmatized in such a fashion that one section of the state will not erase it within a generation. The brutal disgrace of Herrin could have been prevented. It is hard to understand what was in Gov. Leslie's mind to cause him to hold back the troops with such a skirmish in progress and with a massacre a possibility. No man in authority can let political considerations control him in such an emergency and be sure of his self-respect later. The state cannot stand by as a neutral to witness the bloodshed of a private war.

IN JUSTICE TO MR. MYERS.

Mr. Lewis E. Myers finds fault with a recent editorial in THE TRIBUNE. The editorial commented upon the decision of the school board to reduce its tax levy by $15,000,000. In the course of the editorial it was said that "Trustees Myers and Caldwell may take such satisfaction as they can from having finally voted as prudent judgment would have dictated in the first place."

Mr. Myers writes: "I am sure your editorial writer did not know that I not only opposed the original levy but actually voted against it, so that in my case it cannot be truthfully said that I ever supported it, and I am naturally much distressed to be now held up as having changed my position."

THE TRIBUNE regrets that the statement of the facts with respect to Mr. Myers was not more accurate. It is true that Mr. Myers, throughout the consideration of the school budget, favored economies which at the time his fellow trustees would not accept. Mr. Myers is in error, however, when he says he voted against the original tax levy. The vote on the levy was taken at the meeting of March 23, a meeting which the record shows Mr. Myers did not attend.

Mr. Myers was no doubt thinking of his vote on the budget at the meeting of March 2. He did vote against the budget. He explained his vote by saying, among other things:

"The suggestion of pruning this budget to $60,000,000 is silly. It just can't be done." (It might be observed parenthetically that the revised tax levy for which Mr. Myers voted the other day was equivalent to pruning the budget to $61,000,000.)

In conclusion he said: "For the reason that I think that two or two and a half million dollars could be cut out of this budget without injuring the system, I vote no." (Parenthetically it may be observed that the reduction for which Mr. Myers voted the other day was precisely six times the maximum amount which he regarded as feasible on March 2. Since March, however, the record discloses an increasing disposition on his part to slash appropriations. Notably on June 6 he suggested in a communication to the board that the building appropriation might be reduced by $6,000,000, about half the amount it has now been cut. Before the budget was enacted in March he had favored savings in the Normal college fund and in other items, but all of these, presumably, were included in his maximum figure of $2,500,000 previously referred to.)

CHAPPLE'S INCOME TAX.

John B. Chapple is called back from his campaign for the Republican nomination for the United States senate from Wisconsin by the Wisconsin tax commission to answer questions regarding his income tax. He contends his tax reports are in order and charges the tax commission is inspired by La Follette animosity rather than honest zeal.

He says the administration is interested either in preventing him continuing to say things not flattering about the La Follettes or is trying to lay the groundwork of legal action that will occupy him in his defense and drive him out of political activities.

He thinks there is a precedent in the case of former Gov. Walter J. Kohler, a man of unquestioned integrity, who was acquitted after being compelled to spend much time and money during his administration defending himself against charges of violating the corrupt practices act.

If Chapple is right and the administration is directing the inquisitorial powers of the tax commission to harass a political opponent it seems very stupid politics, not to raise the questions of ethics and decency. There is likely nothing that Chapple could say on the stump that would create as much support for him as the belief that the governor was making use of his great power to persecute and stifle a political opponent.

Chapple, to sustain his plea that he is the victim of political collusion, presents a letter purporting to be from Tax Commissioner Rosa to the Ashland assessor of incomes, ordering the investigation and saying the information is wanted by the publisher of a La Follette newspaper.

The tax commission responds with a statement that it never has refused to audit anybody's tax return upon a complaint. "Any person who expects to run for public office in Wisconsin must expect people to be interested in whether he has made an honest tax return," the statement concludes. "If he has, he has nothing to fear from the tax commission." So far as is known no other candidate has been compelled to undergo a search as has Chapple.

It is a weak statement and has tended to add to sympathy for Chapple. He says the tax commissioners have been investigating his affairs since early in May, have audited his mother's small checking account and have counted the pennies in his children's school saving fund.

It will be strange if an adverse examiner cannot in three months locate something to find fault about in the tax report of any man, however honest, who was occupied primarily in earning his living and thinking about his income report only when compiling it.

The tax commission's concluding paragraph has an ominous tone. Chapple's experience implies that it means any person who expects to run against the administration candidate must expect his affairs to be made the subject of a special and costly examination.

The investigation thus far has reacted to the advantage of Chapple. Whether his tax report is audit proof is not yet known, but the impression has become pretty general that the administration is seeking to punish him for his audacity in opposing one of their big chiefs.

THE END OF THE B. E. F.

Mayor Eddie McCloskey of Johnstown, Pa., became his own one man army to tell the surviving members of the B. E. F. that they were leaving town. They were there at his invitation, thus having a better title to their Johnstown camp than they had previously elsewhere, although congressional behavior had given them a claim on Washington. They were muts and bums to their host when they objected to his arrangements to get them away.

The anabasis of these men with their women and children has been a sorry showing up of the demagogues, including Pinchot and Smedley Butler. The politicians who sought to make capital out of the marchers increased their sufferings and whenever confronted with responsibility for them immediately took to the woods. From Patman to Pinchot it has been a pitiful affair, promoted in the worst of spirit for the benefit of persons not exposed to any of its miseries.

The sentimentalities of politicians encouraging the illusions of the men produced a wholly discreditable national episode costly to many people who had no responsibility for it, but who were left to take care of the consequences. Although the men were betrayed into some preposterous assumptions and were guilty of some lawless acts which would be intolerable if they were used as examples it can be said for their conduct generally that it was remarkably good. The assumptions upon which they operated could not be granted at all. They asserted the right to seize trains, to interrupt transportation and thus destroy goods. When they had congregated they necessarily imposed themselves upon various communities which could not take care of them and never should have been asked to. But these actions can be referred to the political chicane which invited and encouraged the assemblage.

In miserable conditions the men for the most part conducted themselves as well as any body of misguided unfortunates could be expected to. It was their folly, but the disgrace is elsewhere.

NEW USE FOR SILVER.

[The Times-Picayune, New Orleans.]

Among the many comments that have appeared in print regarding the depreciation in value of silver, again and again we have seen expressed a wish that some new use might be found for that metal, one that would greatly increase its consumption. And now such a use has been found, one novel in the extreme, but which, though it might and probably will be widely employed, is not likely to add very greatly to total silver destroyed because the great potency of the process will give huge results with a minimum destruction of the white metal. We are referring to the recent German invention of an apparatus for the sterilization of water by means of silver. Thus 250,000 gallons of drinking water by this method can be sterilized with the loss of one gram of silver.

This novel device is the subject of a recent report from our consul general, W. L. Lowrie, of Frankfort on the Main. Our official reminds us of a German electrical firm that last year placed on the market several types of house and travel sterilizing vessels for which an almost unlimited period of usefulness was claimed. No chemicals or parts requiring renewal are necessary for the continuous use of the mechanism, which contains enough silver to last longer than the average span of human life.

The process is one of introducing into the fluid to be purified silver ions, and the newest development is, it would seem, to pass the silver ions into the water by the action of weak electric current instead of by mere contact as in the original hand varieties of the mechanism. This addition of electricity has carried the thing out of the field of mere local sterilization of drinking water into its application on a grand scale—to purify waters for large swimming pools and other continuous supplies. Such a machine already has been placed in the municipal pool at Frankfort.

In Germany a number of large industries requiring sterile water in constant and considerable supply are said to have awakened to the possibilities, and particularly the ice companies. In the latter case the question at once arose whether or not the low temperatures required might not conflict in some way with the sterilizing results of the ionization. However, according to our department of commerce report, tests lately carried on at Dresden by one of the great technical schools showed positive effects in the ice making field. The future of the process, says our federal correspondent, "is very bright for wide adoption throughout Germany."

There is one other fact in connection with this use of silver. It will be an actual consumption. When the white metal is used for coinage, and largely also in the arts, except for abrasion, the metal is not destroyed and the world's supply is not greatly diminished. But when used in chemical processes, such as sterilization, that which is used is gone even though the destruction be slow. The real need is a silver requirement that will eat up the metal rapidly and irretrievably.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. W. B.

OLYMPIC GAMES PRIMER.

THE OLYMPIC GAMES originally were a festival of the ancient Greeks. This festival was held at Olympia, near Mount Olympus, which is about eleven miles from modern Pygros. It was both religious and political. Athletics were a part because physical perfection meant better soldiers. Running was important so soldiers could chase the enemy.

The first games of which records were kept were held B. C. 776. Contests took place before that time, but no one now alive remembers the details. The contests were held every four years. Young Greeks from all parts of the country participated. Victory was a great honor.

Finally outsiders began cutting in. Rome sent some ringers, who were accused of padding their expense accounts. There was no international amateur athletic federation then to hear the charges. Therefore, in refutation, the Romans wrecked a few buildings and there was a fine free-for-all. So in A. D. 394 the Olympics were abolished by Theodosius the Great.

The first games were won by Corœbus. He is said to have been a cook. The Greeks have been cooking ever since. The prizes were wreaths of laurel. Now the prizes are medals. Pawnbrokers advance as much on the medals as they did on the wreaths of laurel.

These Olympic games were revived in 1896 at Athens. This action followed an international conference promoted by Baron Pierre de Coubertin of France, who had never been to Greece and wanted to go. The avowed purpose was to promote international amity and good will. There have been protests and some ill feeling at every meet since, including the tenth renewal now being held at Los Angeles.

United States won the last games at Amsterdam. That was by our way of point scoring. Seven other nations won by their system of scoring. There is no official point system. So international amity fared well.

California solicited the event before the depression. Attendance was expected to sell the climate and possibly some real estate. Spectators, however, are mostly native sons, but they and the competitors from all nations form huge crowds. Inevitably the climate is sold, but not much real estate. So the meet is a great success. It is a great honor, just as in ancient times, to win an Olympic event, but Jim Thorpe insists the honor is fleeting.

These present games began last winter in New York state because there are no snow and ice in California. They will end about Aug. 15.

Other times I seek a toothsome Chinese dish;
But the acme of my bliss comes when I nestle close

PUNDUE MAC.

WHETHER THE CURRENT RISE of prices in Wall street really presages the turn in business conditions or simply is overdue recovery from unwarrantedly low quotations, it certainly makes most people feel better. Or, as the market commentators say, sentiment is better. Take our case, for instance. Those ten shares of Middle West Utility that we own outright now will bring $2.50 instead of only $1.25.

"THERE GOES OUR BABY."

It was the little lady's first evening party. We sat with the parents as they awaited the arrival of her escort. Up he drove in a shiny new flivver. The mother almost gasped because she had been promised the boy's father would drive the youthful pair to the dance. But the father had been detained downtown. Daughter's pleadings finally convinced mother the little lady would be safe in the care of the 15 year old youngster. As they tripped gayly down the front steps we sympathized with the something that came from the mother's heart as she said softly, with an air of resignation, "There Goes Our Baby."

SOMETHING ABOUT PROTEIDS.

FOR about eighteen months a group of scientists working under the Baker fund at Cornell university have been experimenting on methods of changing the chemistry of the cells of the body by means of drugs. During this period these men—Profs. W. D. Bancroft, J. B. Rutzler Jr., R. S. Gutzell, and some others associated with them—have reported periodically in the proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences the results of their experiments. Their search has been to discover the very delicate chemical changes made in cells by disease and by drugs, and to find methods of reëstablishing the normal.

The body is composed of millions of cells and the cells are composed of proteins, sugars, fatty bodies, water, and minerals. Each of these ingredients is recognized as useful, and research students have devoted their attention to them. The group that has been most investigated is the fatlike constituents called lipids.

Dr. Bancroft and his associates have done their work on the proteids. In some cases they find these proteids more solid than normal, and in others less so. A crude comparison can be made with milk. In certain circumstances the proteids of milk are solidified and we call the product cheese. If a somewhat similar change, but one not quite so great, is made we call the product cottage cheese or clabber. If these proteids are liquid we have fluid milk.

On the basis of variation in the quality of the proteids of brain cells, the authors divide the insanities into A, B, C, and D. The old classifications of insanities, such as that made by laws and courts, or that made by doctors, are all wholly unsatisfactory. Let us hope that the proposed method may lead us out of the wilderness. They suggest that the method of investigation may help to work out the epilepsy problem and, possibly, that of migrane. It offers possibilities of telling us why we become sleepy, what happens while we are sleeping, and why we awaken refreshed. They tell us with some definiteness what happens to the brain cells when a person is anesthetized by drugs, such as chloroform. Based upon the changes in the proteids of the cells found in certain diseases and conditions, they propose the use of certain corrective drugs.

Their research discloses why it is that bromides and the barbaturic remedies are of service in certain conditions and why they make matters worse in others. One finds an answer to the question, Why is it dangerous to give bromides to certain persons who are to be anesthetized? Why is it that a dose of bromide or barbaturic given with a small dose of morphine will have as much effect as will a large dose of morphine?

MAY BE ARTHRITIS.

S. W. writes: I have a pain in the left hip bone at the top. It sometimes strikes down the left thigh. I feel it most after working hard, but not so bad during the time I am working. The worst time is when I sit down after work. Sometimes I cannot get up and stand straight without a lot of pain, but after a little exercise it goes away. When I go to bed I don't feel it until I want to move. I have had lumbago several times. Is that the cause of it?

REPLY.

You should have X-rays of your lower back, pelvis, and hips. My guess is that you have a chronic arthritis located somewhere in this region and that this arthritis caused your lumbago, sciatics, and whatever else your disorder has been called.

PEANUT BUTTER.

C. W. G. writes: How does peanut butter compare with meat in the diet? I am 72 and without teeth, so I can eat but little meat. For three months I have eaten peanut butter at nearly every meal and find my weight at 145 pounds, fifteen pounds more than usual. My height is 5 feet 10 inches and I have always been quite spare. I have never been a heavy meat eater.

REPLY.

Peanut butter is almost a pure fat. As a food it compares with fat meat, but not with lean.

A man of your age needs but little meat, but such need as you have would not be supplied by peanut butter. Why not eat canned salmon or white of egg for the little meat you need?

RAPID PULSE.

M. B. T. writes: I am 16 years old. A doctor told me my pulse is almost double what it should be. At times my heart thumps and pounds as though it would break through my chest. Is this caused from smoking? I have been smoking for almost a year and I used to smoke on an average of two packages of cigarets a day, but have cut myself down to ten or twelve a day.

REPLY.

Excessive use of tobacco is one cause of rapid pulse. Among others are goiter, heart disease, and, to some extent, nervousness.

NO DANGER IN SWIMMING.

Mrs. W. B. F. writes: I have a nursing baby 9 months old. Is there any harm in my swimming?

REPLY.

No.

CLEANING THE TEETH.

J. D. M. writes: Is it harmful to the teeth to squeeze a little lemon juice on the toothbrush and use it for cleaning? Is it beneficial?

REPLY.

Pickerill advises using fruit juices in cleaning the teeth. He thinks they cause a plentiful secretion of saliva and this cleanses the teeth. Most dental hygienists do not recommend fruit juices for this purpose.

SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—[Friend of the People.]—Who apportions out how much each real estate owner must pay when improvements such as sewers are put in? I own a lot on Normandy avenue near Higgins road, for which I paid $950. A sewer was put in on Montrose avenue and I am assessed $130 for a sewer about a mile away. Another system of sewers will be put in in another direction, quite a distance away also. Paving of the streets is under consideration. Now if I pay that much people more directly benefited probably pay more. Who audits this and how can I find out about it?

C. R.

This department spread the assessment to which the writer refers. The assessment was for a system of sewers in Bryn Mawr avenue and other streets, among which was Foster avenue from Mobile avenue to Normandy avenue. While there was a sewer in front of the writer's lot on Normandy avenue, it had no outlet except into a ditch. Now, however, it has been connected up with the new sewer built in Foster avenue and the benefits we figured amounted to $113.75, which figure was reviewed and confirmed by the County court. Our records do not show this lot assessed for a sewer in Montrose avenue. If the writer can find it convenient to call at this office, Mr. Moore, our sewer assessor, will be pleased to explain the matter fully and satisfactorily.

E. P. LINDHEIMER,

RETAINS DOWER INTEREST.

Franklin Park, Ill., July 28. — [Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can a husband sell his equity in a piece of real estate [joint deed] to his wife for a sum satisfactory to him and make a legal title even if they are not divorced at the time? 2. Should government bonds be turned in as personal property on the new schedule just put out by the assessors for the year 1931? B. W.

1. He would still have a dower interest, so that it would be necessary for him to join in a subsequent deed.
2. We have not seen the schedule.

CONSULT PASSPORT OFFICE.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am a native of Canada. I came to Chicago in 1923 after having paid a head tax upon entry to the United States. 1. Is my entry legal? After a few years I married my husband, who was born in this country. 2. Would I have any difficulty in becoming naturalized? 3. If a short trip to Canada were taken would I be detained?

E. G. S.

1. We see no reason to doubt it.
2. Not on the bare facts stated.
3. Take the matter up with the passport office in the Transportation building.

MECHANIC'S LIEN.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A remodeled a building for B, creating three stores in place of two. B was unable to pay for the work and eventually lost the building to C. C refuses to pay for the remodeling on the ground that the work done did not improve the building and that the rental of the stores is hindered. 1. Is there any justification in C's reasoning, that is, does the degree of improvement of the building enter in as a basis for payment? 2. Regardless of whether the building was improved or not, is not A the first choice in so far as payments to the creditors are concerned, including first mortgage holder? M. S.

1. No, in the sense that A would be entitled to a mechanic's lien if he acted with sufficient promptness.
2. Depends on whether he has perfected a mechanic's lien. In order to procure and enforce a mechanic's lien a subcontractor or material man must within sixty days after completion serve notice on the owner. [Sec. 24.] As against third parties, the principal contractor has four months in which to sue to enforce the lien, or file with the clerk of the Circuit court a claim of lien, for which a printed form can be secured from a stationer. [Sec. 7.] As against the owner, his claim may be filed at any time within two years after completion. [Sec. 9.]

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 5, 1916.

PARIS.—Two days of incessant hand to hand fighting to the northeast of Verdun left the French tonight in possession of important positions along practically the whole of the front from Thiaumont to Chenois. The net result is that the French are holding a bloodstained stretch of new won ground three miles long and nearly a mile deep. The men under Gen. Petain twice during the day stormed with the bayonet the Thiaumont works. The first time they were driven out by the massed counter attacks of the Germans. The second time they held their ground, and tonight they are consolidating the lines during the lulls between the repeated assaults of the enemy. The value placed on this work is shown by the terrific cost which the German crown prince paid for it during the many days which he devoted to its storming.

BERLIN.—Austro-German troops have regained all the territory which they had lost in the region of Rudka-Mirynskala, to the east of Kovel, according to an official statement by the German army headquarters. The Teutons also gained ground in the Carpathian mountains in the region of Kopilas.

ATHENS.—Two German airplanes from the Dardanelles today flew over the island of Lemnos and dropped bombs on the airdrome of the allies. The aircraft were driven off by the fire of British vessels.

BERLIN.—The German admiralty announced that eight English motor sailing vessels and one English steam trawler were sunk by a German submarine off the English coast on July 28.

LONDON.—British naval airplanes on Aug. 2 carried out a successful raid on a German airdrome and on ammunition sheds in towns south of Ghent, Belgium, says an admiralty statement.

ROME.—The war office reported that in the Adige valley the enemy's artillery bombardment continued, especially against Italian positions south of the River Camera. On the Posina line the enemy attacked positions east of Griso, but was repulsed. Yesterday artillery actions were more lively between Monte Seluggio and Monte Cimone.

NEW YORK.—Paralysis of surface car traffic on Manhattan island will be virtually complete before dawn tomorrow. Approximately 1,500 employés of the New York Railways company, which operates more cars than any other company in the borough of Manhattan, voted unanimously tonight to strike immediately for recognition of their right to organize and to enforce other demands.

FREEHOLD, N. J.—George B. Young, husband of the late Lillian Nordica, lost his fight for possession of the million dollar estate of the singer in a decision given by Judge Lawrence today. Judge Lawrence held that the will of 1914, leaving the bulk of the estate to three sisters of Mme. Nordica, should be admitted to probate.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Indications were that President Wilson would appoint three commissioners within the next few days to meet a similar delegation already selected by Gen. Carranza to undertake the settlement of the international differences arising from disturbed conditions along the Mexican border.

THE LAW'S DELAYS.

Notre Dame, Ind., July 29.—This is written to commend the editorial appearing in yesterday's TRIBUNE under the caption, "Beating the Law," every statement of which is absolutely true.

In this college of law we are trying to make delay in the administration of justice odious. It is not too much to say that in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, delay operates in favor of the defendant in a criminal case, and in favor of the wrongdoer in a civil case.

After many years of study of this monstrous evil in our courts I have at last come to the conclusion that the remedy lies in the hands of the judges and especially the judges of trial courts. Any judge who will grant 25 continuances of any case, either by consent of counsel or otherwise, should be impeached; and, if that remedy be inexpedient, such a judge should be retired to private life.

The Hon. Guy A. Thompson, president of the American Bar association, recently addressed the Indiana State Bar association and told of localities in which five to ten years' time elapsed from the beginning of a lawsuit until its trial. This is, it goes without saying, a disgrace. And yet people are told to "reverence the law." Only when the administration of the law becomes expeditious will it be entitled to or receive respect.

WILLIAM M. CAIN,
College of Law, University of Notre Dame.

THE PLATFORM FOR AMERICA.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—Your "Platform for America" I approve of 100 per cent. The people of this country should be thankful for your fight for their interests. I would like to see an association of newspapers all over the country carry a "Platform for America" or their editorial pages.

My father was a blacksmith in Denmark who came to this country when I was three years of age. I probably would have followed his trade had he remained there, but in this glorious country I have my own business, am independent, own property, belonged to clubs, raised and educated four children, and I would not change places with the king of Denmark. The depression has practically cleaned me out, but my faith in the United States is still undaunted.

I feel we are headed for a communistic form of government, and I, for one, do not want to see my children deprived of their individuality.

I left the Republican party four years ago on account of their stand on the 18th amendment, knowing the disregard for law it would cause. At present I do not know whom to vote for. I do feel if the party in power continues we cannot hope to stop government getting further into business, and really feel a change is for the best. I am urging my friends to vote for no representatives but those who are pledged against the 18th amendment and cutting government expenses a billion dollars. I advocate they be pledged to stand for the government absolutely getting out of business.

I love my country and I am with you in your fight to bring it back to the principles of its founders.

JOHN T. HANSEN.

THE POLES IN DANZIG.

Chicago, July 31.—Dr. Johann Ferber, interviewed by Donald Day, correspondent of THE TRIBUNE, charges that Poland "is trying to smother" the free city of Danzig.

The hostile and unfriendly attitude of the residents of Danzig has discouraged the feeling of coöperation the Poles have entertained towards the city. Many overt acts, such as the manifestation at Elbing, were aimed against the Polish government. Acts of violence upon the Poles were not punished. The anti-Polish laws passed by the city, the demonstrations and threats of the Hitlerites against the Poles are far from "a gesture of good faith."

How can the Polish commercialist and industrialist conduct his business in Danzig when he isn't permitted to establish a residence in the city? Five hundred Polish railroad officials and their families were driven from the city by the senate.

A law was passed which prohibits the carrying of arms and, in addition to this decree, a heavy fine was provided for any one apprehended violating this ordinance. This law exists only on paper, as no one has been fined or imprisoned.

The spreading of anti-Polish alarms resulted in a run on the local banks. These same unjustified alarms drove from the city many German and Polish tourists.

The Danziger Landeszeitung declares that the inhabitants of the city are themselves to blame for this tense and strained state of affairs between Danzig and Poland. This German newspaper continues by stating that the Danzig residents must immediately discontinue the pernicious attacks on Poland, as they do more harm than good.

WUXTREE!

Chicago, Aug. 1.—For the enlightenment of news venders who seem to be having considerable difficulty in agreeing on the correct pronunciation of the term which signifies their wares, may I state the following: The word paper is pronounced as though it were spelled payper. Not peeble, paybee, piebee, nor paypay.

I am sure the correct pronunciation would be greatly appreciated by all who have to pass within hearing distance of your voices. Won't you oblige us?

RUDOLPH E. ERICKSON.

BOLIVIAN GUNS SHELL FOES IN BOUNDARY WAR

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 4.—Despite efforts of nineteen American nations to prevent war between Bolivia and Paraguay, an official bulletin posted at Tarija, in the Bolivian section of the disputed Gran Chaco area carries an announcement today from Col. Pena, commanding the 4th Bolivian division that he has begun a heavy artillery bombardment in the Pilcomayo sector. The announcement caused great rejoicing in Tarija.

The Bolivians have built a 40 mile road from Moja, connecting at Tecsara with the road to Taria, and thus avoid sending troops through Villazon, whence the news of troops movements escapes the censorship by crossing the frontier. Fifteen hundred troops are reported to have been sent over this road in the last few days. Several trains of ammunition, supplies, and Red Cross nurses arrived at Villazon today and proceeded to the Chaco in trucks.

A young Italian, who has been peddling at Villa Montes, the Bolivian headquarters in the Chaco, arrived at La Quiaca today. He said 100 Bolivian soldiers were killed a few days ago when three trucks, in a collision near Villa Montes, fell 1,500 feet into the Pilcomayo river.

Bolivia Replies to Neutrals.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Bolivia informed the neutral American nations today that she was not unwilling to suspend hostilities with Paraguay, but that resumption of conversations over the Tran Chaco boundary dispute on the June 1 basis was "unreasonable."

The conditions imposed in a note from the neutrals on Tuesday made an armistice impossible, she said. Her reply asked if the neutrals would consider modification of their proposition.

(The neutrals' note asked whether Bolivia would submit the Chaco question to arbitration and suspend hostilities "on the basis of possessions [in the Chaco] maintained by Bolivia and Paraguay on June 1, 1932.")

Way Open for Peace.

GENEVA, Aug. 4.—(AP)—President Jose Matos of the league of nations' council today cabled the Bolivian government that Bolivian and Paraguayan replies to his messages "justify the assumption that the two nations desire a pacific settlement" of their Chaco territory dispute.

The cablegram was made public here. Matos is in Vichy, France, for a holiday.

"A way is open," President Matos' message said, "for an agreement on a method of settlement permitting observance of the two nations' undertakings under the league covenant."

President Matos reminded the two nations of their obligations under the various treaties they have signed in his messages to them several days ago. Paraguay signified willingness to arbitrate, and Bolivia, replying last night, said she "did not refuse recourse" to arbitration.

Paraguay Continues to Mobilize.

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Mobilization continued today in Paraguay for services in the Gran Chaco dispute with Bolivia. One group of 100 girls asked permission to form a regiment of their own, recalling that their grandmothers served in the war of 1865.

The students' group in Asuncion published a manifesto which they said would be distributed throughout North and South America. "No war is a holy war," this declaration said, "nor is any crime justifiable, but Paraguay must resort to heroic, tragic violence to save her own life."

The government has set up a commission to prevent speculation in foodstuffs.

Brazil's Troops Take City.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Brazilian federal troops have captured the bridge and city of Villa-salto, on the border between the states of Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo, it was reported today. Rain has virtually halted the fighting between federals and rebels on all fronts, however. An official bulletin said today that the federal army took the city of Apiahy from the rebels and that a conference began seeking the quickest method of bringing about peace.

Safe Pleasant Way To Lose Fat

How would you like to lose 15 pounds of fat in a month and at the same time increase your energy and improve your health?

How would you like to lose your double chin and your too prominent hips and at the same time make your skin as clean and clear that it will compel admiration?

How would you like to get your weight down to normal and at the same time develop that urge for activity that makes work a pleasure and also gain in ambition and keenness of mind?

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh—then get a bottle of Kruschen Salts which will last you for 4 weeks and costs but a trifle. Take one half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes—and when you have finished the contents of this first bottle weigh yourself again.

Now you will know the pleasant way to lose unsightly fat and you'll also know that the 6 salts of Kruschen have pressed you with glorious health.

To take off fat harmlessly and SAFELY, take Kruschen every morning—don't worry—it's the SAFE way to reduce.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at any druggists in the world and if the results one bottle brings do not delight you—do not joyfully satisfy you—why money back.

Hope to Make County Fair Contests Lively.

BY JEAN GUTHRIE.

A real old fashioned county fair—the Cook County fair at the new Fair Grounds, North avenue and River road—opens today and ambitious housewives all over the city are digging out voluminous aprons, interviewing old recipe books, and getting ready to battle for their first prize money with luscious cakes, pastries, candies, and canned goods and other tantalising comestibles.

Prizes in the culinary department are from first to sixth places, and not only is there money and glory in it for the winners, but many other Chicagoans will benefit as well, since most of the food will be donated to the needy after judging.

Plenty of Competition.

But here's a tip. City aspirants better look to their cups and spoonfuls, for there will be plenty of tough competition from farm women who have learned the ropes of county fair competition from many years' experience. But ranged on the side of the urban cook may be better facilities and greater conveniences, so we predict that it will be anybody's race and are laying no bets.

The city homemaker who has never embarked before on the adventures of fair competing will be anxious for a few pointers concerning just how to present her entry, what is expected of it, and how the judges will score the food exhibits. In the candy division, for instance, there are eight classes—chocolate fudge, divinity fudge, peanut brittle, nut candy, fruit loaf, molasses candy, penuche, and a free style group of six candies. One-half pound is the correct amount to enter in any class. The prizes range from $5 to $1. This group is open only to amateur candy makers.

An inaugural parade of live stock, an address by Emmett Whealan as chairman of the Cook county board, horse show classes for hunters and jumpers and trotting and pacing races are on today's program. In addition to the daily programs, the various departmental exhibitions will be open during the ten days. A flower show in open air gardens will be one feature.

Judges Will Nibble and Pinch.

The judges [shades of the tummy ache] will nibble and pinch and peer for the following qualities and score them as shown:

If you're looking for something particularly delicious in the line of fruit loaves, here is a winner which has carried its maker more than once to fame.

FRUIT ROLL.

2 cups granulated sugar.
1 cup rich milk.
1 cup pitted dates, chopped.
½ cup minced citron or chopped figs.
2 tablespoons butter.
1-2 teaspoon salt.
1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cook the sugar, salt and milk over a medium heat until a little dripped in cold water will form a soft ball, [234 degrees F.]. Leave the cover on during the first five minutes of cooking in order to wash down all sugar crystals from the sides. Turn the burner down and add the dates and citron or figs, stirring only until the fruit is melted in the sirup. Remove from the fire and beat in the butter, vanilla and nuts. Continue beating until the mixture is quite stiff and has lost its gloss. Form into a long roll about 1¾ inches in diameter and wrap snugly in a clean wet cloth. Let stand several hours, then slice thin.

Unusual Divinity Fudge.

HONEY DIVINITY.

1 cup water.
¼ teaspoon salt.
2 egg whites, beaten stiff.

Cook together sugar, honey, water and salt, stirring only until the sugar is completely dissolved. Continue cooking over a low fire until the sirup reaches 260 degrees F. [gives a firm ball in cold water]. Pour the sirup slowly over the stiffly beaten whites, beating during the operation. Beat vigorously until the candy is stiff enough to hold its shape when dropped from a spoon. Stir in the coconut and vanilla and, working quickly, drop in neat curled bon bons from a teaspoon onto waxed paper.

Now for a few tabloid pointers on candy making in general. Select a pan which is large enough to let the mixture boil briskly without overflowing. A two quart size is sufficient for most recipes. Heavy pans with no cracks or rough places are the most satisfactory utensils to use, as they are less prone to cause sticking.

For most candies graininess will be avoided by covering for the first five minutes or by wiping off the accumulated crystals from the pan sides with a wet cloth. The candy may be stirred carefully during cooking, but unless otherwise directed do not stir after removing from the stove until it is quite cool. The least agitation may start crystalization.

Fondant [if you use it in your free style group] should be snowily white, with imperceptible crystals, soft enough to mold easily, but not dry and crumbly. The addition of a small amount of beaten egg whites to fondant improves the color, gives it more bulk and smaller crystals. If you are using hard water cream of tartar will be needed to give a white product.

Fudge, if ripened in a tightly covered container for twenty-four hours before the judging, becomes much softer and more velvety than when freshly made.

In making caramels the danger of curdling may be avoided by adding the milk or cream in thirds, letting the first third and the other ingredients become quite thick [232 degrees F.] before gradually adding the other two thirds of milk.

In all candy making it is important to measure accurately, secure a good recipe, and follow it, and if possible make use of a candy thermometer, which is much more likely to bring success than is the variable cold water test.

AN EAR JUST RIGHT FOR EATING

NOW IS TIME FOR ALL GOOD MEN TO EAT CORN ON COB

BY EVERETT SWINGLE.

Now is the time to enjoy corn on the cob. Gardens and truck farms are producing a huge harvest of corn this summer and for the next two or three weeks the food marts and roadside stands will be offering a plentiful supply of the home grown product.

Market men and operators of roadside stands have learned that the public likes the golden bantam corn, with its well filled yellow kernels, in preference to other varieties. The yellow bantam has kindred varieties, all of which are more popular here than the white corn.

Needs Careful Treatment.

No vegetable needs more careful treatment in picking at the right time and handling in as short a time as possible than corn, and the sooner it reaches the table the better.

The danger of getting corn picked too young is about over. In addition wholesalers now assert there is no longer a chance that one will buy field corn, which is not as sweet nor as juicy as sweet corn.

Among the many growers of sweet corn in the Chicago area are the Krueger brothers at Niles Center. By a succession of plantings they obtain corn for customers for more than two months in a season, selling their produce at a premium on the basis of quality. A patch lasts two to three weeks, by that time another planting has matured.

Many city residents who have visited farm friends or relatives or who have lived on farms are acquainted with Mexican sweet corn, known best for its purple kernels and responsible for many arguments over its merits as compared to other varieties.

Seldom on Market.

It is seldom found on the market. Dealers explain that so few consumers know of Mexican sweet corn, that its color would ruin rather than attract sales.

The green sweet corn in its present stage is ideal for corn ear roasts. Roasting ears must be somewhat more mature than those usually used for boiling on the cob. The husks are left on until the corn is tender and then butter and salt applied.

Paper Plates Make Welcome Addition to Any Cupboard

BY PHYLLIS HAMMOND.

The summer time custom of using paper plates for picnic lunches, thus avoiding dish washing and breakage, is an addition to an already lengthy list of new conveniences for housewives.

These new articles, placed on the market a very short time ago, are made of cellophane shaped in bags of different sizes. They are designed primarily to keep moisture, flavor and odor in each food placed in them and out of other foods in your ice box. Mr. Fish may be placed right next to Mr. Lettuce without the latter's being offended by or absorbing "fish" odor. Cauliflower, cheese, cucumbers, onions, pickles and other articles, which usually impart their flavor to other foods in the refrigerator, may be safely kept for days.

Keep Fruit Fresh.

Cut fruits placed in these bags are kept from drying out as are sandwiches and cuts of cake, which will keep moist and fresh unbelievably long. Lettuce and crackers, two things which must be absolutely crisp when served, can be kept that way. For picnics the cellophane bags are ideally handy.

Another feature of these articles is that the number of things you may wish to place in your refrigerator is greatly increased, as they do not take up the amount of room that dishes do. And speaking of dishes, remember that a dish broken in the ice box is something to worry over, for chips and splinters of glass may fall into your food.

Can Be Washed.

The cellophane bags are not to be used only once, but may be washed out and used over and over again. They can be purchased in two sizes, a large package, which is made up of assorted bags, large and small, and a small package containing bags of sandwich size.

There's just one more invention that would perfect the kitchen for women anxious to keep their manicures intact. Some one, some day will produce it—another cellophane-like bag, designed to cook roasts and other oven baked foods. We won't have to scrape and break our nails then and imagine the convenience of having no pots and pans to scour!

Household Hints

Cup cakes baked with half a canned peach or other canned or preserved fruit in the center make delicious puddings.

When several eggs are to be cooked in the shell, it is convenient to lower them into the boiling water in a sieve or wire basket, and lift them out in the same way when they are done.

Beef Pot Roast and Stew Best Meat Buys Now

In its regular weekly report, issued for the guidance of consumers, the committee on marketing information of the Meat Council of Chicago states: "Pot roast of beef and beef for stews are recommended as the most economical meat buys of Chicago housewives over the coming week-end."

TANGERINES DIPPED IN HONEY DELICACY FROM CALIFORNIA

A new method of merchandising the small tangerine known as the "Japanese orange" has been devised by Pacific coast stores. The small fruit, peeling intact, is dipped in honey until the sweet permeates the pores of the peeling and blends with the tart of the citrus. Open topped cardboard containers are used for display, and often these are covered with a transparent protection. The honey dipped fruit resembles the better known glace fruits.

Janet Fairbank Spends Busy Summer with Her Music

Here is Miss Janet Fairbank in one of her leisure moments at The Butternuts, the Lake Geneva residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, with Lictor and Ufa, two of the three canine pets of the Fairbank family. Ufa, the schnauzer, is a recent addition to the family, having been acquired just about the time Miss Fairbank returned from her musical studies in Berlin, early last month. Miss Fairbank hasn't many moments of leisure for she comes to the city twice a week for lessons and this evening at 7:45 o'clock she starts broadcasting over a local station. Miss Fairbank scored a distinct success when she sang over the radio in Berlin last spring and also in the concert she gave there. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Free Ice Fund Faces Crisis in Warm Weather

Poor Babies Need Your Gifts Now.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

As the sun rose out of Lake Michigan yesterday and glared down upon Chicago, the folks in the streets where not a green thing grows heaved a helpless sigh and went doggedly to the task of shutting illness out of their destitute flats.

In two weeks of gentle weather that followed the heat wave which brought suffering to every unguarded house, thousands of penniless families gloried in comfortable nights and days. While danger lurked in the empty ice box and food spoiled, the cooler weather saved serious illness from many homes.

The heat yesterday was like setting a match to a firecracker. Sickly babies having weathered so far the summer weather cried piteously. Their distressed mothers couldn't make them comfortable. Milk soured because of a lack of ice. It was the same old story—heat and no weapon to fight it.

THE TRIBUNE Free Ice Fund was created years ago to save such situations. Readers have contributed generously in the past, but this year, when they are needed more than ever, their gifts have fallen off. Now another warm spell is upon Chicago, illness will result unless there is money for ice.

Only $1,500 has reached the ice fund this year. Last year $7,000 went free ice to thousands of needy families.

Two hundred north side girls who are practicing for the Chicagoland Music Festival sponsored by THE TRIBUNE, gave to the free ice fund. Now the 252 members of the south side group [ages 6 to 16] are determined to outdo the penny fund given for the ice fund by the north side girls Wednesday at the Edgewater Beach hotel. The south side girls voted to bring their pennies to rehearsal tomorrow morning at the Trianon ballroom.

Other children were doing their part for those less fortunate. Among yesterday's gifts was one for $1.30 from the children in the 500 block on North Brainard avenue, La Grange.

A garage was converted into a theater for the entertainment, an original program, and refreshments of ice cream and cookies were served. The youngsters who took part were Lois Natalie Easton, Dolores Lamberty, Donald Densborn, Dick Preble, Ellen Marie Schmidt, Lucille Helme, Mary Helen Lawson, and Anamae Agar.

Another benefit was that of a lemonade stand conducted by Barbara Ann King, 327 North Taylor avenue, Oak Park. Barbara Ann, who is only 6 years old, earned $1 for the ice fund. The contributions to the fund yesterday came from:

$1—Barbara Ann King, Mrs. L. Levi.
Total ..... $ 10.80

$2.50—Dora S. Weil.
$1—Camp Algonquin fund.
Total ..... $ 3.50
Previously acknowledged 4,861.08
Grand total $4,864.58

MRS. DAVID TAYLOR PARSONS.

Wedding Told.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Cook of Evanston announce the marriage of their daughter, Barbara, to David Taylor Parsons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Parsons of Rye, N. Y., on July 23 in Munich, Germany.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Barton Cook, and Carl Parsons was his brother's best man. The bride was attended by her sisters, the Misses Mary and Betty Cook, and by the Misses Mary and Lorraine Parsons, sister and cousin of the bridegroom.

The Rev. R. Townsend Henshaw of Christ church in Rye, officiated, assisted by the Rev. Frederick M. Kirkus of the American church in Munich. Mrs. Parsons was graduated from Wellesley college and Mr. Parsons attended Phillips Exeter academy and Yale university, and for the last three years has been studying architecture in Munich. Mr. and Mrs. Parsons are in Switzerland for their honeymoon and will return to Munich for the winter.

J. E. Fitches Enjoy Parties in Wisconsin

BY JUDITH CASS.

Up at Oconomowoc, where numerous well known Chicagoans used to summer, but which hasn't much of a Chicago colony nowadays, Mr. and Mrs. J. Earling Fitch are visiting his mother, Mrs. Frederick C. Thwaits, and Mr. Thwaits, at their lovely summer place. And the whole summer community is busy entertaining the newlyweds, although all the parties are rather small and in most cases almost family affairs.

The former Jane Wright Anderton of Chicago and Mr. Fitch were married at Antibes in France on April 30 and after a honeymoon spent cruising on the Mediterranean they returned to the former Mrs. Anderton's villa at Juan les Pins and remained there until last month, when they came to this country.

They arrived at Oconomowoc on July 23 for a visit with Mr. Fitch's family, bringing with them Mrs. Fitch's two children, Brier and Charles Anderton. They undoubtedly will come to Chicago for a visit before they leave the country in October, but I was unable to talk to any one yesterday who knew when they would be in Chicago. None of Mrs. Fitch's immediate family is here now, for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Van Doren Wright, and her sisters, Miss Marion Wright and Mrs. Alexander Stoller [Brier Wright], and her brother, Redmond Stephen Wright, and his wife, the former Glee Louise Viles, all live in Paris now.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitch and Brier and Charles expect to return to Europe early in October to spend the winter in Switzerland, and although they do not plan to become ex-patriates they do think they will live abroad for at least a year. Mr. Fitch is a grandson of the late Albert J. Earling of Chicago and Milwaukee.

Betty Crossett Wedding Plans

All the stay-at-home Chicago friends of pretty, dark-eyed Betty Crossett feel cheated because they will be unable to see her become the bride of ohn L. Mothershead Jr. next Tuesday at Wianno, Mass.

The ceremony is to be performed in the gardens of Lynwood, the Crossett summer estate, by the Rev. Dr. Duncan Browne of St. James' church, Chicago, and Betty is to wear her mother's wedding gown of ivory satin and rose point lace.

Carolyn Crossett will be maid of honor and Mrs. Edward S. French [Ruth Crossett] matron of honor. Morris Mothershead will be his brother's best man. There will be no ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. French, who have been occupying the Crossett apartment at 1200 Lake Shore drive, went to Wianno about a week ago to be on hand for all the prenuptial parties. Among the out of town guests at the wedding will be the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Mothershead of Pasadena; the bride's grandmother, Mrs. James A. Rankin of Pasadena, and Mrs. Alexander A. McCormick of Chicago. The couple will sail the day after their wedding to spend a year in Europe.

Mrs. Austin H. Niblack and her youngsters, Helen and Albert, and Mrs. Vaughan C. Spalding and her children, Charles, William, and Edward, are deserting Lake Forest for the rest of this month and are going up to Mackinac island to visit Mrs. Niblack's and Mrs. Spalding's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy. They are leaving tomorrow by boat and they will take with them several ponies and horses, for no automobiles are allowed on Mackinac island.

Mr. Niblack isn't planning to take any vacation this summer, although he says the urge to see the horses race at Saratoga may prove so strong that he will leave business and its worries for a week and go east for the last week of the meet at that New York track.

Sterling Mortons to Take Cruise

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Morton, who just said good-by to their daughter, Suzette, and started her off for a year's study at the Sorbonne—isn't she an ambitious young lady to pass up the good times she would have at home the rest of the summer in order to study French for six weeks before entering the Sorbonne?—are leaving Monday for a fortnight's cruise on their yacht Freedom.

Their guests on this cruise will be the I. Newton Perrys and their daughter, Miss Polly Perry, and the Bryan S. Reids. They plan to put in at numerous resorts on the great lakes, including Harbor Point, where the Mortons formerly summered, and Desbarats in Ontario, where so many Chicagoans are vacationing.

The junior Byron S. Harveys are to land in New York today from Europe, and Mrs. Harvey's mother, Mrs. William Card Whitcomb, expects them to arrive in Chicago on Sunday or Monday.

The Harveys rented their Elm street apartment when they went abroad in June and will not be able to occupy it again until September, so in the meantime they will stay at the Whitcombs' apartment at 1500 Lake Shore drive and go out to visit the senior Byron S. Harveys in Lake Forest for the week-ends.

Mr. and Mrs. Latham Castle [Georgiana Whitcomb] of Sycamore, Ill., have gone up to their place at Lac du Flambeau for a month.

Lawrence M. Viles and his elder son, James, are spending the latter part of the summer at the Olympia Fields Country club, Mr. Viles' Lake Forest residence being rented for the season. Lawrence M. Jr. is with his mother, Mrs. Albert Smith, at Brookville, L. I., for the summer.

Author Stresses Reactions of Native Character.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"The Family Circle," by André Maurois. [Appleton.] Published today.

Although André Maurois is best known for his biography, it must not be forgotten that his most popular literary creation was "Ariel," which, while containing the most intensely delicate quest ioning of the psychology of a poet and the most subtle interpretation of the answers which he discovered, was almost as much a work of fiction as a work of fact. It was fictional biography in its supreme form. It proved that, although its author was a great biographer, he was at the same time greatly gifted as a writer of fiction.

ANDRE MAUROIS.

The world knows M. Maurois' fiction much less well than it does his fact, probably because that fiction, unlike that fact, has always had a peculiarly national tone. He writes French fiction about French people (or with a brilliant understanding of the British, as in part of "The Silence of Colonel Bramble"), and his most potent charm is in the fact that he does interpret his own people. However, one must know that people to understand the whole subtle brilliance of M. Maurois' novels.

"The Family Circle" is a novel so very French that the world at large will unquestionably miss much of its delicacy, just as the world at large missed much of "Bernard Quesnay," a character, by the way, which appears, in a very minor rôle, in "The Family Circle." Part of the scene of both the novels is in a woolen center in Normandy where the feudal lords of industry flourish like their predecessors of the land.

Nowhere else in the geography of literature would a character exactly like Denise Herpain be found, and to many readers her character and the reactions which her family and her husband and her religious counselors have toward it will be a little strange. I don't say that Denise is the typical French woman of her class, but I do say that, given such a background, inheriting her social ideas, put into the situations which confront her, an American woman would have had definitely different reactions, a German woman would have been forced to another whole set of resulting deeds and other women of other countries would have behaved quite differently.

And that is where M. Maurois' art is so delicately not apparent, but present to one who cares to look below the surface of the tale. He has made Denise Herpain uncompromisingly French, while he has taken as his theme one which has universal examples.

"The Family Circle" is the story—boiled down to the lees—of the influence which the knowledge of wrongdoing on the part of her mother had upon a child and the resultant tangle of her own psychologies in life. One of Denise's first memories and the most persistent one was bearing her mother sing to the accompaniment of a man who visited the house while her father was away and seeing him place his hand upon her mother's arm. In "The Family Circle" M Maurois tells the story of Denise's own life, shadowed from childhood by the realization of her mother's unfaithfulness to her husband.

The book is something more than a psychological study in its scope, however, for it gives a detailed and memorable picture of each of the scenes of Denise's life as they rolled panoramically behind her—the almost feudal-like mill town, where she had few friends (because her mother was talked about); Rouen, where she went to school; Paris, where the higher learning called her; Switzerland, where she ran away from life; the Riviera, where she ran into it pell-mell, and another Paris, where the great of the land discussed international problems, where great novelists were her intimates, and where Denise had the same sort of reputation which had been hung about her mother's neck like the albatross, but which in her case was not altogether deserved and which seemed merely to enhance her position.

"The Family Circle" is also a picture of the period as well as of places. The France of after the war is no more clearly sketched than the France of last year—a France, like an America, of depression.

Velvet Gowns Score Hit of Fall Fashions

New Styles Reach Shops Every Day.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

You won't have to consult an ouiji board or listen to prophets of any kind to know that fall fashions are coming into town with regularity . . . arriving in time to tempt late vacationists.

If you have been up and about and have prowled and lingered around the shops you will have decided by this time that gowns are going to be gowns this season. Perhaps they will start to pack them as they formerly did when the arrival of a long, pale gray box caused a feminine furore only equaled by the flurry and swanky rustling of reams of tissue paper.

The first temptations to get in the spotlight are velvet gowns—no one would dare to call these first, snooty looking things mere dresses. They are longish and are draped with cunning skill. They fit skin tight around the hips and do everything they can to cling even tighter to your ribs until you sniff suspiciously and realize that the diet will be continued a bit more rigorously than ever, if you would wear these wickedly good looking creations with the proper slim audacity.

Long, monklike sleeves make a picture out of one model, another has short, greatly puffed short sleeves and a wide sort of Medici collar of chalk white heavy lace frilled around the V neckline.

Another new white sleeve idea is sponsored with circular but short sleeves of ermine . . . while a third uses deep cavilier cuffs of heavy white lace and matches them with a yoke effect also of the same lace.

While these black velvet creations will cause you to pawn your family silver if necessary, so that you may wear them to snare any stray and unattached males for the next few important weeks, the new black satin ensembles are distinctive enough to cause a few hours of indecision between the fabrics.

Satin this season is not the glittering, shining, stiff stuff of other years. This fall satin is gloriously dull and lusterless . . . heavy, thick stuff that will slink and cling mysteriously to the slim and not so slim.

If you know your fashions you will buy the dresses that have the frosted top motif . . . the costumes that have white sleeves, white yokes, and in many models the entire high waisted bodice of white.

One knockout ensemble is made of wide waled or flat corded dull satin with a long sleeved bodice attached to a very simple straight skirt. Over this you wear the brief, white, flat waled jacket that is sleeveless.

The high, round, and tight neckline is most unusual and new. Buttons of brilliants are used with knowing effect to button the side closing jacket. This is the sort of a black and white get-together that will make every one stop talking!

Mr., Mrs. David Selznick Are Parents of a Son

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 4.—(AP)—A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. David Selznick today. Mrs. Selznick is the former Irene Mayer, daughter of Louis B. Mayer, head of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer motion picture studios. The Selznicks have another child, a daughter, born last fall.

Paris Designers Hoist Waistline and Defy Patou

PARIS, Aug. 4.—(AP)—The battle Parisian designers are waging between the thorax and the hips advanced a point today when three houses hoisted the waistline to two inches below the bust, opposing Patou, who lowered the waistline to the hip bone.

Coats and dresses showed the waist cut high, on a diagonal line. Skirts nine to ten inches from the floor gave a long legged look, causing much heated discussion.

The coats featured economy, with removable collars and bibs, making it possible to wear them with many costumes. Fox tails were used by only one house as neck pieces.

The coats were generally slim belted or unbelted and made of heavy diagonal ribbed wools, velvets, and velveteens. Short fur wraps were seen everywhere.

Opera Season at Stadium to Start Oct. 15

Another Company Plans Series Here.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Saturday night, Oct. 15, is named as the time of the first operatic presentation at the Chicago Stadium. Before a seating capacity of about 20,000 and with what Maurice Frank, its impresario, calls unexcelled acoustic properties, this will be the first of what is promised to be a series of opera productions upon a scale and in a manner never before attempted in America.

The series will run on Saturday nights only, with admission prices of from 50 cents to $2. It is hoped to present the world's outstanding operatic stars, with a large orchestra, a chorus of the Civic Opera ensemble, and other choral units numbering 150 or 200, a large ballet corps, and a notable conductor.

Mr. Frank and his associates in the enterprise express their belief that such operatic spectacles as "Aida," "Carmen," "Samson and Delilah," "La Juive," and others of the same nature can be adequately presented before audiences of the size named, and that all will have perfect vision of the stage at all times. Details of casts and similar matters will be announced as soon as plans are completed.

Meanwhile, another opera company, in addition to the four or five already announced, hovers on the Chicago horizon. The Paris Russian opera, directed by Prince A. Zereteli, is making representations in favor of a ten weeks' season at the Auditorium. Its personnel includes twenty-one principals headed by no less a personage than Chaliapin, a chorus of fifty, and a ballet of thirty-one. Its repertoire includes nine Russian operas and several more from the French and Italian schools, and four independent ballets in addition to the ballet sections of the operas. The company has been appearing at the Theatre des Champs-Elysees in Paris.

Dorothy Crost and Berenice Jacobson concluded the summer artist series of the Chicago Musical college with a recital of music for two pianos at the Punch and Judy theater yesterday morning. While the two-piano literature is not as extensive as that for the solo instrument, much of it is highly attractive, and many additions have been made by Guy Maier and Lee Pattison, who used to be the most popular exponents of this form of recital. Miss Crost and Miss Jacobson are alert and deft in their ensemble and they made an attractive display of the Mozart Sonata in D, Ravel's "Mother Goose" suite, and shorter works by Infante, Saint-Säens, Chopin-Maier, and Moussorgsky-Pattison.

Observe Bible Day at Des Plaines on Sunday

Bible society day will be observed Sunday at the Des Plaines Methodist camp meeting ground. The program, which includes the reading of scripture selections in 11 languages and a number of pageants presented by groups from churches of various denominations, was announced by Dr. J. E. McLaughlin of the American Bible society, 35 East Wacker drive. Dr. McLaughlin announced that the Bible society had distributed 10,822,489 copies of the scriptures in 300 languages during the last 6 years. Special trains to the camp grounds will be operated on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad.

Record Class Graduated by Moody Bible Institute

Diplomas were presented to 131 men and women at the Moody Bible institute last night by President James M. Gray. The class is the largest in the history of the institution, surpassing the previous record of 123 set in 1924. Prof. Kyle M. Yates of the Southern Baptist Theological seminary, Louisville, Ky., delivered the commencement address.

HOW TO KEEP FROM GROWING OLD

Beautiful, but Dumb, Not So True in Films

Studio Players Include Many Authors.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 4.—It's an old saying about beautiful but dumb—but it doesn't always hold. At Paramount studio the players include many authors. There's Elissa Landi, in De Mille's "Sign of the Cross," with three published novels to her credit. There's Mae West, with three plays to hers; Charles Grapewin, author of four books, and George M. Cohan, who wrote many plays, and a book, "Twenty Years on Broadway."

Lilyan Tashman has a new haircut; it's not a long bob, but one long enough to allow of tight curls all over the back of her head down to the hair line.

Vince Barnett, Hollywood's professional ribber and also actor of parts, had a somewhat disturbed honeymoon at Catalina, where his pals had twelve girls take turns at calling him up until the new wife got a bit huffed over it.

Then there's the cruel stunt Harpo Marx pulled on Al Jolson and Irving Caesar, composer, who were working patiently in Jolson's bungalow at United Artists on the new song for the picture, "The New Yorker."

Harpo listened outside until he memorized the tune, then burst in and said: "Listen, boys, I've got a great new song for my next film. Listen, it goes this way," and then proceeded to hum the tune he had just learned to the amazement and consternation of Caesar and Jolson.

Patsy Ruth Miller was noted as one of the film luminaries who visited the Olympic village—clad in brilliant blue tam and slacks. Patsy Ruth was having lots of fun talking with five or six of the Italian contingent while her bodyguard stood in the background. Nowadays you're nobody in Hollywood without a bodyguard, and Patsy's is a sailor off Tay Garnett's yacht, Garnett being her husband.

British sailors from H. M. S. Delhi, in port for the Olympics, put on a great show, marching in formation out at Universal, where they were visiting with others here for the games. They saw Boris Karloff, Tom Mix, Sidney Fox, and were greeted by Laemmle and R. C. Sheriff, British playwright who is working for Universal.

Lila Lee is back at her home studio after a long absence. She is playing the leading lady opposite Clive Brook in "The Night of June 13" for Paramount.

When Conrad Nagel and Jackie Cooper were playing in "Father and Son" at M. G. M., Conrad had to give Jackie a whipping with a razor strop. Jackie eyed all this preparation apprehensively, and said, "No, Conrad, we've always been good friends, haven't we? Well, it shows just as good if you go easy—you got a reputation anyhow, so you won't have to make this too convincing!"

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

The Chicago White Sox took a terrific beating from the New York Yankees yesterday afternoon, and although my hundred young guests and I moaned and groaned as run after run mounted the easterners' score, we enjoyed the game and decided that our party at Comiskey park was a good one despite the 15 to 3 score.

The afternoon was packed with thrills, not the least of which occurred when Babe Ruth came over to meet us where we sat in our third base boxes and had his picture taken with us. Wasn't that something to remember through a long line of defeats? That helped to erase the disappointment we all felt at the Babe's failure to give us a home run. However, he did a neat bit of catching out in the left field when he twisted and turned and maneuvered to stop a fast ball.

And we didn't miss a single play, for Mr. Comiskey had provided us with perfectly grand box seats from which we could see everything that happened on the diamond. So you see it was a good party and all the young baseball fans who had won invitations to it went home happy. They had seen two major league teams in a contest, which, though a trifle one-sided, could not be called half-hearted, and after all, the result was not a complete shutout for the Sox as it threatened to be in the first half of the game.

Summer Beach Sandals Look Odd Parading City Pavements

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

What smart looking feet you see, these days! And what funnies!

Maybe by the time the girls stop wearing them we'll get used to "the holes tied together with strips of linen or leather." But for city streets—what do you think? Are they nice or aren't they? For business places do they look the part of efficiency, let's say?

For beach resorts and summer verandahs, I think they're fine. But for street wear, considering there are so many shoes made that let the air in plentifully without letting the foot out all over the place, taste ought to enter this business of shoe wearing.

Of course, I'm talking about the shoes made of strips of canvas or some such material out of which project feet that are not shapely, feet with actual deformities, feet of sizes disproportionate to the type of shoe worn. And feet like a pair seen the other day. There was abnormal puffiness between each canvas strip. Fat was pouring out all over the shoe.

Now, women wouldn't do that with figures. They'd keep the lumpiness concealed behind corsets. They'd keep obtruding bones under cover. Why expose the foot shortcomings?

It's perfectly grand to have a pair of these openwork shoes for slipping feet into by way of resting them after a hot, tired day. If you can wear them without stockings, so much the better. But there are places for them to be worn and places for them not to be worn if one would quality as a well shod person.

Incidentally, if one has foot troubles, she'll find dipping the feet daily in the salty brine at the seaside highly beneficial. Or, if there is fresh water bathing in your parts throw in a handful of salt and let the feet soak in the salt water awhile each day.

But don't forget that cold water is better than warm for taking the swelling and aches out of tired feet. Also, it is cold water you want to use for remedying foot perspiration.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

ROSINA: THE PERMANENT WILL grow out in about six months' time or less. You can't make it last longer. Get a setting lotion and use it nightly.

NANETTE: DEVELOPING THE bust takes time. Swimming will do it—and deep breathing more quickly than the cocoa-butter massage.

WORRIED: NO REASON TO FEAR loss of teeth through pyorrhea nowadays. Visit you dentist and let him check gum troubles at once.

I Like You So Much

BY MAY EDGINTON

SYNOPSIS.

Gold Franklyn calls Dr. Elverton, who has a surgery in a poor district of London, to attend her indolent, dependent, young half brother. The doctor offers to give Barney Pierce, a well to do accident victim, a lift to his destination, and Pierce waits while the doctor makes his call. He catches a glimpse of the pretty creature who summoned the doctor. Both men determine to help the plucky young orphan girl. The doctor is to sail the next week to New York and Havana on a leave, taking the ship doctor's place. Mrs. Doria Hathaway, a widow, friend of Pierce's, is to sail on the same boat. She wants a maid-companion for the Atlantic crossing. The doctor sends Gold to see Mrs. Hathaway and she gets the job. Pierce regrets putting Gold under the demoralizing influence of Doria. He decides to sail himself. On the boat Doria meets David Dorrance, who wants to interest Pierce in a business deal. Gold is angered by Pierce's cynicism and distrust of women. Gip Alen, Gold's half brother, slows away on the boat and threatens to disclose his identity unless Gold does as he bids. Pierce, who overhears Gip's threats, unknown to Gold, arranges to get him third class passage on condition he doesn't bother Gold. Dorrance offers Gold a position as his secretary on the Havana trip, which she gladly accepts. Doria invites a good looking youth from steerage to dine with her and give an exhibition tango. The youth is Gip Alen. Barney again takes Gip in hand and arranges to give him a six months' grout in his Texas lumber camp. Dorrance sends Gold, on their arrival in New York, to a small hotel near Washington square. In the evening he invites her to dine and dance.

INSTALLMENT XXXV.

TRANSIENT HAPPINESS.

"Every fellow in Havana will certainly envy me; and they'll all think you're too good to be true."

Gold did not mind what Dorrance said. His words flowed over and past her smoothly. New York, just beginning to twinkle out the first electric stars of its amazing and efflorescent myriads, was absorbing her. The spring air was still warm, the sky high and fine and pale, with the paler heads of fragile looking giants of buildings melting into it. Dorrance was holding her hand comfortably.

"New secretary's night out," he was saying. "It isn't always like this."

"No," she answered dreamily.

"Would you like it to be?" he asked presently.

"To be what?"

"Always—or often—like this?" Then he released her hand, discounting an answer. "Don't take any notice of my silly questions, my dear. I don't mean 'em and you know it. You're quite right."

Dorrance was out to give this London girl the best evening he knew of: at once the strangest and nicest and most amusing evening that could be offered to a newcomer to this city. He pointed out to her the celebrities in the great restaurant. She saw beautiful clothes, beautiful women who looked at once the acme of simplicity and the acme of sophistication. She saw famous jewels; the famous figures. The food was beyond her experience. They danced to a perfect orchestra. Excepting for the restaurant of that floating palace, the Mercuria, she had never before been in such surroundings. "You're eating and drinking it," said Dorrance smiling, pleased; watching her. She was eating and drinking it—this vast sensation of color, music, flowers, and beauty. She came near to understanding Doria Hathaway.

About ten o'clock they were in a taxicab again driving out to Harlem.

"This may shock you," Dorrance warned amiably, "but it's a sight for you to see, all the same."

It did shock her. The rich negresses gowned as well as herself, the colored men glassy in evening clothes with whom—yes!—here and there a white woman was dancing; the deep noises of soft Negro voices and the higher staccato of white people, the hypnotic rhythm of the diabolically comprehending black-faced band—these fascinated while they repelled her. She felt all through her—sensitised to pleasure and passion by the other pleasures of the evening—the racial clash, and—yes!—the racial merging. Here in this hot restaurant, so rich and coarse, where the dark people smiled, and the white people let themselves drift along on the eddies of sensation, there was the strangest merging as if, deep down, far back, the springs of each leapt from the same source.

Their table was, exclusively, for two; very small; two covers laid. Most of the other tables were larger, and often a beautifully built Negress would sit down at one, laugh and talk with white men, eye her white women rivals. At other tables were only dark faces.

The proprietor of the place came and spoke to them, effusive; white teeth gleaming in his ebony face. He knew Dorrance; he was pleased to welcome him, and looked to see who might be the stranger whose yellow orchids and scarlet gown caught powerfully at his simple exotic fancy; but he could not place her. She was no New York bud. He bowed, and talked and lingered; and confidently promised champagne.

"It will be good wine too," added Dorrance in Gold's ear.

It was good wine; iced till it stung the palate in the over-hot room. Food came. They danced.

"Three days from now you'll know what sunshine really is," Dorrance was saying as they swayed to the music in a swaying pack of dancers.

"Mrs. Hathaway will be surprised."

"Didn't you really tell her?" he asked suddenly.

"Tell her? No! I looked upon it as part of your business."

"But no, Mr. Dorrance."

He was not, of course, going to show her that he had been testing her with the keeping of those seemingly weighty but really almost meaningless secrets. But he was pleased, and showed a little pleasure.

"Good kid!" he said, pressing her tighter.

"But surely you feel you can trust me."

"Of course. I hoped so anyhow." As they swayed still on the same square yard of floor, he said: "It wouldn't have mattered just mentioning you were going to Havana, as a matter of fact."

"Wouldn't it?"

"No. Still, you're a good girl."

She had never heard such dance music. Through a clearing in the dancers they swept buoyantly across the floor.

It was very gay.

Doria had spent the afternoon with the man who had espied her lunching at the Vanderbilt. He was an old acquaintance with a lively recollection of her. She had early labelled him as good for a luncheon or two, a play or two, whenever they came across each other in the same city. Of course she was on tenterhooks for a telephone message from Barney, but none arriving by three o'clock, as she still lingered over coffee and gossip, she accepted an invitation from her companion to take tea and dance on an amusing roof. She left a message at the desk that if Mr. Pierce called her, he was to be told she would be in from six thirty for the rest of the evening.

"Yes, I'm sailing tomorrow night for Havana," she assured her escort; "unless anything prevents."

He was a polite man: "Mightn't the gods send something to prevent?"

"The gods might," she said slowly.

For if the evening with Barney materialized, who knew? Who knew, in spite of his coldness and his no less than crude candor?

When she returned to the Vanderbilt at six-thirty, she had her message.

Mr. Pierce was calling at seven o'clock in the hope of seeing her.

Doria was enchanted. Her easy spirits soared. She could not get quickly enough to her apartment, in and out of her scented bath, and into a gown of black chiffon. Black—not too expectant; as if she intended to dine quietly here alone and retire early; and yet smart enough for a man's admiration. All this she had to do herself, for the old theater dresser was not joining her as maid until tomorrow. Still, she was glad, in spite of her hatred of personal trouble, that she had not kept Gold Franklyn here to unpack necessaries and arrange her things. Precisely at seven her telephone rang: "A gentleman has called named——" In her invariable way she had answered before the clerk had furnished his information: "Send him up."

Then she determined in a flash that Barney should not take her out. He should dine up here with her. She would pre-suppose, take it for granted, that his call at seven o'clock meant dinner with him here or there. It should be here.

"She telephoned instantly: "Room service," and ordered, "Dinner for two in 434. Blue points, consomme, lamb cutlets and peas. Ice cream. Bottle of White Rock. Coffee after."

She had a large flask of brandy in her dressing case—medicinal comfort; easy to pass through the customs. They would have a long, leisurely dinner, solid, as a man liked; even the cleverest of travelers to this prohibition country would hardly have got a case of wine into her rooms by now; but brandy and soda would accompany the dinner excellently. She hung up the receiver and waited. In another second a page's knock fell on the door.

"Come in."

GASOLINE ALLEY—IT WAS A BIG NIGHT

THE BRITISH IN BOSTON WERE ASTOUNDED NEXT MORNING TO SEE FOUR FORTS LOOKING DOWN ON THEM FROM DORCHESTER HEIGHTS WHERE THERE HAD BEEN NONE THE DAY BEFORE.
IT'S UNBELIEVABLE!
AND THEY COMMAND NOT ONLY THE TOWN BUT THE SHIPS IN THE HARBOR AS WELL.
IT WAS THE BRITISH PLAN TO ATTACK THE FORTS IMMEDIATELY BUT TORRENTIAL RAINS MADE IT IMPOSSIBLE FOR TWO DAYS TO MOVE TROOPS ACROSS THE WATER.
THE RAINS GAVE US TIME TO STRENGTHEN OUR POSITION.
I DON'T THINK THEY WILL ATTACK US NOW, GEN. WASHINGTON.
GEE, THIS WAITIN' GAME IS TOO SLOW FOR ME! IF I WAS RUNNIN' IT I'D HAVE A BATTLE.

Men Dislike Girls Cynical About Marriage

Prefer Normal Attitude on the Subject.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Bad business, girls, going around expressing disapproval of marriage. Saying you never want to marry, you never intend to marry! Being cynical about it.

It's not smart! Even if you think you never want to marry, you're going to want to have good times. And you're going to want men in your good time program. You're going to want them as escorts, as dancing partners—yeah, even as suitors, when you get over these growing pains of yours!

Men just do not like the girl of cynical twist of mind. They may say bitter things about marriage. But they just don't like to hear them coming from women! Underneath their cynicism they're probably idealistic about it. Cynics are disappointed idealists, you know. Sentimentalists, too, generally!

That's what "Cynthia" found, anyway. She'd been talking foolishly about independence, never wanting to marry. She wouldn't give up a job for the best man living! No, not "Cynthia!" Until the best man living, so far as she is concerned, came and went, refusing to believe she didn't mean it. He said, in fact, when she tried to persuade him that it was just talk, that he'd be afraid later on her old aversion to marriage would be revived. Proving that men put a lot of credence in the spoken word.

Often these outspoken expressions against marriage are a defense mechanism. As one correspondent tells: "I am so afraid I won't get married. I chase men away by transforming the sweetness they do admire into pettish and cynical remarks."

If marriage is what you want out of life, don't be afraid to admit it. It's the most normal desire on earth. It will keep on hounding you, too till you get your wish. So, better face the fact that talk to the contrary is balderdash—or there is something queer or bitter or devastating in your bringing up to make you talk that way.

That's what men think, anyway, and why you'd better not let them hear you at it!

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—The Danish minister, Otto Wadstedt, has leased for his government the house formerly occupied by former Vice President and Mrs. Dawes and then by Secretary of War and Mrs. Hurley at 1625 Belmont road. This residence, which will be the Danish legation when the minister and Mme. Wadstedt return in the autumn from Denmark, was built by the late Senator Nathan B. Scott of West Virginia. It is located close to the famous "Boundary castle" of the late former Senator and Mrs. John B. Henderson.

Miss Anne Madison Washington, great-grandniece of George Washington, entertained at luncheon today at the Washington hotel in honor of Miss Betty Ann Troy of Stamford, Conn., who won the official gold medal of the bicentennial commission for the best essay upon George Washington, in the national essay contest. Miss Troy is a student at the Sacred Heart academy in Stamford. She is the guest here for three days of the bicentennial commission and is accompanied by her parents, her sister, and her brother.

Mrs. Atlee Pomerene, wife of the new chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, returned to their home in Cleveland yesterday to give up their apartment there.

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—French fashions are veering away from the high Empire waistline. That extreme high level for a line which nature placed much lower, has been held for the last six months or so, but the waistline is now falling fast.

Many of the Paris couturiers showed waistlines at normal for both dresses and coats in their advance-fall mid-season shows. Just as many moved the waistline down to a little bit below normal, houses like Chanel, for instance. Others daringly showed a few dresses with a frankly low waistline, right down around the hips. Augustabernard was one to show the waistline at the hips.

The way this looks is demonstrated by the Augustabernard coat dress in our sketch today. It looks new, and strikingly different, doesn't it? In spite of the fact that a few years ago nobody wore a higher-than-the-hipline waistline.

The frock herewith is made of white shantung, and it is frankly a coat dress, open all the way down the right side front but generously wrapped over. At the neckline Augustabernard places a coatlike rever-collar, that is becomingly draped.

The long sleeves are rolled up to the elbows—a trick that adds a lot to their chic for mid-summer. One button fastens the dress below the bust, and at the hipline a striped sash in blue and white is tied on, passing through two loops at the front.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Gallant Girl Deserves Help.

"Father has not worked for about 3 years and the whole family needs clothing. I am employed, but am earning only $6 a week and this is all we have to live on. All my clothes are worn and torn and I can't get any others. I wear size 16 or 18 and size 6½ in shoes. My younger sisters are 12 and 14 and my brothers are 10 and 13. My mother wears size 46 and size 7 in shoes. L. R."

A family of this size living on the daughter's small salary can hardly be enjoying much comfort. Clothing seems to be their greatest problem at this time, and if you can provide any with any it will be a relief to them.

their lodge at the Huron Mountain club in Michigan. Their daughter, Mrs. Franklin Perkins of Ojai, Cal., and her small son, who have been visiting them for several weeks, went to Huron Mountain on Sunday night and plan to remain there with the Shortalls until the end of this month.

Conclude Visit at Camden, Me.

Mrs. George M. Reynolds, Mrs. Bernard A. Eckhart, and Mrs. Allan M. Clement, who spend two or three weeks of every summer at Camden, Me., as the house guests of Mrs. Joseph H. Defrees, are homeward bound after their tenth annual visit. Mrs. Eckhart and Mrs. Clement are expected to arrive some time tomorrow and Mrs. Reynolds will be back on Monday night. Mrs. Eckhart is occupying her Lake Forest residence for the summer.

Miss Eleanor Cushman, daughter of the Arthur W. Cushmans of Winnetka, is expected back in Winnetka on Sunday from the Presbyterian hospital, where she went early this week for a minor operation.

From the White mountains comes the news that the summer colony in that part of the world is delighted that Mrs. John R. Winterbotham has decided to give again at the little playhouse on her Sugar Hill estate, a series of subscription supper dances for the benefit of Dow academy at Franconia. The dates selected are Aug. 11, 18, and 25.

Mrs. Lamont Guest in City.

Mrs. Robert P. Lamont, wife of the retiring secretary of commerce, arrived in Chicago yesterday from Washington. She was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Charles Saltzman.

Mrs. Lamont visited Mrs. Silas H. Strawn yesterday and last night at the latter's residence at 209 Lake Shore drive. Today she will be the guest of Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson in Lake Forest. Mrs. Saltzman went to the Lake Forest home of Miss Katherine Trowbridge, where she will remain during her stay here.

Mrs. Lamont and her daughter will depart Monday for their country place at Land o' Lakes, Wis., where they expect to remain about two months, Mrs. Lamont said.

Miss Frieda Foltz has cards out for a tea next Monday afternoon from 4 to 7 o'clock at her residence, 37 East Division street, for Admiral Hugh Rodman and Gen. and Mrs. Leigh Gignilliat o Culver, Ind. Miss Foltz spends every week-end at the little house in Geneva which she, the George Artemonoffs and George Senseney took for the summer and where, in spite of the smallness of the house, they have large and delightful house parties every week.

The Fort Sheridan and Oak Brook polo teams will meet on Sunday afternoon at the fort. The two teams will be the highest goal teams to compete in the Chicago area this year and should determine the championship of the middle west. Maj. C. C. Smith will be back from the east to play with the Army team. Capt. Paul Butler will lead the Oak Brook men.

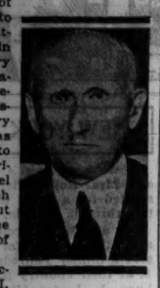
R. P. LAMONT WILL HEAD AMERICAN STEEL INSTITUTE

Research Group Expected to Control Industry.



ROBERT P. LAMONT.

New York, Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Preliminary to the adoption of a more aggressive policy of coöperation to overcome unsettled conditions in the steel industry Robert P. Lamont, who resigned on Wednesday as secretary of commerce, has been chosen to head the American Iron and Steel Institute which represents about 95 per cent of the steel producers of the country.

He will succeed Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, as the active head of the institute. The proposed changes were announced in a statement issued at Mr. Schwab's offices today.

In Effect, a Dictator.

The selection of Mr. Lamont as executive head of the institute foreshadows a closer coöperation among the producing units of one of the most highly competitive industries. Mr. Lamont will, in effect, become the dictator of the industry, although steel executives expressed distaste for that term.

Mr. Lamont was for many years president of the American Steel Foundries and is a long time resident of Chicago. He will be elected at a meeting of directors Aug. 18.

Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, said the plan for the expansion of the executive personnel of the institute was a decidedly progressive step.

Check Harmful Practices.

Organized many years ago as a research and statistical organization, the institute has held meetings twice a year at which papers dealing with problems facing the industry have been read by its leaders.

In recent years, however, there has been a definite trend at the meetings of the institute toward stamping out practices viewed as harmful to the welfare of the industry as a whole. At a recent dramatic meeting of the institute the heads of several companies were severely taken to task for having granted private rebates which served to nullify open quotations of steel products.

GRONAU LEAVES TODAY; REVEALS FLIGHT PLANS

Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau yesterday announced tentative plans for his proposed flight in his flying boat, Groenland-Wal, to Japan, whence he will continue around the world to German in all probability. The German flyer landed here last Tuesday on his third German to Chicago flight by the northern route.

He proposes to take off at 2 p. m. today for Milwaukee, arriving there an hour later, where he and his crew will be entertained at a round of receptions and luncheons for several days. On Tuesday or Wednesday, he said, they will fly to Winnepeg, where he will go fishing in a nearby lake with friends.

"I hope to be in Prince Rupert, British Columbia, by Aug. 20," Capt. von Gronau said in the afternoon at a tea given him by the Illinois Women's Athletic club in their clubhouse at 111 East Pearson street. "As soon afterwards as the weather permits we will take off from Prince Rupert for Japan. We'll have a leisurely stay there and then I think we'll go on home. It would be quicker to continue westward than to go back by the same route."

Capt. von Gronau and his co-pilot, Ghert von Roth, who is on his first visit to America, balanced tea cups on their knees and chatted with fifty or more members of the woman's club. Mrs. Bessie Bragg Pearson, president of the club, and Mrs. Frieda Koch poured.

6,000 CHICAGO TROOPS GOING TO CAMP GRANT

15 Day Training Period to Open Tomorrow.

Six thousand officers and men of the 33d division, Illinois National Guard, will leave Chicago tonight and tomorrow morning for the annual fifteen day field training period at Camp Grant, Rockford. The entire division, comprising some 9,000 men, is expected to be in camp tomorrow, the opening day of the encampment.

Advance details numbering about 300 were at the camp yesterday, setting up headquarters, supply tents, and storage bases, as well as cleaning up the camp. The pyramid tents in which the men will be quartered are to go up tomorrow.

The 202d coast artillery is already in training at Fort Barrancas, Fla., where there is a range for the unit's anti-aircraft guns. The remainder of the artillery will train at Camp Grant, where there is no range. They alternate year by year between Camp McCoy, Sparta, Wis., where there is a range, and Rockford.

Roy D. Keehn, major general of militia, who is commander of the division, will be in charge of the encampment. Brig. Gen. John J. Garrity, who is soon to retire, will command the 66th infantry brigade for the last time. The 65th brigade, composed of downstate regiments, will be under command of Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, who last year was colonel of the 124th field artillery, but succeeded Brig. Gen. Diller S. Myer when the latter left the 65th brigade to become division executive. Brig. Gen. Frank R. Schwengel will command the 58th artillery brigade.

Governor's Day Changed.

The first unit expected to reach camp tomorrow, shortly after daybreak, will be the 131st infantry, commanded by Col. Francis M. Allen of Chicago. The last will be part of the 130th infantry from downstate, expected shortly after noon.

Governor's day will be Saturday, Aug. 13. Heretofore the governor has reviewed the troops on the last Thursday of the encampment, but the commanding officers suggested that this interefered too much with training. Saturday is devoted almost exclusively to inspections.

Son Kills Father When He Hits Wife with Hammer

Palmesville, O., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Murderously attacking his wife with a sledge hammer, a father was shot and killed by his 17 year old son in Willowick, near here, early today. The son, Raymond Heths, readily surrendered. The mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Heths, was taken to a hospital in a critical condition. Deputies said there has been a long standing quarrel between the parents.

FINED FOR SHORT WEIGHT.

Robert Guilon, a shipping clerk for the L. Newton Box and Paper company, 1731 Fulton street, was fined $25 yesterday by Judge Thomas A. Green on charges of short weighting a dress shop 63 pounds on two rolls of paper.

JAP WARSHIPS AT ANCHOR OFF CHINA'S CAPITAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 5.—[Friday.]—Four Japanese destroyers steamed up the Yangtze river yesterday and anchored off Nanking, capital of China. This action is further evidence of the bitterness between China and Japan over the tightening of the economic boycott against the Japanese, the threatened customs embargo and the refusal by China to pay to Japan her portion of the Boxer indemnity.

A Chinese organization, known as the "Bloody League Against Traitorous Chinese Merchants," is continuing bombing activities against shops handling Japanese goods in Shanghai and other cities of the lower Yangtze. It has caused an almost complete stoppage of Japanese trade, which showed a tendency to revive after the conclusion of the Sino-Japanese conflict last spring.

To Protect Nationals.

Admiral Sakonji of the Japanese navy has announced through Japanese newspapers that Japanese nationals are assured of protection in the event of any recurrence of anti-Japanese demonstrations. The Japanese Press Union service has charged that the Chinese national government has sent twelve machine guns, six trench mortars, 600 trench mortar shells and 300,000 rounds of ammunition northward for the use of volunteers operating against the Japanese in southern Manchuria.

The news service also charged that Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, former Manchurian war lord and military leader in North China, is assembling a shipment of bombing planes received from America. Chinese reports from Nanking claim that seven armies of so-called volunteers—operating mobile forces of 100 to 300 men each—have attacked more than twelve towns along the South Manchurian railway and have disrupted service.

Forced to Withdraw.

The Chinese claim that the volunteers occupied the port of Yingkow on the gulf of Liaoning, but were forced to withdraw in the face of heavy bombardment from Japanese naval vessels.

Most of the volunteers have been formed and equipped as a result of campaigns launched by civilian bodies in the so-called "Recover Manchuria" movement.

Governor Emmerson Goes Fishing in North Woods

Gov. Louis L. Emmerson left Chicago last night for a short northern Wisconsin visit. He will be the guest of W. R. James, president of the West park board, at the latter's summer place on Long lake near Mercer. Both are aboard the Ashland Limited of the North Western, and will arrive at Mercer this morning. It is expected the governor will spend two or three days there. He is an ardent fisherman.

CUBS OPEN GRIMM'S REGIME WITH 12-1 VICTORY

BABE DIDRIKSON BREAKS WORLD'S HURDLE RECORD

Get Going, Mussolini Tells Italians.

Champions

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—The following athletes were crowned champions in the Olympic games events this afternoon:

1,500 meter run—Luigi Beccaili [Italy].

Javelin—Matti Jarvinen [Finland].

Women's 80 meter hurdles—Mildred Didrikson [U. S. A.].

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 4.—Mildred (Babe) Didrikson, the one woman track team from Dallas, Tex., chalked up her second victory and her second world's record in the Olympic games today when she won the 80 meter hurdles in :11.7.

Miss Didrikson hit the tape only a few inches ahead of Evelyne Hall, a teammate, and the latter stepped the distance in time equaling the former world's record of :11.8. Miss L. Clark of South Africa was third and Simone Schaller, United States, fourth.

Italy Wins; There's a Reason.

Italy won its first Olympic event today, and there was a good reason for it. Premier Mussolini had been dissatisfied with the performance of the Italian athletes and yesterday dispatched a cablegram to the Italian headquarters in Olympic village. The cable brought a shakeup in the conduct of the team and restrictions against fraternizing with other athletes and chatting with American girls in the evenings.

The shakeup bore its first fruit in the track and field competition this afternoon when Luigi Beccali, Fascist youth, ran so fast in the stretch of the 1,500 meter finals, that he sped past Cornes, Englishman, and Phil Edwards, Canadian Negro, for a first place in 3:51 2-10, new Olympic record time.

Champion Runs Out of Money.

Beccali never had run within a second of his speed today. Becalli is an unmarried architect for the city of Milan, his home town, and has been foot racing for six years. He belongs both to the Black Shirt organization and the same club, Pro Patria, which sent Ugo Frigerio, the point winning Italian walker, to the Los Angeles games.

Harry Larva of Finland, one of the favorites, who won the event in the 1928 games and set the former Olympic record of 3:53 1-5 in doing so, was distanced.

Glenn Cunningham, Kansas collegian who led the field for considerable of the route, and Penn Hallowell of Harvard captured fourth and sixth places for the United States, while Ny of Sweden took fifth.

Chuhei Nambu, Japanese star, won the running hop, step and jump with a world record leap of 51 feet 7 inches, bettering the former world mark of 51 feet 1 inch held by M. Oda, his compatriot, and the Olympic mark of 50 feet 10⅝ inches by A. W. Winter of Australia. E. Svenson of Sweden pushed Nambu until the final leaps, on which the trans-Pacific star cinched the record and the games' first and only first place for Japan.

Finns Sweep Javelin.

The third of the men's track and field contests to be decided sent a third championship across the seas and resulted in a sweep of all three leading places in the javelin throw for Matti Jarvinen, Matti Sippala, and Eino Penttila of Finland.

Jarvinen, 24 years old and youngest of three brothers who are noted athletes from the shores of the Baltic, shattered the Olympic mark with his winning toss of 238 feet 7 inches, and all four leading place men beat the old Olympic distance, which stood at 218 feet 6⅓ inches.

Sippala's second place toss was 229 feet and ¼ inch, and Penttila nosed out Gottfried Weimann of Germany with a third place heave of 225 feet 4⅞ inches. Lee Bartlett and Ken Churchill, Americans, won fifth and sixth places, which netted Uncle Sam three points, really more than the Americans had figured to take in this Finnish specialty.

United States Leads 400 Meter Race.

Jarvinen, the new javelin record holder, like Nambu of Japan, works in a sporting goods establishment to make a living. Jarvinen is from Helsinki. His two older brothers, also noted athletes, are here with the Finnish team to compete in the decathlon tomorrow and Saturday.

First and second qualifying round heats of the 400 meter race took on a distinctly American flavor, with the three Yankees, Bill Carr of Pennsylvania, Ben Eastman of Stanford, and Jim Gordon, formerly of Miami university, racing to first places.

KID CHOCOLATE BEATS SHEA; GETS HIS TITLE AWARD

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Kid Chocolate, the fighter from Cuba, a bit gaunt about the cheekbones, with a surfacing of muscles stretched taut under his ebony skin, punched Chicago's Eddie Shea around the Stadium ring last night for eight of their ten round engagement. So thorough was the Kid that he earned the unanimous approval of the officials and with it retained his junior lightweight championship.

After Chocolate had received the official nod, Gen. John V. Clinnin, president of the National Boxing association, presented the Kid's manager, Luis Guitteres, with the official piece of parchment, adorned with a bright red label, which continues Chocolate as a champion of the N. B. A. for another six months. This document Señor Guitteres promptly folded and nonchalantly stuffed into his hip pocket. Gen. Clinnin then awarded the gold belt which had been subscribed by the Stadium officials when they had been granted the title contest.

Government Shows Profit.

All the proceedings were conducted in the semi-privacy of the Stadium. The official attendance was an approximate 5,600, while the gross receipts, also approximate, were $12,000. Another approximate estimate gives the state of Illinois and the United States 20 per cent of this total, leaving the champion something between $3,000 and $4,000 and the defeated challenger less than $1,000, or about what each of the semi-finalists received.

As far as Eddie Shea is concerned, Chocolate is the 130 pound champion. Except for the first round, which might be awarded Shea for his aggressiveness, and the tenth round, when Shea hit Chocolate as many solid blows as he had scored in the preceding nine rounds, the Kid was supreme.

The fight was interestingly and enthusiastically waged. Chocolate, dancing on tiptoe, jabbing or turning his rushing opponent with a lightning left, determined the tempo of the bout. When he desired action there was action, and when he wished to rest, he did, hanging his bullet head on Shea's shoulder in security.

Shea Down for Nine Count.

Chocolate's best blows were lashing uppercuts, delivered with either hand, which started from the floor and frequently jerked Eddie's head backward, or slammed into his face as he advanced in a semi-crouch. This same whiplash blow also got the Kid into difficulty. Twice he was warned for hitting low, and on the first of these, when Shea went to the floor for a count of nine in the third round, there was a possibility that Chocolate might have lost on a foul.

Shea dropped to the floor from a

K. O. BILL COMES BACK TO WORK

Gomez Pitches for Yankees; the Bad News: Sox Lose, 15-3

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Vernon Gomez's eighteenth left handed triumph of the current American league campaign was just a matter of winding and unwinding his arm yesterday. He permitted the White Sox no liberties with their bats, but the mauling pacemaking Yankees refused to be restricted in the same way. They hit about everything thrown in their direction and this explains why the south siders made a 15 to 3 contribution to Joe McCarthy's pennant cause.

One pleasing thing about the way the Yanks conducted themselves was that they displayed no partiality. To them one pitcher was the same as another. Not even their old companion, Sam Jones, was exempt. They shortened his day's labor to three innings, during which five runs seeped home. Then they treated Phil Gallivan, a newcomer, to a touch of high life with five runs in four innings. And finally they were given a glimpse of Grant Bowler, fresh from Oakland, Cal. After a dizzy ninth Bowler expressed a wish to go whence he came.

Dickey Comes Back, and How.

It was Bill Dickey's return from a 30 day exile, caused by his clouting of Carl Reynolds' jaw, that brought on more than a little of the suffering inflicted on the Sox throwers. While Jones was laboring Dickey inserted two singles at times when they proved productive. But he reserved his choicest tap for Gallivan. He belted one of the young man's supposed fooiers right out of the park when the bags were filled with various gentlemen in the fourth. This gave him the satisfaction of driving in five runs and scoring one other himself. Later he had to share his home run honors for the day with Lou Gehrig, who notched No. 25 against the same luckless pitcher.

An epidemic of left field hits caused Jones to swoon in the first inning, when the Yanks warmed up on three runs. Combs opened the party with a single to left. Sewell did the same thing. Ruth walked, loading the bases, and Gehrig's one baser into Fothergill's busy precinct sent two mates home. Lazzeri eased Jones' suffering by striking out. Dickey then started a big day for himself by singling to right, Ruth dashing home as best he could. This discouraging start closed with Chapman fanning and Crosetti bouncing into a force play.

Only Two Runs in Third.

The Yanks were very considerate of their ex-mate in the third. They scored only a pair. A pop foul finished Lazzeri and Dickey chimed in with his second single of the afternoon. Chapman's line drive bounced off the left field score board for a double and Dickey, kept on going until he reached the plate. They threw there to get him but not in time. This gave Chapman a chance to scoot to third. He ran home from there on Crosetti's fly to Fothergill. After finishing this inning Jones was told he could wash up for dinner.

Gallivan's debut in the fourth, a little affair which blossomed into four runs, started inauspiciously because of a fumble by Appling. Gallivan plunked Ruth in the ribs, which is one way of keeping him from revealing his home run skill. Gehrig fouled out and a pass to Lazzeri populated the bases to the limit. This was where Dickey put on the climax to his celebration. He pumped his homer into the first floor in left field and precipitated a real parade of athletes across the plate. Gallivan managed to get out of the inning without being frisked for anything more.

Gehrig Cracks No. 25.

The Yank sixth was a quiet little affair but Gehrig did the best he could to make it noisy. He led off with No. 25, which breezed into the end of the grand stand in right center. Dickey also singled to center in this inning and Chapman walked, but Gal-

Sprinters Always Chasing Tolan; Chasing Is All!

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 4.—A southern athletic coach, watching the Penn relay carnival one time, consoled himself in the humiliation of the Caucasian foot runners with the observation that, anyway, he had seen a lot of white boys chasing a passel of colored boys around that track almost all day long.

He would have had a pleasant time of it at the current Olympic games watching Eddie Tolan of Detroit run away from the white boys of various nations in the heats and finals of the two great sprints of the meet, the 100 meters and the 200. They were always chasing that colored boy.

Tolan is short and stubby and brownish black, and in this meet there wasn't any one of any complexion, including his own, who could follow close enough to him to flick him with a buggy whip. When Eddie wished to run Eddie seemed to turn it on. When Eddie turned it on his thick, shiny legs scissored away the yards, and, fast as he did go in setting new records for both of the sprints, it appeared as though he could have gone faster if there had been any one to hustle him to greater haste.

Faster than Paddock.

Bud Spencer, an elderly past Olympic athlete of 25 who now occupies a space in the press coop, alleges that Tolan is a better sprinter than Charlie Paddock was at his best. Paddock was theatrical, with a flying finish; he wore spectacular running pants, and he used to perform a one horse parade to the post in the "now you may look at me" manner certain champions affect who have a lively imagination and a well developed appreciation of themselves.

Fast as Paddock was, says Mr. Spencer, who sits alongside here doing brutal things to a typewriter, with a program open on the bench to the page devoted to the 400 meter event Eddie Tolan has a lot more fast in him and will show more of it when some one shows him closer pursuit.

On the 400 meter page in the program, incidentally, it says in a note that Emerson Spencer set the world record for the 400 meter run. This is mentioned just to suggest that the old boy has a right to his opinion. He could pick them up and put them down with great rapidity himself 'way back there in '28 when he was young and frisky, and he ought to be a pretty fair judge of fast on his own record.

Watches Wrong Sprinter.

Eddie Tolan was running a trial race against a passel of boys in the eliminations at Stanford university a couple of weeks ago and some friend of his told him he ought to watch Emmett Toppino of Loyola of the South, as Toppino was quick on the break and might outhop him if allowed to. So the dark man from Detroit watched Toppino all the way, peering sidewise through his goggle spectacles which impart a faint resemblance to the old fashioned comic supplement deacon, and giving just enough of his fast to keep Toppino where he wanted him until the finish.

About half way down the 100 meter stretch Ralph Metcalfe of Marquette university of Milwaukee, another colored boy, went in front by several yards. Too late to win the heat, Tolan noticed this affront and set out to haul Metcalfe back, but the best he could do was cut his lead in half in the last few strides.

"Tell me," he asked when the runners had hauled on their clothes after the meet, "what happened out there when Metcalfe passed me? I was just running the race and I didn't get a good look. Where did he pick me up and how come he to do it?"

Confident of Victory.

"Why, you weren't picked up," they told him. "He was in front from the start, but you were watching that other fellow all the time and didn't seem to pay him any mind."

"O, is that so?" Eddie seemed much relieved. "So he didn't pass me. Well, if that's how it was, that changes everything all around. Now I know I can beat that man. I will beat that man and, furthermore, when I turn it on I will break a record."

So he turned it on and won the 100 meters in 10.3 seconds, as against the old Olympic record of 10.6, with Metcalfe second. And in the 200 again he turned it on and established another Olympic record of 21.2. The record he broke was 21.6, which has stoods in the books since 1908.

That Elastic Bandage.

When Eddie Tolan runs, he wears an elastic bandage on his left knee. There is nothing the matter with this left knee. If there was, a lot of the boys could do a lot better with an acute attack of the same in both knees. He wears this bandage because

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 4.—The Chicago Cubs went together with their own money today and bought Manager Charley Grimm a big floral horseshoe. But after they had presented the gift at the plate before the game the boys got to thinking maybe Charley didn't care a lot about floral pieces and some one suggested a few base hits.

So a riot was held, the Cubs making eight runs in the second inning and four in the fourth to fashion a handsome 12 to 1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies, bringing to an end the Phils' five game winning streak, which included four straight over the first place Pirates. The Pirates, the while, were dropping two to the Dodgers, enabling the Cubs to gain 1½ games to trail the Buccos by 3½ games.

Boss Charley Takes a Hand.

It is true that as a general thing nobody except politicians assists in celebrations in honor of themselves, but today one of the heartiest celebrants in the Grimm demonstration was Manager Charley Grimm. In the second inning phase of the demonstration Charley made a single and a double and in the fourth inning didoes he rang up a double, all of which figured vitally in the scoring.

There was no one who enjoyed the homage to Grimm more than did Pat Malone, for it made the big boy's No. 11 victory a breeze almost before the Shotton sluggers had a chance to get their bats sorted. The one Philly run off Pat, incidentally, was driven in by an old pal, Cliff Heathcote, who relieved Don Hurst in the fifth inning. Don, who has been out as a result of being beaned in the Pittsburgh series, started today, but still was seized with dizzy spells and withdrew after two futile times at bat.

The very first inning played under the managership of Grimm was an old fashioned fadeout, due, perhaps, to the fact that the boys hadn't had time to become acclimated. Herman started the game with a double and English lined to Mallon. Herman reached third when Holley threw the ball into center field trying to catch him off second. Cuyler was called out on strikes and Stephenson was thrown out by Bartell.

Happy Days Are Here Again.

Moore opened with a single past Mallon and went to third on Grimm's single to right. Hartnett walked, filling the bases. Jurges grounded to Bartell, who threw to Whitney to get Grimm at third, Moore scoring. Malone walked, again filling the bases, and Herman was hit by a pitched ball, forcing Hartnett to score.

English singled to right, Jurges scoring and the bases remaining full. Cuyler was again called out on strikes, but Stevie singled to center, scoring Malone and Herman. Moore's second hit of the inning was a single to right, scoring English, and when the ball got through Klein, Stevie reached third and Moore second. Grimm's second hit of the inning was a double off the roof of the score board in right center, scoring Stevie and Moore. Bartell threw out Hartnett.

Bang! Go More Hits.

The Cubs liked the celebration idea very well. So they put on another one in the fourth inning. English singled past Mallon. Then Cuyler came up, pretty sore at having fanned on his two previous appearances. Ki forthwith knocked his homer, scoring English ahead of him. Elliott threw out Stevie, but Moore got his third successive hit, a double to right. Grimm got his third successive hit and his second successive double when he crashed the ball against the scoreboard, scoring Moore. Hartnett singled to center, scoring Grimm. Jurges and Malone flied out.

SENATORS' 5 RUNS IN TENTH BEAT TIGERS, 14 TO 11

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 4.—(AP)—The Washington Senators bombarded two Tiger pitchers with two triples, two doubles and a single which netted five runs in the tenth inning and won a bitterly fought game, 14 to 11. The Tigers rallied in their half of the tenth, but fell three runs short. Monte Weaver of the Senators, trying for his ninth consecutive victory, was removed in the fifth inning. Score:

Dodgers Find Pirates Easy; Win, 7-4, 6-5

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Pittsburgh's Pirates, who were considered almost certain National league pennant winners after taking six games in a row, appeared to be anything but potential champions today when they lost a double header to the Dodgers and suffered their sixth consecutive reversal. As a result of their double loss, by 7 to 4 and 6 to 5, they are leading the second place Cubs by only 3½ games.

The Dodgers pounded Steve Swetonic, ace of the Pittsburgh pitchers, to win the first game. The second contest was decided in the tenth inning when Lefty O'Doul hit his third home run of the day. His second circuit drive tied the score in the eighth inning and forced the battle into overtime. Score:

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 4.—Charley Root, who pitched the one victory in Brooklyn and turned in a sweet lot of work to do it, will go again tomorrow. Benge is slated to oppose him.

The Phils were especially eager to win the opener. It would have extended their winning streak to six straight and it would have placed them in a second place tie with the Cubs.

livan flattened the next two fellows. Then another note which was a bit sour, in so far as the home partisans were concerned, was ripped off by Combs in the seventh. He tripled to the score board in right and hiked home on Sewell's speedy grounder to Blue.

Selph singled to center to open the eighth and the Sox were shortly rewarded for giving the Yanks a good workout. Fothergill filed out and Appling bounced into a forceout. Then Kress singled past Sewell and Appling appropriated third base. Blue bunted toward Sewell, who was too weary to bother about picking up the ball. This gave Blue a hit and let Appling score. At this point Sullivan, who had been shoved into the struggle to give him more experience as a catcher, pounded a triple to right center, Kress and Blue scoring.

Ninth Hard on Grant.

Bowler did well enough in the eighth, his first appearance, but various items arose to confuse him in the ninth. For a starter Crosetti fanned. Gomez slapped a single into left Combs walked and Sewell's short hit to center filled the bags. Byrd's Texas league single, which Seeds couldn't reach, let Gomez score. Two more registered and Byrd went to third on a healthy single to right center by Gehrig. On a force play Byrd carried home the fourth and last run of the inning.

Giants Bump Cards, 4 to 1, for 4 in Row

New York, Aug. 4.—[Special.]—A three run explosion in the eighth inning provided the Giants with the tallies that sent the St. Louis Cardinals down to a 4 to 1 defeat today. Singles by Marshall, Hubbell, and Moore and a triple by Ott were the ingredients in the decisive eighth. It was the Giants' fourth successive victory over the world champions. Score:

Boston, Mass., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Huck Betts registered his eleventh victory of the season today as the Braves topped the Cincinnati Reds, 3 to 2. The Braves were outhit almost 2 to 1, but scored all of their runs in the third inning. Bill Hargrave opened that inning with a single, went to third on Bill Knothe's double and scored on Herman's fumble. Wally Berger then slammed a homer into the left field stands. Score:

NEW LAW MAKES HUNTERS STUDY DUCK MARKINGS

BY BOB BECKER.

Will some of the duck hunters have to study up on the various species of waterfowl this fall in order to avoid shooting more than their limit of those species which have an "in aggregate" restriction on them?

The importance of being able to distinguish the species of a duck before the hunter shoots has been stressed by the new hunting regulation. Because of the shortage of certain kinds of waterfowl, the rule providing not more than 10 in the aggregate of canvasbacks, bluebills, redheads, teal ringnecks, gadwalls, and shovelers in the daily bag limit of 15 is a possible cause of worry for those who aren't familiar with many species of waterfowl.

Hunter Needs Help.

Referring to this new regulation J. H. Highley of Chicago writes:

"At the moment this new ruling presents a problem so far as I am concerned. Frankly, I am not so hot when it comes to determining the various family or specific differences of ducks. I am wondering if you could refer me to some kind of a publication that would pictorially present the various kinds of ducks and shore birds as found in the central states."

Beware of Fines.

Inasmuch as a hunter who shoots in any one day more than ten in the aggregate of the restricted species can be arrested and fined, there isn't any doubt but what the coming shooting season will require more careful shooting and a better knowledge of the species of waterfowl. As for pictures of ducks that will enable a sportsman to get acquainted with definite characteristics or markings of the different species, we have found the large sized color plates issued by the Du Pont company an excellent job.

Lynn Bogue Hunt did the color work and Dr. Edward Howe Forbush of New York has written the descriptive text about the waterfowl, shorebirds and other game birds pictured. There are fourteen plates in the series. Although we haven't seen these in the market for some time, we believe that any sporting goods store would be a likely place to purchase them. They are not expensive. The last price we heard quoted was slightly more than a dollar for the series.

WRAP UP TROPHY, BOY; J. P. I. SWIM TEAM SAYS IT'S IN

For two years the Jewish People's Institute swimmers have sought the team trophy, annual award in THE TRIBUNE 100 yard free style races at Lincoln park lagoon. This year the J. P. I. has entered another strong team and its chances for victory a week from Sunday never were better.

Sam Greller and Ray Kirschbaum, the J. P. I. coaches, will have more than 70 contestants in the ten races. Many of these, of course, are not championship swimmers. They are entered, however, so that they may gain experience. By swimming 100 yards each will receive the gold merit button.

Championship hopes are based on the abilities of several exceptional swimmers, among them Jack Erlich, Nathan Zimmerman, Harold Dash, Genevieve Abrams, Mildred Greene, and Lena Zimmerman. If two or three of them can win their races, the J. P. I. will have enough points to take home the cup.

Dash A. A. U. Champ.

Dash, who finished second last year in class B, is scheduled to compete in that division again. Although he won his qualifying heat in 1 minute 3 3-10 seconds last year, he finished second to Robert Marriott of Saugatuck, Mich., in the finals in more than a second slower time. Harold's most recent achievement was a first place in the Central A. A. U. outdoor one mile swim last Sunday at Vista Del Lago. For the last two years he also has won the all around swimming title of the Boys' Clubs Federation of America for his age classification.

Jack Erlich, who also has won the federation title for his class (he is 19), finished third last year in THE TRIBUNE class D swim for 17 and 18 year olds. Jack, of course, will compete in class E, for those 19 years of age and over, a week from Sunday.

Lena Zimmerman and Mildred Greene, both of whom competed in the women's swimming finals in New York, from which meet the American Olympic team was named, need no introduction. Both have won several A. A. U. championships. They will swim in the class E event, as will Genevieve Abrams, who finished fourth in class D last year.

No Post Entries.

Entries for the races will close at midnight Aug. 10. While there is plenty of time remaining to mail in entry blanks, yet all those who intend to compete are urged to get their names in at once. Promptness will facilitate the printing of the program and assignment of numbers. The names and racing numbers of all competitors will be printed in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE Aug. 14.

No post entries will be accepted. All swimmers 16 years of age and over must be registered with the A. A. U., but registration certificates may be obtained on the morning of the races. Membership for one year is 25 cents.

J. P. I. SWIM TEAM HAS EYE ON SPRINT TROPHY

Sam Greller, swimming coach of the Jewish People's Institute, the gentleman at the left, thinks this is his year in The Tribune's annual swim meet. For two years the J. P. I. club has sought the team trophy, but hasn't quite made it. This is the third year, the third attempt, and perhaps the third time is the charm. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

2 Unknowns Reach Tennis Semi-Finals

Two unranked players, Muir Rogers and Eugene Quinn, fought their way into the semi-finals of the Chicago city tennis tournament yesterday at the Oak Park Tennis club, joining George O'Connell and Charles Lejeck, a pair of favorites.

Quinn, a dark haired youth from Hamilton Park, swept through William Parkhill, 6—2, 8—6. Rogers routed Carl Ireneus, 6—3, 6—3.

O'Connell, the top ranking player, brushed aside Leo Lejeck, 6—1, 6—4. Charles Lejeck defeated Thane Halsted, 6—0, 10—8. Halsted, tightening in the last set, drew the affair to 8—8 before Lejeck broke through his service and ran out the set.

Women players will hold the center of interest this afternoon, as the semi-finalists in the men's singles will receive a holiday until tomorrow. Yesterday's matches among the feminine players ran true to form with all favorites winning in straight sets.

Catherine Wolf of Elkhart, Ind., the top ranked player, beat Billie Trexel, 6—1, 6—2. Mrs. Florence Wittieder overcame Dorothy Gilbert, 6—1, 6—0. Vera Trayford defeated Elizabeth Goetsch, 6—0, 6—2.

Kid Chocolate Gives Shea 10 Round Beating

low left, following a flurry of punches which had him seeking respite. Eddie reached uncertainly to his groin, looking for official action, but when Referee Phil Collins offered none, Shea came back to his feet.

The fourth round was the peak of the fight. Each flailed the other soundly, and for the first time Shea mussed up Kid's oiled coiffure, which gleamed as patent leather, but Chocolate produced more apparent damage with smashing swings to the challenger's face.

Slam Bang Preliminaries.

In the seventh round, Chocolate again punched below the waistline for which he was reprimanded by the referee and also by Shea. The remaining minutes were methodical with the Kid superior until Shea's last round bid for a decision already beyond reach.

Except for Freddie Miller's defeat of Hymie Wiseman in eight rounds, the supporting bouts were stand and take it fights. Marty Sampson, New York Swede, began the parade with a technical knockout of Jack Moran, Chicago middleweight, in six rounds.

Oster was down for a nocount in the first round, was dropped twice in the second, and finally was ruled out in the fourth when he stood helpless in front of his opponent.

Sammy Slaughter of Terre Haute knocked out Paul Pirrone, Cleveland middleweight, in the fifth round. Pirrone was no match for Slaughter and a solid smack on the jaw afforded him proper excuse for getting out of the ring.

Seventeen Shows in Stadium Ring Gross $459,546

Fifteen boxing and two wrestling shows netted the Chicago Stadium $149,492.14 above the cost of staging the seventeen cards during the fiscal year from May 8, 1931, to April 29, 1932, according to the statement released yesterday by the Illinois Athletic commission. The report does not include expenses of operating the Stadium, cost of advertising and a ten per cent federal tax on all $4.99 tickets.

Gross receipts for the seventeen shows were $459,546.99 and expenses, approximately $310,054.85. Purses paid the fighters totaled $262,957.22; ring expenses, $2,880, and the state tax of ten per cent on all tickets was $44,217.63. The total attendance was 179,482.

day, :48 4-10 in the second round. Gordon's best time being :48 6-10 and Eastman's :48 8-10.

Two Canadians, John Ball and Alex Wilson, former Notre Dame university star; two Australians, two from Great Britain, and one Finn, one German, and one South African remain in the running against the Americans tomorrow.

India Wins Field Hockey.

The first game of Olympic field hockey brought 10,000 spectators to the stadium this morning to watch India, defending champion from the 1928 games, defeat Japan, 11 goals to 1. It was the first time India's team ever had a goal scored against it in Olympic competition. The India eleven was composed of British officers, Mohammedans and high caste Hindus.

The stands, which filled slowly to accommodate 42,000 during the afternoon, found their first excuse for a rousing cheer when the Olympic victory flag raising ceremony—"Ceremonie Olympique Protocolaire"—was performed in French and English, as is customary, for the first place winners in the Olympic catch as catch can wrestling.

The stars and stripes ascended three times to denote the triple victory of Americans in the seven championships. Swedish wrestlers sent the blue flag with yellow cross aloft twice and the French and Finnish standards also went up momentarily for the other two mat champions.

Keller Dropped to Fourth.

A review of yesterday's finish in the 110 meter high hurdles, based on consideration of the electrically timed finish line motion pictures, resulted in an official announcement that Jack Keller, American, from Ohio State, had been moved from third place to fourth and Donald Finlay of Great Britain given third place instead. The announcement was signed by all the finish judges.

It was the second time the camera convinced the judges they had erred. They changed the placing in the semi-finals of the women's 100 meter dash earlier in the week.

They're Always Chasing Tolan; Chasing Is All!

he thinks the knee feels cold without it. Even in such weather as these games have been blessed with, gentle sunshine and just enough breeze to prevent frying, he thinks this knee feels cold without the bandage and he has packed it along as just so much extra freight, perhaps an ounce or two, in every heat and race.

It is just tight enough to hang on without dropping down over his shoe to trip him, and just loose enough to be useless except as clothing to keep the chill away. When he breaks the tape he kneels on the peat of the track and slides it down over his ankle before walking off on his heels.

What's Tape For, Eddie?

Another small affectation, which heightens the suggestion of the old style conventional deacon in Tolan's getup, is a curious wrapping of tape on the rims of his eyeglasses, visible even from the stands. Perhaps the tape keeps the snow and sleet out of his eyes in Los Angeles in August.

Eddie is out of Detroit and the University of Michigan, but he is now a teacher by trade in a colored college in West Virginia. He went back to Ann Arbor and lay low and sly, training quietly for six weeks this summer while the rest of the sprinters were having their pictures taken and training, too.

And though he has made the white boys of all the nations chase him in the Olympic meet, his trainer, Steve Farrell, says Tolan isn't the greatest sprinter he ever handled. No, Farrell says, Tolan isn't the sprinter that De Hart Hubbard was, another colored man who could lead the posses around and around but specialized in the broad jump, which he liked better. But Tolan will do.

Tolan Won That One, Too!

The name of Tolan became as monotonous in the Olympic meet as Alabama's 24 votes for Oscar Underwood in the long wrangle of the Democrats in the old New York Garden. It was Tolan did this and Tolan did that until, finally, when some one came up to inquire of the press coop to ask who won the Olympic prize for the best novel in the fine arts division, eight voices answered with one inspiration, "Tolan won that one, too."

[NOTE TO SWIMMERS]
Sun and Bathing do damage to your HAIR

IT'S a great life! You swim—and the water washes away the natural oils that nourish your hair. You lie on the sand—and the sun parches your scalp and takes all the lustre out of your hair. You finish off with a bracing shower—and the damage to your hair is complete.

A regular 60-Second Vitalis Workout for your scalp—that's what you swimmers need. In fact, all men who go out in the summer sun need it.

Take just one minute to rub Vitalis, with its pure vegetable oils, into your scalp. Then sun and water can't hurt your hair.

For Vitalis with massage wakes up the circulation and renews the oils that your hair must have. It gets rid of loose dandruff—forerunner of thinning hair. It gives your hair an attractive, natural lustre—not at all a "patent-leather" look—and keeps it always neatly in place.

The 60-Second Workout does it . .

THEY DO COME BACK; IT'S SISKIN BY TWO LENGTHS

Epinard's Son Adds Thrill to Hawthorne Card.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Siskin, rated by many as Epinard's greatest son, is back to the races and he is in a winning mood.

He came back at Hawthorne yesterday after a year's vacation, took the track at the beginning of the Round Lake purse, and was running easily two lengths in front when the battle ended.

It was just a year ago, to be exact, on Aug. 6, 1931, when Siskin's legs gave way on him at the same Hawthorne track. From that day until yesterday he did not race. So when his name appeared in the entries the turf regulars rubbed their eyes and wondered if it could be a misprint.

Fans Flock to Siskin.

Then came the rush for information. Was Siskin ready? Such noted clockers as old Jim Farley were besieged with inquries. And the clockers must have passed out the right dope on Siskin, for from the time he was led into the paddock and the bright bay of his coat began to glisten beneath the hot sun out in the open air saddling place there came a rush of backing for him.

As a 2 year old Siskin was among the leaders. He was a winter track champion that threatened to go on and accomplish great deeds. He ran Equipoise to a head at Bowie in the first start Equipoise ever made. Later on Siskin beat some of the best of his age.

Injury Checks Conquests.

He again gave great promise as a 3 year old last season. Then came the leg injury at Hawthorne in mid-summer and his racing days appeared to be ended. But a year's care on the part of his young trainer, B. F. Carman Jr., who must be a very patient man, found him back in the thick of the fight.

Siskin's speed was not dulled by his long vacation. He showed that when he bounded out in front as the start cam). His heart also is as big as ever, for in the run down the backstretch Siskin wasn't able to pull out into much of an advantage. E. R. Bradley's Battling Knight was showing unexpected speed and was but a head back of the fast moving Siskin. Just a head back of these two came Etcetera, the favorite, hugging the rail and saving ground as they rounded the turn into the stretch.

For just an instant, as they straightened out for the run home, Etcetera got his head up to Siskin's flank. Then the big bay son of Epinard began throwing his legs as of old. He was flying as Jockey Richards gave him his head, and it was easy for him to pull out and win about as he wanted to in the final drive.

He ran 6½ furlongs from the standing start in 1:20 3-5, which was almost two seconds off the track record. But he did it in such a matter of fact way he gave the impression that he may have something to say in the rich handicaps later on this season. In the mutuels he paid $6.76 to win, $3.92 to place, and $2.66 to show. Etcetera paid $2.92 to place and $2.14 to show. Dis Dat's show price was $2.28.

ANKABAR BREAKS TRACK RECORD IN CIRCUIT VICTORY

Peoria Trotter Picks Up $10,000 Purse.

Salem, N. H., Aug. 4.—(AP)—The favorite, Ankabar, Chestnut gelding owned by H. J. Schmoeger of Peoria, Ill., was driven to a three heat victory by Dr. Hugh M. Parshall of Urbana, O., today, in the $10,000 Marshall House stake for trotters at Rockingham Park. In gaining the richest purse of the current grand circuit season, Ankabar broke the track and state records with a 2:03¾ mile in the opening heat.

The pacing record for the track and state fell when Rosemarie Abbee ran her second heat in the 2:16 pace in 2:03. This mare, owned by E. A. Bostam of Chattanooga, Tenn., won the event by capturing all three heats. Today's program, rained out yesterday, was dedicated to Walter Cox. Summaries:

Blenheim and Faireno Here for Handicap

Blenheim and Faireno, the easterners that will seek the $25,000 Hawthorne handicap tomorrow, arrived at the Hawthorne course early yesterday. They came in charge of Trainer James Fitzsimmons and will engage in their final drills today. Both horses made the trip from Saratoga without mishap.

Jockey Clarence McCrossen, under contract to Dixiana stable, has let his old habit of rough riding get the better of him again. The Hawthorne stewards yesterday asked him not to accept any more mounts during the meeting. His ride on Gay Bird in the final race on Wednesday got him into trouble.

Racegoers who made it a practice of wagering only on Chicago owned horses got away to a flying start yesterday. Fair Image, which won the opening race, belongs to William Schmidt and Camp Boss carried John Marsch's jacket to victory in the second event.

There were enough close finishes yesterday to keep the placing judges in hot water all afternoon. When the Hawthorne spectators disagree with the judges they do not hesitate to tell 'em about it.

CLEARING HOUSE NEVER OUSTED BANK, BAIN SAYS

Testifies About Assets Held in Question.

John Bain, who, with his two sons and his son-in-law, Merle Fisher, is on trial before Judge John M. O'Connor, charged with conspiracy to defraud the depositors of his banks denied yesterday in his third day of testimony that he was ever asked to withdraw his institutions from the Chicago Clearing House association. He also sought to place some of the responsibility for his difficulties upon officials of the clearing house.

JOHN BAIN.

Bain testified that in June, 1929, he wished to go on a vacation and asked Howard Sims, chief examiner for the clearing house, for the semi-annual reports on his banks.

Told to Remove Assets.

"Go ahead, John. We're not worried about your banks," he quoted Sims as saying. Bain returned from his vacation, according to his testimony, and received the reports, which suggested the removal of items totaling $2,000,000 from the statement of assets.

The banker said he telephoned Sims and told him he believed the assets were good and that to remove two-thirds of them would require three years.

In December, Bain said, there was a meeting of Attorney Roy Massena, Charles Meacham, a Bain bank official, and Sims, who was told that one-fourth of the questioned assets had been replaced.

"That's good work. Keep it up and everything will be fine," Sims was quoted as saying.

Another Question Raised.

Then in April, 1930, there was another clearing house examination, and objections were raised against Bain bank real estate loans totaling $4,000,000. As he told about this, Banker Bain, who was thumbing a notebook, turned to Judge O'Connor and said:

"That was serious."

The witness said he demanded an appraisal because some one from the clearing house was giving out derogatory information about his banks, which, he said, resulted in the calling of the two big loans by loop banks.

Asked Withdrawal of Banks.

Bain said an appraisal made by Preston Nolan for the clearing house was about 50 per cent lower than that made by Charles Bixby for the banks, but that Sims told him Nolan's appraisal must stand and that $1,500,000 would have to be charged off the bank's capital structure.

Bain testified that he then appealed to George M. Reynolds, chairman of the clearing house association, and suggested that all but one of the banks be permitted to withdraw from the clearing house and that this one be permitted to remain. His banks were never ousted, as the state contends, he testified.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

SENATOR J. H. LEWIS IS OPERATED ON; HAS HIS TONSILS REMOVED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Senator James Hamilton Lewis, Chicago's veteran of many a capital hill battle, is recovering from an operation for the removal of his tonsils, performed at Emergency hospital last Saturday.

SEN. J. H. LEWIS.

News of the senator's operation did not become known until today, when his physicians announced that he was recovering rapidly. The senator has been removed from the hospital to his Mayflower hotel apartment.

Senator Lewis has suffered from asthma for some time. His condition was aggravated by his strenuous campaign for election and the strain of the late session of congress, the longest since the world war sessions. The tonsil operation was advised to relieve his asthmatic condition.

BOSTON ESTATE OF E. C. SWIFT IS SOLD FOR DEBTS

Swiftmoor, the Boston estate of E. C. Swift, who died 25 years ago, was sold at auction yesterday to satisfy a mortgage of $150,000 held by the Provident Institution for Savings of Boston, according to dispatches from that city.

E. C. Swift was a brother of Gustavus Swift, who was head of the family of packers in Chicago. The estate was owned by his daughter, Mrs. Alex Christian Preben Wichfelt, whose husband is a nephew of a former ambassador from Denmark. The estate consisted of 11½ acres of grounds and a 76 room house on the once fashionable north shore of Boston.

The bank bid in the property, John C. Kiley, Boston real estate broker, who handled the sale, said $1,500,000 was expended on the estate and that it was once valued at $3,000,000.

ARREST ALLEGED OWNER OF RIDING ACADEMY STILL

Peter Matoz, 10934 Prospect avenue, was arrested yesterday as one of the operators of the Blue Island Riding academy, which masked a still at 120th street and Vincennes avenue, Blue Island. Matoz was arrested in his fifteen room home by United States Deputy Marshals Joseph O'Neill and Leif Ibenfeldt.

The still was raided last Saturday. The raiders overpowered a dog to get to a secret tunnel leading to the still. Vats of mash were found under trap doors in 16 of the 14 stalls of the stable. Fourteen horses and the dog were confiscated together with the alcohol and still. William Shimkus and Clarence Wilson are being sought as other operators.

E. R. PRITCHARD, BOARD OF HEALTH VETERAN, IS DEAD

Edward R. Pritchard, for 29 years secretary to the Chicago board of health, died last night in his room at the Frances hotel, Kokomo, Ind., where he lived following his retirement in 1927. Death followed an attack of acute indigestion. He was 79 years old.

Mr. Pritchard was born in Dayton, Ind., and came to Chicago in 1886, where he was a newspaper man until 1898. He was a city hall reporter and political writer for the Chicago Dispatch, Chicago Daily News and Chicago Record-Herald. In 1898 he was appointed secretary to the board of health during the second term of the younger Carter Harrison.

Mr. Pritchard was a charter member of the Press club. He is survived by a son, Fred P. Pritchard of Baltimore; a daughter, Mrs. George W. Weisenburg of Chicago, and three grandchildren.

Alfred Maurer, Artist, 64, Hangs Self in New York

New York, Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Alfred Maurer, the artist, was found dead in his rooms in West 43d street today. He had hanged himself.

A native of this city, Mr. Maurer was born on April 21, 1868. He was well known thirty years ago as an artist in the more conventional manner of Chase, Boldini, and Stevens, and won medals and honors.

Then he went abroad, came under the influence of Matisse and turned toward cubism. He returned here at the time of the war and about eight years ago won new recognition, which included the purchase by Weyhe of his entire output.

Edward Cahill, Illinois Coal Official, Dies at Litchfield

Litchfield, Ill., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Edward Cahill, 69, of Duquoin, assistant commissioner of the Illinois Coal Operators' association, former vice president of the United Mine Workers of Illinois, and father of Msgr. E. J. Cahill of St. Mary's church here, died today. The funeral will be Saturday.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk don't swallow a lot of salts mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement don't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste, and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful harmless, gentle vegetable extracts amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1932 C. M. Co.

DISCLOSE AMOUNT GIVEN BY BANKER TO FORMER WIFE

The extent of the settlement which Gerhard Foreman, vice president of the Foreman State Trust and Savings bank, made with his first wife, now Mrs. Beatrice J. Monheimer, 3314 Lake Shore drive, was disclosed yesterday in a routine application for change of trustees in the Probate court. The settlement made at the time of divorce proceedings in December, 1926, consisted of 1,400 shares of stock in the Foreman bank. Mrs. Monheimer disposed of that stock several years ago and the trust now consists of government and public utility bonds worth approximately $400,000, it was stated in the petition filed by Mayer, Meyer, Austrian and Platt, attorneys for the trust. The trust will revert to Mr. Foreman on Mrs. Monheimer's death.

James Oppenheim, Poet and Story Writer, Dies

New York, Aug. 4.—(AP)—James Oppenheim, 50, writer of poetry, novels, and short stories, died today of a lung malady from which he had been ill a year. Oppenheim, born in St. Paul, Minn., came to New York in 1901 to take a course at Columbia. Among his works were "The Golden Bird," "The Solitary," "The Mystic Warrior," and "The Sea and Songs of the New Age."

M'GURN JAILED FOR AUTO RADIO TUNED TO POLICE

"Machine Gun Jack" McGurn, Capone lieutenant, will be arraigned today in the traffic court on a charge of receiving police calls on his automobile radio. Conviction carries a maximum punishment of six months in jail and a fine of $1,000.

He was arrested early yeaterday at Campbell and Lake streets as he rode with his brother, Anthony Gebardi, 23 years old, despite protest that they were on their way to play golf. An application for a writ of habeas corpus, seeking McGurn's immediate release, was heard by Circuit Judge Thomas J. Lynch, who ruled McGurn should remain in police custody until 10 o'clock this morning.

Both prisoners gave the family name of Gebardi at the detective bureau. McGurn told police he had "retired" and was living by clipping coupons on bonds. During the afternoon he was viewed by witnesses to the murder of George [Red] Barker, labor racketeer but was not identified. The brother was charged with disorderly conduct.

N.Y. BOND MARKET CONTINUES ITS STEADY ADVANCE

Speculative Issues Hold Most of Attention.

New York, Aug. 4.—(AP)—While there were no bursts of speed in the bond market today, and irregularities even appeared in various groups under flurries of profit taking, listed loans generally maintained their steady ground gaining trend.

Speculative issues, as in recent sessions, attracted the most attention although the high grade loans were not altogether neglected.

Principal railroad gainers included some bonds of Canadian National, Chesapeake Corp., Chesapeake & Ohio, Chicago & Alton, Burlington, Chicago & Eastern Illinois, St. Paul, Chicago & Northwestern, Rock Island, Cuba Railway, Delaware & Hudson, Denver & Rio Grande, Erie, Great Northern, Hudson & Manhattan, Illinois Central, New Haven, St. Louis Southwestern, Southern Railway, Union Pacific and Wabash.

Bonds of International Telephone, Western Union, Postal Telegraph, Columbia Gas, Laclede Gas, Metropolitan Edison, Utah Light and Traction, and Utility Power and Light recorded substantial improvement, with gains ranging from fractions to around 3 points.

Oil Section Quiet.

The oil section, for a change, was quiet, although loans of Pure Oil and Standard of New York held advances of a point or more. Issues of Paramount-Famous-Lasky and Paramount-Publix gained from around 3 to 5 points and Dodge Bros. 6s, Keith corporation 6s, Goodrich 6s, Goodyear 5s, California Packing 5s, Inland Steel 4½s, Philadelphia-Reading Coal and Iron 5s and 6s, Remington-Rand 5½s, and Remington Arms 6s were up from 1 to 5 points.

The United States government list was dull but steady. German issues rallied for gains of more than a point, French bonds firmed, and the Argentines, Austrians, Australians, and Japanese were irregular.

CURB LIST STRONG

With more vigor than shown in any session for a long time the curb market continued its upward drive until the late trading today, when enough profit taking developed to thin down some of the early gains. Volume approximated 330,000 shares, making it one of the biggest days for the curb this year.

Utilities continued as leaders and showed as much if not greater buoyancy than the utility group on the big board. Electric Bond and Share 6 per cent preferred was bid up 5 points and held most of the gain in the face of the company's report showing a heavy decrease in net income for the twelve months ended June 30. The common and the 5 per cent preferred closed fractionally higher.

Other issues that managed to save a considerable part of their early improvement included Aluminum, Ltd., with a final gain of 5 points; American Manufacturing, 3; New Jersey Zinc, 1; Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea, 8; Pan-American Foreign B, 2½; Pittsburgh and Lake Erie, 9½, and Singer Manufacturing, 7¾.

Commodity Booster Pool Is One.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

With additional newcomers flocking into the market yesterday on the strength of a two weeks' continued rise in stock prices La Salle street began to exhibit some of the characteristics that are usually associated with a rising, active market.

In crowded customers' rooms, blue with cigar smoke, there were the usual rumors, dope stories, and differences of opinion.

The excitement was not confined to brokers' offices. Down at the Board of Trade during the early morning a sudden spurt in wheat prices occurred about the time a rumor was being burned around to the effect that plans were under way for the formation in the east of a $50,000,000 pool to aid commodities.

Whether the story was fiction concocted to influence the market or whether it had a solid foundation had not been discovered when the final gong sounded, but prices had dropped back in line by that time.

Views on Market Divided.

In brokers' offices yesterday there was sharp division of opinion concerning the position of the market. Many observers believed that reaction was overdue.

It was generally agreed, however, that no matter how weak or strong the technical position of the market might be a new element had to be reckoned with. The public was getting back into stocks.

It wasn't the elevator boy with ten dollars to buy a cheap stock on margin, brokers said, but rather the individual who had $500 or $1,000 to invest and wanted to buy outright a few shares of what he considered better grade stock.

More than one broker declared that there was a great deal of cash buying with hoarded money.

An increase in odd lot buying, however, would not explain the heavy increase in the volume of trading during the last two weeks.

Big blocks of leading stocks have been changing hands, which may mean that syndicates have been picking up shares with the expectation of turning them over at a profit.

Watch Commodity Prices.

While the speculative public has given its eyes once more to the ticker tape the big men in industry and banking have been watching commodity prices.

"To me," one banker said yesterday, "the price that a farmer downstate gets for his hogs and the price that the dairy farmer gets for his butter and eggs means a great deal more than the ups and downs of the stock market.

"Keep your eye on commodity prices. They have been slowly but surely gaining ground and they are still advancing, although the more volatile stock market has absorbed public attention.

Action of Commodities.

"If commodity prices," he added, "are as good an index now as they have been in the past they are telling us that we are gradually pulling away from the low point which was reached in June of this year. They seem to promise a return to better times, although not so soon as the stock market would have us believe."

That many of the stock market transactions during the seven days may have been outright purchases was indicated in yesterday's report of the federal reserve board. It showed that for the week ending Aug. 3 brokers' loans held by New York federal reserve member banks increased only $1,000,000. The total on Wednesday was $332,000,000.

Talk Pool of 50 Million for Raw Material

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 4.—Eugene Meyer, governor of the federal reserve board, today conferred with local bankers individually with reference to the organization of a $50,000,000 commodities pool to advance money to industrial and manufacturing companies which wish to buy new materials with the use of bank credit.

The project is one among many which has been advanced in administration circles and has received consideration by financiers for several weeks, and has the support of the federal reserve board governor. Many of the important local banks take the stand that the idea can do no harm. It might be beneficial, they say, in some respects, provided there is no hitch in getting such materials into consumption. There is some opposition by bankers who feel that the net effect would be chiefly sentimental.

Like Previous Effort.

The formation of a commodities lending corporation would be analogous to the American Securities Investing corporation, the $100,000,000 bond buying organization established by local banks. Proponents of the plan maintain many commodities are selling at rock bottom levels now, while excess bank reserves are large enough, so the problem is to make them available for small borrowers.

Preliminary plans for the pool corporation call for the subscription by banks to 10 per cent of its capital, the Reconstruction Finance corporation taking the remainder of whatever sum might be considered suitable for launching the enterprise.

Would Avoid Wheat, Etc.

The idea is not to buy materials such as wheat and cotton to hold off the market. It merely would provide a concerted effort to induce industries and manufacturers to purchase materials at present low prices, providing needed credit. Provided there was acceleration in the consumption of finished goods comparable to the increase in purchased supplies of material by industrial corporations, the commodity markets and business would be stimulated still further. Capital required to make the initial effort is mentioned at about $50,000,000, but, like many other organized forms of stimulus, it is expected that a small fraction of the amount underwritten would be used.

MONEY SERVICE STATIONS, PLAN FOR CHICAGOANS

Organization of a group of currency exchanges, which perform all the services of a bank except acting as depositories, was announced yesterday by Percy E. Wagner, who was elected president.

Mr. Wagner stated that it was the belief of the new organization that banking in many districts will be conducted more on a service than a depository basis, due to the fact that so many banks are closed. Currency exchanges, cash and collect checks, change money, collect coupons and notes, rent safe deposit boxes, and issue checks for payment of bills.

Mr. Wagner was vice president of the Midway State bank, 63d street and Cottage Grove avenue, which liquidated by paying off depositors in full. The incorporators of the new organization are Harry E. Spellman of the Woodlawn exchange; F. L. Moran, McKey & Poague Currency exchange; L. B. Rushton, Morgan Park exchange; Wyllys Miller, Wyllys Realty company, and N. J. Talbot, Stony Island exchange. The organization will be known as the Alliance of South Side Currency Exchanges.

Pullman Carrier Firm Earns $23,507 Net in June

The Pullman company, carrier subsidiary of Pullman, Inc., earned net income of $22,507 after taxes for the month of June, compared with $251,687 in the same month of last year. The figures do not include earnings of other subsidiaries of Pullman, Inc. Gross earnings from June transportation were $2,756,744 against $5,469,626 in 1931. Gross earnings for the first six months of the year were $23,311,527 against $32,782,114 a year ago, resulting in a net deficit of $1,137,397 this year, while net profit of $822,559 was reported for the first half of 1931.

Crown Cork and Seal.

I would be pleased to know how you consider Crown Cork and Seal preferred and common. Thank you in advance.—W. B.

The principal product of Crown Cork and Seal Co., Inc., is a patented bottle cap. It also manufactures cork composition products and bottle filling and capping machinery. In 1931 it acquired Western Stopper company and Detroit Gasket and Manufacturing company.

Subsidiary companies operate in Belgium and in France. The company owns all the voting stock of Crown Cork International corporation.

For the quarter ended March 31, 1932, net sales were $1,538,000, and net loss was $96,000. Deficit after dividends was $217,000. According to a June 17, 1932, press dispatch, profits in April, 1932, were greater than the first quarter loss, and were sufficient to take care of more than half the second quarter dividend on the preferred.

For the first quarter of 1931 net sales were $1,855,000 and net income was $109,000. This was 1.11 times preferred dividends and equal to 4 cents per common share.

The report for the full 1931 year includes seven months operation of Detroit Gasket and Manufacturing and six months operations of Western Stopper. Net sales were $2,100,000, and net income was $899,000. This was 1.78 times preferred dividend requirements and equal to 80 cents per common share.

Net sales for 1930 were $9,691,000. Net income was $1,141,000, which was 2.91 times preferred dividends and equal to $2.48 per common share.

Net for 1929 was $925,000, and for 1928, $865,000.

On March 31, 1932, current assets were $6,817,000 and current liabilities were $838,000. Cash and United States treasury notes were $1,035,000. Working capital was $4,984,000, against $5,558,000 the year before.

Funded debt totals $4,408,000. Bonds in the treasury are sufficient to take care of sinking fund requirements to Dec. 1, 1936. There are outstanding 145,420 shares of $2.70 cumulative no par preferred stock and 584,122 shares of no par common.

Preferred dividends have been paid regularly. The annual dividend basis of $2.40 per common share established in the third quarter of 1930 was reduced to the present annual basis of $1.20 per share on March 15, 1932.

The preferred is medium grade. The common is speculative.

Federal Light and Traction.

As I am quite interested in Federal Light and Traction, I would appreciate your opinion on its bonds.—P. M. S.

CALL FOR BONDS OF CHATELAINE TOWER ISSUE

Protective Group Is Formed.

BY AL CHASE.

Owners of bonds of the twenty-story Chatelaine Tower apartments at 211 East Chestnut street this morning will receive a notice announcing the formation of a bondholders' protective committee, headed by Frederick Hodgdon, architect, and a reorganization plan which, it is expected, will be effected without the expense of receivership or foreclosure as soon as sufficient bonds are deposited with the Chicago Title & Trust company.

The announcement states that the owners of the property have agreed to turn over all of the income so that it will be possible to avoid both a master's sale and a receiver, each of which is an expensive luxury. They further have agreed to place the management of the property under the direct supervision of the committee for the benefit of the bondholders, it is stated.

The reorganization plan provides for an extension of the present bond issue for five years from its maturity date, with interest payable at the rate of 4 per cent for the first five years and 5 per cent for the last five years. There'll be further provisions, it is stated, that all of the income of the property will be assigned for the benefit of the bondholders, and all earnings over and above the interest requirements will be placed in a sinking fund to retire bonds.

Plan to Pay Back Taxes.

The reason for the reduction in the interest rate to 4 per cent is to accumulate sufficient money to pay back taxes which have accumulated against the property. Prepayments defaulted last March. Interest has not yet defaulted, but the committee states that it probably will next month.

The members of Mr. Hodgdon's committee are Paul C. Mellandere, vice president and director of the St. Charles State bank; Frank Randall, engineer; Dr. Frank Theis, surgeon, and Howard E. Haynie, vice president of Wirtz, Hubert & Little, Inc. Marston, Friedlund, Tone & Friedlund are its counsel.

"The original issue was for $500,000 at 6½ per cent, which has now been reduced to $788,000, and was underwritten by the Peoples Trust and Savings bank," said Mr. Hodgdon. "The bank advised the bondholders last March that a readjustment of the mortgage debt was necessary and that the property was well managed and that it would be to their benefit to work out a plan of reorganization with the owners and avoid receivership expenses.

Now 85% Rented.

"Since that time the Peoples Trust and Savings bank has been placed in liquidation and the bank is not able to carry through its original plans. In view of these circumstances it was necessary to form a bondholders' protective committee so as to try to prevent this property being placed in receivership.

"The property has always had a splendid earning record and has paid its interest promptly for the last five years. Even at the present time it is 85 per cent rented and is showing a substantial net return. The income, however, has been reduced due to a general decline in rents, and the taxes have increased tremendously, as is true of all properties."

The building has seventy-nine apartments, ranging in size from three to five rooms, and a penthouse bungalow formerly occupied by Sidney Smith.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 4.—The manufacturers' national committee of government, comprised of shipbuilders, railroad men, iron and steel founders, and representatives of other lines of industry, was organized here today. Its purpose is to offset "the government's continual encroachment on the domain of private business."

B. L. Winchell, chairman of the executive committee of Remington-Rand, Inc., was made chairman. The committee adopted its declaration of principles, including these:

That the government should not engage, either directly or through subsidiaries, in the manufacture, production, or purchase of commodities or services for sale or resale in competition with private enterprises.

That it ought to procure commodities and services for all its uses from the commercial and industrial world.

The committee held further that: The navy yards are established to maintain the armed fleets of the United States and are justified only while fulfilling that function; that federal arsenals are equipped to produce war materials not generally produced commercially and should not be employed to produce commercial or military articles manufactured by or obtainable in quantity from private industry.

Farm Board Sales Plans.

Durham, N. H., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Carl Williams, vice chairman of the federal farm board, today told the American Institute of Cooperation the board planned to dispose of 1,250,000 bales of cotton in the coming fiscal year. The bales are held by the cotton stabilization corporation.

The cotton, Williams said, called for the sale of 650,000 bales and the turning over of 500,000 to the Red Cross. The board hopes that much of the 650,000 bales can be sold abroad with the aid of credit arranged through the reconstruction corporation, as provided by congress in the relief bill. Williams added that as far as the farm board was concerned, "its stabilization activities are fairly on the way to a satisfactory conclusion." He said the board had reduced its holdings of cash wheat from 257,000,000 bushels to less than 25,000,000 "without a ripple" in the markets of the world.

Senator Gore of Oklahoma recently wrote to Chairman Stone of the farm board that if the board would announce it would not sell this year the market would be helped.

"Senator Gore's votes to destroy the revolving fund of the federal farm board," Williams said, "and his attitude in congress toward the board are in part responsible for the necessity which faces the board to dispose of its stabilization cotton within the present fiscal year."

Blame Farm Board.

Clyde C. Edmonds, general manager of the Utah Poultry Producers association, told those present today that the federal crop production loan program was responsible for perpetuating surplus agricultural products in the midst of economic chaos.

Director E. G. Mourse of the Institute of Economics, Washington, said the farm board was promoting an antiquated program through undue emphasis on centralized organization. Dr. W. E. Grimes of the Kansas State Agricultural college sharply criticized what he said was the apparent method of the Farmers' National Grain corporation, farm board organization, in forcing reluctant cooperatives into the farmers' national marketing plan.

Payne Tells of Work.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Speaking in the White House lobby, Chairman John Barton Payne of the Red Cross told newspapermen he had reported to President Hoover that his organization was busy in distributing a total of 50,000,000 bushels of wheat and 500,000 bales of cotton.

Although requests for these emergency supplies, taken by congress out of the farm board stores, have slowed up during the summer, Payne said, the Red Cross has just received its largest single order—155,960 barrels of flour for New York City.

Payne said he informed Mr. Hoover the distribution of the big cotton supply would begin next week.

"Instead of just giving out cotton," he said, "we have found we can do more good by trading the cotton to clothing manufacturers for ready made suits and dresses. If obtained in large lots the clothing is very cheap.

"Our most important job is getting the children back into school properly clothed. Some of the cotton will be exchanged or made up into calico, gingham, and chintz cloths, which mothers can make up into dresses."

Pennsylvania, he added, probably has received more of the goods up to this time than any other state—155,000 barrels of flour.

FEDERAL BANK CREDITS LOWER WEEK OF AUG. 3

Daily average volume of federal reserve bank credit outstanding during the week ended Aug. 3 was $2,416,000,000, a drop of $18,000,000 compared with the preceding week, according to the weekly federal reserve board report yesterday.

On Aug. 3 federal reserve bank credit totaled $2,388,000,000, a decline of $34,000,000 for the week. Member bank reserve balances decreased $60,000,000. There was an increase of $27,000,000 in monetary gold stock, which was partly offset by an increase of $28,000,000 in money in circulation and a decrease of $14,000,000 in treasury currency.

BANK OBTAINS DEED TO FAMED INSULL FARM

Present Lien Listed About $35,000.

Samuel Insull signed away Hawthorn farm, his 4,300 acre country estate near Libertyville, on June 14, shortly before he sailed for Europe. Mr. Insull is reported to be planning to close his days in a modest establishment in England on a pension given him by three of the big utility companies for which he worked.

Mr. Insull's action was disclosed yesterday through the filing of a warranty deed with L. O. Brockway, recorder of deeds of Lake county, whose office is in Waukegan. The deed was signed by Mr. Insull and by his wife, Margaret A. Insull, and it transfers title to his former luxurious country estate to the Northern Trust company. Rollin K. Smith witnessed the signatures.

Cites $35,170 Debts.

Although it was understood that Mr. Insull had made loans of considerable amount on the property during his desperate efforts to raise cash to avert the financial crash of some of his interests, the conveyance filed for record yesterday was "made subject to the liens of trust deeds securing the total principal indebtedness of $35,170."

The warranty deed conveying title to Mr. Insull's property to the Northern Trust company covered forty-five parcels of land in Libertyville and Vernon townships. It did not include the Countryside development, a country home subdivision west of Mundelein, nor Mellody farm, north shore estate of the late J. Ogden Armour, which a group of wealthy men, including Mr. Insull, proposed to convert into a millionaires' club.

In Position of Owner.

The warranty deed gives the Northern Trust company unlimited control of the former Insull lands, permitting the trust company to subdivide the farms into small homesites as was suggested in a recent story appearing in THE TRIBUNE. The document itself provides interesting reading. It follows, in part:

"That said trustee shall have every power and discretion over and in connection with the same that it would have if it were the absolute owner thereof, and the enumeration of specific powers herein shall not in any way control, limit, or cut down the powers herein granted."

Mr. Insull began acquiring the lands which make up Hawthorn farm some 29 years ago and when he bought the old Barr farm, which stretches three miles along the west side of Milwaukee avenue, south of Libertyville. Hawthorn Farm was one of the show estates of the Chicago district. There Mr. Insull forgot some of his duties as a utility magnate in quieter days to be a gentleman farmer.

Kellogg Company Accuses National Biscuit as "Trust"

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Battle Creek, Mich., Aug. 4.—Charging the National Biscuit company with violation of the Sherman anti-trust act in attempting to create and maintain an illegal monopoly in interstate commerce, the Kellogg company today filed suit in the United States District court at New York asking triple damages totaling $3,000,000. The formal complaint, signed by W. K. Kellogg, founder and president of the Kellogg company, was made public here.

National Biscuit company's efforts, "through a campaign of threat, coercion, and intimidation," to prevent other manufacturers from marketing shredded wheat products, despite the fact that all patent rights expired years ago form the basis of the Kellogg company's suit, according to the formal complaint.

Milwaukee Elec. Co. Tells of Decrease in Earnings

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 4.—The gross earnings and balance for dividends of the Milwaukee Electric company reported today for the 12 months ending June 30 each show a falling off of about a million and a half dollars. A balance of $970,374.50 after payment of preferred dividends, the company statement says, was earned during the last six months of 1931 and the first three months of 1932.

Tell Need of Cutting Taxes on Railroads

Railroad executives, railroad supply manufacturers, and members of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce met at the Morrison hotel yesterday to discuss ways of improving the situation of the railroads. One point stressed was the need for revising the taxes now being paid by the railroads in the various counties of the state.

Robert J. Deneen of the Ohio Brass company, who presided at the meeting, stated that the Illinois chamber would coöperate with a national organization which is to make a survey of taxes paid by the railroads in the state and to point out where savings can be made.

"In going over the figures of the taxes levied against corporations in the various counties of Illinois, and in particularly the assessments made against the railroads, the fact becomes apparent that in many of the counties of the state the bulk of all taxes paid emanate from the steam railroads," Mr. Deneen said. "What is going to be the position of the units of government in these counties if the railroads approach a time when they cannot pay even a part of the taxes now levied against them?"

Mr. Deneen pointed out that one of the difficulties which confronted organizations seeking to help the railroads in the past has been the indifference of the voters and their failure to realize that the welfare of the roads had any connection with their own well being. Mr. Deneen told the group in round table discussion that the public is being made to realize the part being played by the railroads in their lives and that elimination of the roads, either in whole or in part, will mean virtual bankruptcy for many governmental units unless the individual taxpayer takes over the burden left by the defunct lines.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 4.—[Special.]—The Swedish firm of Kreuger & Toll, through which the late Ivar Kreuger held his one billion dollar structure of industries, banks, and other holding companies throughout the world, was adjudicated bankrupt in America today by Federal Judge Julian W. Mack, with the "fullest coöperation" promised in a cable from the official liquidators of Kreuger's affairs in Sweden. The adjudication has been delayed two months due to conflict of American interests and uncertainty as to the Swedish reaction.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 4.—Speculative Wall street reveled today in the most active stock market of the year. Buying orders came pouring in from all over the country and when the overworked ticker had clicked out the final sale it was found that approximately 3,500,000 shares had changed hands, the largest turnover since Dec. 18, 1931.

Industrial, public utility, and railroad shares were alike in winning the favor of the growing circle of "prosperity minded" bidders. At their tops of the day the leaders showed gains of from 1 to 4 points or more above yesterday's closing levels, registering new average peaks for the recovery throughout the list.

Profit Taking Arises.

The fervor of the uprush, however, invited profit taking on such a heavy scale as to reduce the early gains sharply. Closing figures in fact found the net improvement of the more active trading mediums reduced to a fraction to 2 points or so.

Before it began to bow to the realizing wave in the early afternoon the market showed an advance—measured by the yardstick of its 20 most active stocks—of 54 per cent above the average lows of July 8.

Brokers reported a broadening of interest and evidences of growing participation on the part of the public.

As a class, public utility stocks made about the best showing of the day, many of them jumping ahead for 5 to 15 points or more. United Biscuit preferred rose 13 points and Adams Express about 16 points, and both held their gains to the end. The preferred of American Can advanced nearly 5 points and that of General

ERIE, JOHNSTOWN, and 321 Other Communities

Area Famous for Iron and Steel, Coal Mining, Machinery

Dark Area is Served by Pennsylvania Electric Company and Subsidiaries

Pennsylvania Electric Company and its subsidiaries serve the important centers of Erie, Johnstown, Clearfield, DuBois, Warren, Somerset, Phillipsburg, Meadville, and 315 other communities in 14 counties in Western Pennsylvania.

This area is famous for its iron and steel industries, its manufactures of machinery, locomotives, and its mining. Value of mining products in counties where service is supplied was $98.20 per capita at last census, compared to $33.38 for the United States as a whole.

Erie's Population Gain 24%

Erie, largest city, leads the world in manufacture of boilers, engines. Also important for production of electric locomotives, steam hammers, power equipment. Erie's population increased from 93,372 to 115,967 between 1920 and 1930, a 24% gain. Johnstown is noted as a steel and bituminous coal center.

Pennsylvania Electric Company and subsidiaries supply electricity to 106,300 gas to 17,000 customers in these 323 communities. Electric service, which accounts for 96% of operating revenues, has more than doubled since 1920.

Physical properties of the Company and its subsidiaries include ten steam and hydro-electric generating plants with aggregate installed capacity of 126,600 kilowatts. There are approximately 1,750 miles of high-tension transmission lines, 289 substations, approximately 3,110 miles of distribution lines.

Franchises are either unlimited in time, or do not expire until 2015.

Interest Earned 3.20 Times

Gross earnings were $8,677,095, and net earnings $4,380,777 for the 12 months ended June 30, 1932. Net earnings, before depreciation, are 3.20 times annual interest charges on all mortgage debt.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today:
Cattle, 1,500; hogs, 15,000; sheep, 7,000.

The pressure of 25,000 hogs, the largest Thursday receipts since May 26 proved too great for the market yesterday. Prices commenced to sag right from the start and were soon in headlong retreat in some classes. Losses for the day ranged from 10c to 25c, with closing sales lowest despite the lighter estimate for today. Sellers attempted to halt the break following the action that developed with the appearance of local buying orders, but the rally ended feebly in a sluggish close when big packers bore down on the price list after smaller buyers had sufficient numbers for their immediate needs.

The top price for the day showed 10c loss at $4.90, while the general average came down 10c to $4.30. The fact that a smaller share of the run consisted of heavy grades that were pounded early in the week, kept the average costs of droves from showing the full weakness of the market. Quality was slightly better, with fewer "packers" in the receipts. Butchers weighing 250@300 lbs sold largely at $4.10@4.55, with lighter weights, 180@230 lb averages, at $4.75 @4.90. Extreme weights, 325@400 lb averages, cashed at $3.70@4.05.

Cattle Rule Weaker.

Weakness in other live stock tended to dampen enthusiasm in the cattle yards yesterday. With the exception of the meager supply of prime steers, tendency ruled lower. The rank and file of plain to medium grades continued their heavy-footed pace into lower ground, being hardest to sell after buyers became aware that these constituted a big share of the total receipts. A fairly lively trade developed in midsession for top classes in a buyers' drive to improve the quality of earlier purchases.

Choice 1,300 lb steers topped the list at $9.45, with 1,137 lb averages at $9.25. Few others passed $9.00, with the bulk of steers at $7.00@8.90. Numerous sales of inferior grades of steers ranged down to $5.00 and smaller transactions were made below this figure. Corn-fed cows and heifers were scarce and firm, top yearling heifers reaching $8.00, while others ruled weaker. Calves sold 50c under the high point of Wednesday's session. The break in lambs curbed buying of vealers.

Lamb Prices Slashed.

A bear raid on lamb prices, brought on by liberal receipts, drove the whole list down fully 25c and increased the sorting. The larger number rejected from load lots selling at the top prices made the market as much as 50c lower in places in the native class. Receipts at 16,000 were the largest for Thursday in eight weeks and the four day total shows a gain of 17 per cent compared with the first four days of last week.

Outlet for dressed lamb is fair, but the supply of live animals has temporarily gone beyond immediate demands of the trade. Handpicked native ewe and wether lambs topped the list to city butchers at $6.25, while packers took the bulk of best sorts at $5.75. Tops from 22 carloads of range lambs brought $6.00@6.10 and four loads sold at $5.50.

HEDGING SALES IN LARD

Moderate hedging pressure in lard was well absorbed despite the break in the hog market. A little scattered liquidation also was on with offerings of lard and bellies readily taken. The close on lard futures was 5@7½c net higher with September bellies up 10c. Liverpool lard was unchanged to 3d higher. Exports were 66,012 lbs of lard and 78,835 lbs of bacon. Pork loins were slow sale at 11½@12c in favor of weights. Regular lard was $5; loose, $4.75, and leaf, $5. Short ribs and dry salted bellies were $6.62½. Hog receipts were fair and moderately lower than a week and a year ago. Prices follow:

RALLY OF WHEAT LIGHTLY CHECKED LATER IN DAY

Early Rise of Two Cents Fails to Hold.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Commission houses were steady buyers in small lots. That swept aside all opposition from sellers and carried the December up 2c to a high of 55⅞c, or 4⅜ above the lo won Wednesday, before yesterday's bulge was checked. The character of the day's buying was strikingly in contrast with the concentrated purchases by eastern interests the previous day.

Holders of weekly offers on wheat who had good profits in sight as well as operators who bought on the recent breaks turned free sellers at 55c and over for December and ultimately were able to check the upturn. The public buying appeared to exhaust itself after the first hour, and the market started to react with the finish ⅜c lower to ⅛c higher than the previous day. September finished at 50¾@50¼c; December, 54@54⅛c, and May, 58⅜@58⅛c.

Rumors Not Factor.

The prompt denial of the rumor that the farm board had sold out its cash wheat late Wednesday resulted in some selling. The main factor, however, appeared to be the recent unusual advance which many operators felt was too rapid to hold. Early strength in the stock market attracted considerable attention from the rank and file of traders, as did the advance in butter and eggs to a new high for the year.

One of the main drawbacks to a bull market, according to pit observers was the lack of aggressive buying of futures by cash interests. The foreign demand for hard winters was reported as slow. Both Canadian and Russian wheat was reported as being offered to Europe at lower prices than was asked for the American. The bulk of the business of late has been in Manitobas. According to trade information, the sales have been materially in excess of the quantities announced at the seaboard.

Buying of wheat futures in Chicago in the last two days resulted in a sharp narrowing of the difference between the local and the Liverpool market. The latter yesterday was 1¾@1⅝c per bu higher with October at 55¼c. This was 3c over Chicago September yesterday at one time, compared with 4⅝c on Tuesday. Winnipeg, however, showed relative strength and finished 4½@⅝c higher for the day with October at 58⅛c in Canadian funds.

Corn Loses Early Bulge.

There was not the activity in the corn market so much in evidence of the previous day.

Pit operators expressed the belief that the shadow of a prospective big crop might prevent that grain from following any sustained advance in wheat, except to a small extent. An early bulge carried the price up 1c to a high of 32⅜c for the December but the upturn was more than lost later with the finish unsettled, the September bringing ⅝c higher at 31⅝@31¾c, while December was unchanged at 31¾c and the May was ⅛c lower at 35¾c.

Oats made a moderate response to the strength in other grains early, only to react on hedging pressure and close at the same prices as Wednesday with September, 17⅝@17½c; December, 19¾c, and May, 23¾@23⅝c. Commission houses and cereal interests were on the buying side early. Rye was bought by commission houses early and sold by them when wheat reacted and the close was ⅛c lower to ⅛c lower with September at 32¼c, and December at 35¼c.

COTTON REACTS

Cotton prices were bid up early only to react later on profit taking and poor support with the close well toward the lowest figures. Chicago futures were 1 point higher on the December and unchanged for October with other months off 2 to 3 points.

Losses in southern and eastern markets were 2 to 9 points. Spot cotton dropped 5 points with New York 5.95c, New Orleans 5.80c, Galveston 5.70c, and Houston 5.85c. Liverpool closed 12@13 points net higher. There were rains over a large part of the western and middle sections of the cotton belt with temperatures around 100 and above. The forecast was for somewhat cooler weather.

Official crop estimates will be announced Monday. Cotton interests were impressed by a report of a proposed $50,000,000 for reviving industries and increasing employment. Prices follow:

BUSINESS GAINS, WILLYS INSISTS; WORST IS OVER

Quit as Envoy to Help U.S. in Economic Recovery.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Toledo, O., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—John North Willys, his desk littered with the worries and troubles of the automobile industry, leaned back in his swivel chair this afternoon and told an interviewer why he did it—why he resigned the comforts and pleasures of an American ambassadorship to assume the responsibilities and hardships of private business during a depression.

It wasn't for money. Mr. Willys is reported to have received $20,000,000 when he retired from the Willys-Overland company just before the 1929 stock market crash.

"Was it to protect the investments of friends made on your suggestion?" he was asked.

Never Advises Investment.

"No," he replied, "because I never advise friends to invest their money in my activities.

"It was this way. Mr. Miller [L. A. Miller, president of Willys-Overland] telephoned me in Europe, asking me to return to active service with the company. My reply was that I was permanently retired from business, but I consented to visit America on a leave of absence from Poland for two weeks.

"I had an interview with President Hoover. Mr. Miller had seen him first. The President told me that the economic condition of the country needed my help more than did the country's diplomatic service, that when the automobile industry got on its feet again, in a year or a year and a half, I could return to ambassadoring again. So it was at the President's request that I'm back in this automobile factory."

Real Reason for Quitting.

"Isn't that a lot of baloney?" Mr. Willys was asked. His laugh could be heard down the carpeted corridors of the administration building.

"What was the real reason that you left pleasure for work?" The question was repeated in another form. "Didn't you like the diplomatic service?"

"O, I liked it a lot," the manufacturer said. "It was so different from anything I had ever experienced before. Four white trumpeters on white horses greeted me at Warsaw with 4,000 soldiers standing at attention. I rated a presidential salute of 21 guns.

Industry in Tough Fight.

"And I fully appreciated that the automobile industry is in a tough fight, no place for a fellow who couldn't master his fears. I began to wonder whether I was afraid to return to private business, whether it was too tough for me. That's when I decided to accept the chairmanship of the Willys-Overland board. I wasn't going to be a coward in my own eyes.

"I've been back to work for six weeks now. There's still a long struggle ahead, but events of the last two weeks make it look a little brighter for the general economic condition of the country. I really believe things are beginning to pick up, that we've seen the worst of the depression."

In 1915, Mr. Willys refused an offer of $80,000,000 for stock in the Overland company. In 1919 there was a prolonged strike and in the depression of 1921 Willys-Overland ower bank notes totaling $34,000,000, had accounts payable of $13,600,000 and commitments for $60,000,000 worth of material. Yet in 1929 he was able to clear out with a reported $20,000,000 and accept an appointment as ambassador to Poland. And now he's back in the harness, for a company that had a $14,000,000 deficit last year.

Fire Which Sweeps Through Packing Plant and Destroys Grain Elevator Causes Loss Placed at $6,000,000
